DENVER (Colo.) Jan. 10.—A mass meeting at the auditorium and a demonstration on the State Capitol grounds were held here late today by several hundred persons representing persons unemployed as a result of prohibition.

Resolutions were presented Gov. George A. Carlson by a committee headed by William Koch, secretary of the Brewery Workers' Union, asking that an extra session of the Legislature be called to devise means of furnishing employment for those deprived of their jobs.

Gov. Carlson suggested that a list be furnished the State Industrial Relations Committee or the State Labor Commissioner stating how many were employed and the nature of the work done.

The demonstration ended with a parade through the downtown streets with banners reading "wet or dry, we must have work or we'll know why." The Denver Labor Council recently French Repulse an Attack by the Germans Made in the Champagne District.

Heaviest Losses of the War in the Engagement on Border of Bessarabia.

Teutonic Forces Concentrating at Monastir for the Move on Saloniki.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Jan. 10, 10:28 p.m.—While the Russian front has been quiet during the past twenty-four hours there has been severe fighting in the other war theaters.

On the Montenegrin front the Austrians have been generally successful. They have advanced their positions at several important points despite the handicap of snow waist-deep, and are showing themselves just as adept as the Montenegrins in mountain fighting, which heretofore has been regarded as the particular specialty of the Montenegrin soldiers.

In Champagne, the French have repulsed four German attacks. The Germans have retained, however, a foothold at two places in the French advanced trenches.

In Persia, British reinforcements on their way to the relief of Kut-El-Amara have met Turkish forces, which were compelled to retire after some heavy fighting.

HUGE LOSSES.

The Petrograd official communication says that the calm on the Czernowitz front is due to the huge losses and resulting demoralization of the Austro-Hungarian army. That there is some basis for this statement is evident from the estimate of the Hungarian newspaper, Pesther Lloyd, that the losses on both sides of the Bessarabian battles so far exceed 175,000, or more than the total British losses in the whole Dardanelles campaign.

Another Hungarian newspaper states, on the authority of a staff report, that the fighting on this front has been the bitterest and bloodiest in the history of the war, both sides sacrificing men in a manner without parallel.

The Saloniki front is chiefly notable in the day's dispatches as the scene of almost continued aeroplane skirmishes, one of which continued for two hours. The Germans have thus far lost six aeroplanes in this region.

The rumor that the Consuls of the Teutonic allies arrested at Saloniki had been released appears to have been without foundation, as it is now announced that they have been transferred to a French auxiliary cruiser on which they have been interned. Extensive Turkish reprisals are already announced by the central powers.

ALBANIA.

The present situation in Albania was thus summed up today by Lord Robert Cecil, Under-secretary for Foreign Affairs, in the House of Commons:

"I regret to say that it is impossible to speak of Albania as an entity at present. In the central area over which Essad Pasha's authority extends, the relations between the Serbian soldiers and the population have been friendly and Essad Pasha has rendered them valuable assistance. The northern tribes, among whom the enemy has conducted considerable propaganda, are hostile to the Serbians and Montenegrins."

GALICIA.

Several lengthy dispatches have been received here giving details of the recent operations in Eastern Galicia, which were so meagerly described in the official reports. According to these dispatches, the Russians, after artillery preparation which showed there was no longer any shortage in their big gun ammunition, started an offensive, which caused the Austro-Germans to rush every available division to Galicia.

CZERNOWITZ.

Czernowitz is still in the possession of the Austrians and is filled with wounded. But the Russians apparently are directing their main attack against Sodagora, north of the Bukowina capital, where five important roads converge.

In the Balkans reports persist that the Germans are concentrating at Monastir preparatory to an attack on Saloniki, but the interest in the Macedonian campaign has become secondary to the operations of the Austrians in Montenegro. A determined attack is being made on Mt. Lovcen, a Montenegrin stronghold overlooking Cattaro Bay, by the guns of the Austrian fortress at Cattaro and Austrian warships lying in the Adriatic. The formidable Austrian forces invading Montenegro extend over a wide front, from the River Tara in the west, to the Ipek district in the east.

It cannot be disguised that the invasion is causing general uneasiness among the Entente powers, and especially Italy, which sees in its success an end to Italy's dream of dominating the Albanian littoral of the Adriatic. The Italian newspapers in expressing the opinion that an Austrian success against Montenegro would give the invader an incalculable political, maritime, commercial and strategic advantage, admit the fear that Italy's intervention in the Balkan campaign has come too late.

TRADE WAR ALLIANCE IRRITATES THE BRITISH.

John Bull Withdraws Ships from New York to South America Service.

Ambassadors from London and Berlin Well Supplied with Notes of the Proceedings of the Pan-American Conference in Washington—Wilson to Abandon the Philippines for His New Venture.

BY HARRY CARR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 10.—The Pan-American congress which trekked out of the capital tonight to begin a tour of Atlantic cities has contributed a historic episode to the history of the United States and has thrown a scare into Europe.

When the sessions of the congress first began the embassies in Washington all regarded it as a mild variety of joke. But after the addresses of the President and Secretary Lansing, representatives of the British and German embassies attended all the meetings and made notes of the speeches.

Taken in connection with the Philippine bill now before the Senate, the proceedings of the Pan-American congress seem to indicate the formulation, not only of a world policy, but of a new commercial policy by the United States.

THE PHILIPPINES.

One of the leading Democrats in the Senate today told me he expected to see the United States withdraw altogether from the Philippines within two years and leave the Orient in future to its own devices and to its own troubles. We will turn our activities, he said, in the direction of South America.

While Germany and England are waging a terrific war to see which shall control the trade of South America, the United States intends to settle the controversy by taking the trade away from both.

ENGLAND'S FEARS.

This fear on the part of England is plainly shown by the withdrawal of the English steamers from the New York-to-South America trade on the ground that they are needed for military transports.

During this session of Congress the treaties with Nicaragua and Honduras are to be adjudicated and settled. The ruffled feelings of Chile and Peru have been soothed down during the session of the Pan-American congress through the gentle influence of the State Department.

The purpose of this wholesale pacification is stated to be in anticipation of the days to follow the war. It is the desire of the United States to bring with it such condition of peace and quiet in South America that after the war neither Germany nor England can find the slightest excuse for coming over to "protect" any citizens from disturbances and then forgetting to go back again.

BEDFELLOWS.

It would not be a very strange thing to find Germany and England in some kind of commercial alliance after this war if the United States succeeds in its commercial designs in South America.

AUSTRIANS SUFFER ENORMOUS LOSSES.

PETROGRAD, Jan. 10 (via London, 9:52 p.m.)—The following official communication was issued today:

"The situation on the west (Russia) front yesterday was generally calm. In Galicia and to the east of Czernowitz (Bukowina) the enemy, having suffered enormous losses in our attacks and being disorganized by the failure of his desperate counter-attacks, has shown no sign of activity beyond feeble attempts by artillery and hand grenades to interfere with the work of our men in consolidating the positions that they have won.

"In the Caucasus coastal region, a detachment of Russian scouts, Saturday night, despite the violent Turkish fire, broke through the enemy's front on the Arknava River and demolished a bridge held by the enemy, and returned without losses."

EXPECT MORE HASTE IN FOREIGN MAILS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—An immediate result of the protest of the United States against British interference with first-class mail passing between the United States and neutral European countries, is expected to be a speeding up of the English censors and prompt dispatch of such mail as they examine and decide to pass. No reply has been received to the American representations transmitted through Ambassador Page at London last week.

Intimations have reached here, however, that Great Britain and probably her allies will insist that International law permits a belligerent to search mails which may carry information of military value to an enemy, although they will undertake to reduce interferences and resulting delays to a minimum.

THE MALE POPULATION OF BERLIN DECREASED.

BERLIN, Jan. 10 (via London) Jan. 11, 1:45 a.m.—The latest census reports show that Berlin's male population has decreased by 232,547 since July, 1914, due chiefly to the calling of the men to the army. In females, however, the population is strongly increasing. The total population of Berlin today is 1,837,869 as against the high-water mark of 2,095,030 in 1912 and 1,995,806 at the outbreak of the war.

STRATEGIC HEIGHTS HELD BY THE SLAVS.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The Russians retain the important strategic heights in the neighborhood of Sadagora, north of Czernowitz, Bukowina, says a Petrograd dispatch to the Times. Although the recent snowfall hinders operations, they are steadily and systematically advancing and fortifying their positions, until the extending front comprises thirty-three miles of the east bank of the Sripa River. This front is now deemed secure against recapture.

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

Great uneasiness prevails among the Entente allies over the successful invasion by the Austrians of Montenegro. The Italians see in the Austrian triumphs an end to their long cherished dream of dominating the Albanian coast line. The battle between the central powers and the Russians on the Russian front is described in London dispatches as the fiercest of the war and the losses on both sides are said to have been tremendous. The Slavs, however, have not yet taken Czernowitz as proclaimed some days ago.

Washington advices indicate that Gen. Carranza will not undertake to restore Mexico City to her old dignity of the capital of Mexico. He means to remain in Queretaro for weeks, if not months. There are no assurances that Gen. Villa means to leave Mexico soon.

EXCITEMENT AT SEA.

Discovery of Stowaways Leads to Report that an Attempt was Made to Blow up the Japanese Steamer Shinyo Maru.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Excitement among passengers caused by the discovery of three stowaways and their ejection from the vessel, probably started the rumor that two bombs, set to explode in four hours, were found on the steamer Shinyo Maru soon after she sailed from here November 20, according to C. Lacy Goodrich, general passenger agent of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha.

The explanation was given after the publication of a passage in a letter from Mrs. A. S. Crossfield, wife of a former judge of the Philippine Islands' Territorial Court, who was a passenger, mailed from Nagasaki, Japan, to her daughter, Miss Ruth Crossfield, of San Francisco.

Mr. Goodrich said the Shinyo Maru was stopped in midstream soon after she left her dock to put off the stowaways. He said none of the line's vessels carried ammunition because of a prohibition against it by the Japanese government.

Mrs. Crossfield's letter, which was shown to her brother, Clare B. Crossfield, an attorney here, was destroyed, she said.

DISARM ITALIAN LINER IS AIM OF WASHINGTON.

Desire of this Government that the Guns on the Giuseppe Verdi be Removed is Officially Made Known to the Roman Ambassador — The Ship will be Held in Port Until a Reply is Received.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The desire of the United States government that the two 3-inch guns mounted on the Italian liner Giuseppe Verdi, now at New York, be removed and the vessel depart unarmed on its return voyage, was expressed informally today to the Italian Ambassador, Count Macchi di Cellere, by Secretary Lansing. The Secretary's views will be transmitted to the Italian government and, it is said, until a reply is received, the liner would be detained in port.

The Ambassador called at the State Department twice during the day, conferring once with Counselor Polk and later with Mr. Lansing. Although there was no announcement after the conferences, it is understood that the American government will adhere strictly to its policy of opposing the carrying of mounted guns under any circumstances by vessels plying out of United States ports with passengers. Under international law merchantmen have the right to mount guns for defensive purposes, but it is not believed that Italy will insist upon exercising this right over the protest of the United States.

The three will leave Sunday and spend Monday and Tuesday at the colony.

TO RUIN TRADE OF THE GERMANS

British Minister Declares Now is Time to Strike.

Says Elimination of Competition After War Necessary.

Believes England will Have no Trouble with America.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The debate in the House of Commons tonight was chiefly remarkable for the unanimity of the members in urging the government to exert the largest possible degree of economic pressure on Germany and in recommending that steps should immediately be taken to prevent any menace from German trade warfare directed against the entente allies after peace is signed.

A resolution was adopted that "with a view to increasing the power of the allies in the prosecution of the war His Majesty's government should enter into immediate consultation with the governments of the domains, in order, with their aid, to direct the whole economic strength of the empire, in co-operation with the allies against the enemy."

The principal speech was made by Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, whose emphatic declarations on the importance of maintaining British trade were regarded as largely directed toward making clear the position which caused him to hesitate to indorse Premier Asquith's compulsion policy last week.

"While the war is on," he said, "we must do everything in our power to cripple and destroy German finance, credit and trade, at the same time building up our own and our allies' and laying the foundation for future action when peace comes.

GERMANY WEAKENING.

"There are signs," he said, "that at last Germany is beginning to feel the economic pressure of our blockade. Her food supplies are becoming depleted, while ours are increasing. Although our exports have fallen and our imports have risen, there is no doubt that the economic strength of Great Britain is so well founded that we can stand the strain far better than the central powers.

"Bread riots in Berlin and in nearly every other big German city do not occur without good reasons. We have deprived the enemy of many necessities of warfare and possibly some of the necessaries of life. Her stocks of raw materials are giving out. Economic pressure, possibly better than any other means, will ultimately persuade Germany of the fruitlessness of continuing the struggle.

"We can stand the strain longer than Germany," continued Mr. Runciman, "and if we husband our resources, the disaster that will fall upon her will be almost irreparable. We must make it clear, however, that when peace comes we will not permit the outbreak of the economic war which Germany would wage against ourselves and our allies."

Discussing the suggestion of free trade within the British empire, Mr. Runciman remarked that the dominions of Great Britain were not likely to alter their methods or their attitude toward the mother country. The colonies were determined to raise their revenue and to foster their industries in their own way and he was afraid the idea of free trade within the empire must be dismissed.

THE AMERICAN PERIL.

In the course of the debate there were some references to the danger of competition with the United States, which one member declared would be a more formidable competitor after the war than Germany. To this, John Halford MacKinder, Unionist for Glasgow, replied expressing the affection of Great Britain for America.

"The member has spoken of America as a dangerous commercial rival," he said, "but I cannot conceive of that competition taking the complex, scientific and destructive form of Germany's competition."

The last half-hour of the session was devoted to a discussion of Mr. Lloyd George's suppression of the Glasgow labor newspaper, Forward. Mr. Lloyd George quoted extracts from the paper beginning in July. Some of them contained offensive references to the King; others declared that the war had been engineered by capitalists merely to increase their profits.

On the day that he visited Glasgow the paper contained an attack on the Derby recruiting scheme, that, the minister declared, was "one of the most insidious appeals to the working classes not to enlist which I ever read."

"There is no intention," continued Mr. Lloyd George, "of suppressing free speech and it is childish to say that the paper was suppressed because a minister's vanity was offended. The paper for months had been trying to stir up disaffection in a district more important for the equipment of the army and navy than any other in the kingdom. The paper was extraordinarily clever and, therefore, the more dangerous. Its account of my meeting was a fabrication from beginning to end."

Several members characterized the incident as unfortunate. The discussion was still under way when the House adjourned.

Premier Asquith announced that he will allow two days for debate on the second reading of the compulsion bill, beginning tomorrow.

EIGHT SUBMARINES OF GERMANS LOST.

KITCHENER TELLS OF EVENT DURING TRIP TO ATHENS.

Declares Five of the Boats Were Caught in Nets and Sunk and Three Others Came to the Surface and Surrendered—General's Predictions not well Received.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

ATHENS, Dec. 26.—How eight German submarines that set out to attack the British great fleet were either destroyed or captured was described in a story told by Lord Kitchener on his recent visit here. No public account of the affair was ever given.

"When the maneuvers of the great fleet were held about a month ago north of Scotland," said Lord Kitchener, "eight German submarines of the newest and strongest type went out with the purpose of getting to the fleet and playing havoc with the maneuvers. One came to grief in our North Sea net. The others nosed through and approached the fleet. But there was another net heading them off. They tried to break through, to get around to find an opening. But there was none. Two more were lost in this effort. Finally the remainder decided to return to their base at Helgoland.

"But they could no longer find the way out. The gate and the net had been closed. Two more were lost desperately trying to get through. The remaining three finally were forced to come to the surface and surrender themselves. We took them intact—crews, submarines and all."

Speaking of the British War Minister's visit, the Greek monarch said to the Associated Press correspondent:

"I am a soldier. Kitchener is a soldier. We speak the same language, and we understood one another perfectly from the outset."

One declaration of the British War Minister made to Gen. Dousmanis, the chief of the Greek General Staff, was not favorably received in Athens.

"Suppose the Germans do conquer Egypt," he is credited with saying. "Suppose they extend their line throughout Turkey and hold the Euphrates Valley. Suppose they take India. What then? We shall get it all back when we defeat the Germans in France. The war is not going to be fought out in Egypt, or in India, or the Balkans. It is going to be fought in Germany."

King Constantine's only comment was: "It's all very well for England to talk about what she will get back at the war's end. But we Greeks live in the Balkans."

EVACUATION OF GALLIPOLI GREAT VICTORY FOR TURKS

AMSTERDAM (via London) Jan. 10.—The evacuation of the Gallipoli Peninsula is greeted by the entire German press as a final victory for the Turks.

The Morgan Post declares that one of the most important aims for Russia's entry into the war has failed, and, with the abandonment of the Dardanelles, Russia's interest in the continuation of the war must grow smaller if that country recognizes that her most important aims are not attainable.

The Tages Zeitung says the Turkish success came sooner than was generally expected. It adds that the evacuation of the Gallipoli Peninsula means important relief for the Turks through the freeing of considerable numbers of their men.

"Mr. Churchill's dream of a victorious march to Constantinople is destroyed," says the Lokal Anzeiger. "It has ended also in a complete failure for proud England, which considered herself in the possession of Constantinople after the first successful landing at Seddul Bahr."

GERMANS BEGIN OFFENSIVE IN CHAMPAGNE DISTRICT.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Jan. 10 (via Sayville, N. Y.)—An offensive movement has been inaugurated by the German forces in the Champagne. Announcement was made by the War Office today that French positions extending over several hundred yards at a point northwest of Massiges had been captured by the Germans.

The conquered positions are near Maisons de Champagne. The Germans captured 423 prisoners, including seven officers, five machine guns and one large and seven small mine throwers.

A French counter-attack made to the east of the positions taken by the Germans failed.

The German aircraft division attacked the rear-guard establishments of the allies at Furnes.

On the eastern front an advance attempted by strong Russian detachments at Belestiany was repulsed.

The text of the official statement follows:

"Western front: An attack developed by us north of Massiges, in the neighborhood of Maisons de Champagne farm, resulted in the capture by our forces of an enemy observation post and trenches several hundred yards in extent, as well as 423 prisoners, including seven officers and seven machine guns and one large and seven small mine throwers. A French counter-attack east of the farm broke down. A German air squadron attacked enemy warehouses at Furnes.

"Eastern front: A strong Russian division was repulsed in its efforts to advance at Belestiany in the Volhynia district."

TURKS RETIRING LONDON HEARS

English Report at Variance with German Statement.

Further Details of Situation in Mesopotamia Section.

British at Kut-el-Amara said to be Caught in a Trap.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Jan. 10, 3:53 p.m.—The Turks in Mesopotamia were in full retreat on January 9, with the British pursuing them, it was announced in the House of Commons today by J. Austen Chamberlain, secretary for India.

There had been heavy fighting on both banks of the Tigris January 7, Mr. Chamberlain's announcement stated, and the British had taken two Turkish guns and 700 prisoners.

In telling the Commons the news of the British success on the Tigris Mr. Chamberlain said:

"Gen. Aylmer left Iman Alligarbi January 6 with troops, marching to the relief of Kut-el-Amara. On the same day Gen. Townshend at Kut reported that the previous night the enemy had opened a heavy fire on the northwest front and on the village opposite Kut, but had made no attack. On the night of January 7 Gen. Aylmer reported heavy firing on the south bank of the Tigris.

"On the right bank Gen. Campbell's column carried the enemy's position, taking two guns and 700 prisoners, and then entrenched. Meanwhile the main attack on the left bank was retarded by an enemy outflanking movement and Gen. Aylmer reported that apparently he was opposed by three Turkish divisions.

"On the evening of January 8 he reported that, owing to fatigue, the troops had been unable to make any progress that day. On the 9th he reported the enemy in retreat and that he was pursuing, but that heavy rains hindered the pursuit.

"From later telegrams it appears that the enemy has reached Khora."

Although the Berlin report of the British retreat in Mesopotamia appears to be at variance with the British announcement that the Turks are falling back after heavy fighting, Mr. Chamberlain's statement to the House of Commons does not disclose the point at which the engagement referred to occurred. It is possible that this action took place somewhere south of Kut-el-Amara, between the Turks and the main body of the British.

THE BRITISH SURROUNDED.

BERLIN (via Sayville.)—The British army at Kut-el-Amara in Mesopotamia has now been surrounded completely by the Turks, according to Constantinople advices given out today by the Overseas News Agency. It is said the Turks have advanced to the main defenses of the British.

The main British army in Mesopotamia, according to these advices, is in retreat, 10,000 men having been left in Kut-el-Amara to cover the movement.

The following dispatch, under date of Constantinople, was given out by the news agency:

"The Milli agency states that the Turks were making preparations for three days for the attack on the British and French, and results are not yet fully known. All the positions of the enemy near Seddul Bahr and Teke Burnu were occupied, nine cannon being captured. Turkish artillery sank an enemy transport filled with soldiers. An enormous amount of booty was captured.

"A Turkish aeroplane shot down an enemy biplane near Seddul Bahr."

Recent dispatches have indicated that the British expedition in Mesopotamia was confronted by superior Turkish forces. The British repulsed several assaults on Kut-el-Amara.

The retreat from Kut-el-Amara—assuming the correctness of the official advices from Berlin—apparently means the abandonment by the British of any attempt, for the present at least, of an offensive campaign in Mesopotamia.

It was in November, 1914, that an Anglo-Indian force, starting from the Persian gulf, began marching north and west over the desert, following the Tigris and Euphrates rivers wherever possible. The fighting was slow, but the British pushed northward steadily until they reached Ctesiphon, eighteen miles below Bagdad. Here the Turks defeated them and they fell back on Kut-el-Amara 105 miles southeast of Bagdad.

CONSTANTINOPLE ADVICES.

LONDON, Jan. 10, 5:30 p.m.—A German official wireless dispatch dated Constantinople, received here today, makes the claim that Kut-el-Amara has been surrounded by the Turks, and adds:

"It is hoped the forts will soon either be taken or will fall for want of foodstuffs, and that the British defenders, who number more than 10,000, will be captured.

"The British thought, by leaving these forces in Kut-el-Amara, to guarantee the defense of the town and also to assure the orderly retreat of the remainder of the army. This portion of the army is at present a long way southeast of Kut-el-Amara, and cannot go to the help of the fort, especially as the morale of this force is shaken."

ALLIED TRANSPORT SUNK.

BERLIN, Jan. 10 (via Sayville, N. Y.)—The sinking of a transport ship of the allies, filled with troops, at the time of the withdrawal of the French and British forces from the tip of the Gallipoli Peninsula, is reported in Constantinople dispatches given out today by the Overseas News Agency.

LAKE SUCCEEDS NIXON.

LONDON, Jan. 10, 3:40 p.m.—Sir Percy Lake has been appointed to command the British forces in Mesopotamia in succession to Gen. Sir John Eccles Nixon, who has been compelled by ill health to return home, it was said in the House of Commons today by Austen Chamberlain, Secretary for India.

Lieut.-Gen. Sir Percy Henry Noel Lake, who is 59 years old, and has had a long and brilliant army career, has been Chief of the General Staff in India since 1913. He served in the Afghan war of 1878-79 and was awarded a medal, and was similarly honored for his services with the Soudan expedition in 1885.

Much of his subsequent service was in connection with the Canadian militia, for which he served some time as quartermaster-general, afterwards as Chief of the General Staff of the militia, and then as inspector-general, leaving the last named post to become a division commander in India in 1911.

WHAT THE ALLIES SPENT.

BERLIN, Jan. 10 (via Sayville.)—"According to estimates by competent authorities here, the Entente powers spent $1,250,000,000 on the Dardanelles expedition, not inclusive of their losses in warships and trading craft," says the Overseas News Agency today.

"According to reports that have reached the Turkish capital, the Entente had arranged for distribution of control at Constantinople so that one-third was to be governed each by Great Britain, France and Russia. It is known that since April more than 1000 civil officers had been assembled on the Island of Mudros in order to take charge of the civil posts immediately after Constantinople was captured.

BRITISH LOSS DETAILED.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 10 (via London, 4:53 p.m.)—A British force which apparently was on the way to reinforce the British at Kut-el-Amara on the Tigris River lost 3000 men in an attack on Turkish positions at Sheik Said, according to a semi-official statement received here today from Constantinople. The attack is declared to have been repulsed. The statement follows:

"On the Irak front the enemy, whose strength is estimated at one division which was stationed at Miam Alligarbi in order to come to the rescue at Kut-el-Amara on January 6 and 7, under the protection of four gunboats, attacked our positions at Sheik Said, but was repulsed by our counter-attack.

"We made some prisoners. The enemy losses are estimated at 2000. The enemy cavalry suffered especially severe losses."

GREAT JOY IN CONSTANTINOPLE.

BERLIN, Jan. 10 (via Sayville, N. Y.)—The news of the definite failure of the Dardanelles expedition aroused enormous joy and satisfaction in Constantinople," says the Overseas News Agency.

"The Berlin newspapers," continues the agency," point out the loss of prestige which this means for the British, besides the enormous losses of men, ships and money. They recall the proud words of Mr. Asquith in Parliament on November 9, 1914, that the Turkish empire had committed suicide and had dug it own grave; and those of Mr. Churchill at a later date, that through the Dardanelles lay the shortest road to triumphant peace."

ENGLISH GRATIFICATION.

LONDON, Jan. 10, 4:03 p.m.—The British retirement from the Dardanelles was referred to by Premier Asquith in addressing the House of Commons this afternoon.

"The House will learn with extreme gratification of the retirement of the force at Cape Helles (at the tip of the Gallipoli Peninsula) without the loss of a single life," the Premier said. "Of eleven guns left behind, ten were worn-out fifteen-pounders which were rendered unfit for further service before they were abandoned. All stores of reserve ammunition which could not be removed were set afire before the retirement.

"The whole retirement was conducted with minimum losses. These operations, taken in conjunction with the earlier ones from Suvla and Anzac, are, I believe, without parallel in history. That they should have been carried out without any loss is an achievement whereof all concerned may well be proud. It takes an imperishable place in our national history.

"His Majesty will be advised that Monro, Robeck, Wemyss, Birdwood, David and other officers should receive special recognition."

MAY SEND APPONYI TO UNITED STATES.

BERLIN, Jan. 10 (via London) Jan. 11, 1:45 a.m.—Advices received here from Vienna, say that Count Apponyi, the veteran Hungarian political leader, possibly may be chosen to fill the vacant post of Austro-Hungarian Ambassador to the United States. While there is no authoritative information on the subject here, it is thought in certain circles that the chances for him to receive the appointment are good.

Count Apponyi is 69 years old, and has been a member of the Hungarian House of Deputies since 1872. He visited the United States in 1904.

BRYAN'S WORDS A BOOMERANG.

Wilson has Letter Referring to the One-term Plank.

Commoner Declares it Merely an Expression of Policy.

If He Opposes President He'll be Asked to Explain.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 10.—There is in existence a letter written by William J. Bryan in which the Commoner practically releases President Wilson from any obligation under the single-term plank of the Baltimore platform not to run for a second term. President Wilson's political advisers expect to use this letter against Mr. Bryan if the latter, as has been intimated, seeks to make any issue of a second term for Mr. Wilson.

This letter was written by Mr. Bryan back in 1913, when a resolution was pending before Congress limiting the Presidency to a single term. Mr. Bryan wrote to a member of Congress that the one-term plank was intended merely as a declaration of policy and should not be binding on any individual until legislation had been passed and it applied to all parties alike.

This information followed today upon the heels of a disclosure as to President Wilson's own views on the one-term plank. A letter was made public in which the President cites the rule by which he will be guided in deciding whether or not he shall run again.

WILSON'S VIEWS.

This is the way the President puts it:

"I shall most cheerfully abide by the judgment of my party and the public as to whether I shall be a candidate for the Presidency again in 1916. I absolutely pledge myself to resort to nothing but public opinion to decide that question."

The President's willingness to run again provided he is satisfied that the party and the public want him is disclosed in a letter which he wrote to A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, a few weeks before the Presidential inauguration in 1913. This letter also was written while the resolution was pending before Congress which if passed would have limited the Presidency to a single term in accordance with the pledge in the Baltimore platform.

Mr. Wilson's letter prevented the passage of that resolution and no attempt has been made since to revive it.

The general tenor of that communication has been known ever since it was written to Mr. Palmer, but the full text is now made public for the first time.

As to the test which Mr. Wilson has prescribed for himself in regard to running for a second term his advisers contend that it already has been fulfilled and that both the party and the public have given satisfactory evidence of their desire that Mr. Wilson become a candidate again.

STRANGE DOINGS.

The understanding here now is that the President will encounter the opposition of William J. Bryan in his effort to be renominated, notwithstanding the Bryan letter. Mr. Bryan feels that there has been no serious effort on the President's part to live up to the spirit of the one-term plank and he will attack him on that score.

There already are evidences that Democrats high in the party's councils are making plans for a contingency that contemplates the possible retirement of the President from the race. It is known that some of Champ Clark's friends are moving on the assumption that the President at the last minute may decide to live up to the one-term plank of the Baltimore platform and refuse to run.

Strangely enough the Bryan and the Clark forces are now joining hands.

ARGUES CORN PRODUCTS CASE.

Government Attorney Makes Final Plea in Anti-trust Litigation.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Final arguments in the government's Sherman law suit to dissolve the Corn Products Refining Company were begun today before Judge Hand in the United States District Court.

Asst. Atty.-Gen. Adkins described the defendant company as a $40,000,000 concern engaged in the manufacture of starch, glucose, acid syrups and other products, and said the company controlled 80 per cent. of the business.

Rebating and profit-sharing, the attorney said, were part of the company's plan to guarantee against a decline in prices. Dismantling of factories and the forcing of officers of six companies to make contracts not to re-enter business for twenty-five years were other allegations in Mr. Adkins's argument.

The government's suit was filed March 1, 1913, and voluminous testimony was taken by a special examiner in various parts of the country.

Mr. Edes said the commission was eager to hasten the work to the Mattanuska coal fields and begin work from Kern Creek to Anchorage Junction along the Tunagan River.

"Scotty" Allen, Famous Alaskan Snow Team Racer, has Hard Time Teaching Soldiers how to Say Gee and Haw so Animals Will Understand.

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 10.—"Scotty" Allen, the famous driver of dog racing teams in Alaska, has [illegible] new words to the French language. Allen, who returned early this morning from France, where he delivered 400 northern bred canines for use in warfare in the Alps and Vosges, says that it took him ten days to teach the new drivers to say "gee" and "haw" so the dogs could understand.

"I guess those words will now become a part of the French language," said Allen. "It certainly was some task to get those Frenchmen to realize that the dogs had been brought up to understand English and that those words were essential to their working. Also, it was trouble to learn the new drivers to hitch up the animals."

LUSITANIA CASE IS STILL OPEN

Small Details Block Agreement with Germany.

All Essential Principals Have been Agreed Upon.

Diplomats Believe Settlement will be Reached Soon.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—[illegible] in agreeing upon details is helping up a final settlement of the Lusitania controversy. Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, and Secretary Lansing had another conference today and it was said that no final agreement had been reached, although the outlook was encouraging.

While the United States and Germany virtually have agreed upon the essential principles involved, it was learned tonight that until a memorandum expressing these principles satisfactory to both sides is found, a settlement of a settlement will be withheld.

Count Bernstorff was informed to effect by Secretary Lansing during today's conference that the wording of the tentative proposal submitted last week by Germany, and since considered by President Wilson, was inadequate in certain respects.

SETTLEMENT EXPECTED.

A feeling of optimism regarding the ultimate outcome of the negotiations apparently prevails both in official and Teutonic diplomatic circles. It is freely predicted that a settlement acceptable to both governments should be reached by next Monday unless unforeseen events happen.

By Monday Count Bernstorff will receive a reply to a dispatch he sent to his government tonight for the Berlin foreign office. This is believed to contain the results of his latest efforts and suggestions regarding certain details which the United States to be embodied in the final settlement.

These suggestions, it was authoritatively stated, had to do solely with questions involved in the settlement of reprisal and the British blockade of Germany, which the United States and Germany both declare to be illegal.

Consideration of points upon which the United States and its citizens understood to be playing an important part in hastening a settlement, Germany contends that the sinking of the Lusitania was an act of reprisal and while declaring that Americans lost their lives by the commission of the act, at the same time considers that public opinion in Germany would adversely criticise any action which would admit the illegality of torpedoing the vessel under these circumstances. Germany, it is said to admit the right of citizens to protection and safety. In a memorandum the Berlin government is understood to insist upon a form of apology which denies that it was intended to sink the Lusitania but admits it was wrong for that act to cost the lives of Americans.

It is said that no definite agreement in regard to indemnity has been reached.

DOMESTIC NECESSITY

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—[illegible] military training is one of the [illegible] pieces of domestic legislation that has ever been put before the American people," said Rear Admiral Augustus P. Gardner of Massachusetts, speaking on preparedness before the National Security League today.

He suggested that every American serve at least one year in the land or sea forces as a means of increasing the army to 250,000 men, instead of 114,000, as proposed by Secretary of War Garrison, and likewise increasing our navy strength.

"We ought to secure as quickly as we can the second place among the nations for our navy, no matter what it costs," he said. "As a matter of fact, we should be in first place. It is necessary first to get to the front place.

"In my opinion there is going to be something done," he said in reference to the administration's defense plans, "but that would be rendered doubly effective if the administration would only come out and tell the country where we stand; whether the United States is first, second, third or fourth among the world powers. Then the army and navy are strong enough they should be stronger.

"Secretary Garrison is a patriot. I don't intend to drop monkey wrenches into his machinery, so I will refrain from making any criticism of his plan.

MILITARY DRILL FOR EVERY BOY.

Universal Service in America Theme of the Lawmakers.

Two Million Men Needed in Case of War, Says Scott.

Continental Army Plan Makes Appeal to the General.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Universal military service in some form in the United States, possibly the requirement that all men between 18 and 19 be given at least six months' training as a substitute for the volunteer system, was discussed today before the House Military Committee by Maj.-Gen. Scott, chief-of-staff of the army.

Gen. Scott told the committee that the United States would need an army of nearly 2,000,000 men in the event of war. It developed during the hearing that there are more than 130,000 men in the country between the ages of 18 and 21 and that 700,000 or more reach the age of 18 annually.

In favor of a universal military requirement, Gen. Scott thought the administration's continental army plan offered the most workable solution of the nation's military problems. If the nation called, he said, there was no escape from compulsory service.

The military service imposed on men between 18 and 21 as a patriotic duty with nominal pay, he thought it would cost the nation no more for adequate force than to maintain present establishment.

Gen. Scott's statement that the country would need an army of nearly 2,000,000 in event of war was questioned by Representative Anthony, who asked if it would not be a physical impossibility for any power to land such men in the United States in a period short of sixty days. Citing a plan prepared by the war college division of the General Staff, under date of August, 1914, Gen. Scott said Austro-Hungary had the ships and could send a force of 72,000 in a state of condition and 108,000 in a second within sixty days.

What would become of the 72,000, Representative Anthony asked. Gen. Scott said that if they were once established, with adequate big guns they would be hard to dislodge when reinforcements arrived. France, he added, could send 160,000 men in the same expedition and Germany 287,000.

Gen. Scott disclosed that the War Department had prepared estimates for big mobile coast defense guns of rather probably greater than 16 inches, to be fired from railroad cars or hauled on their own carriages by motor trucks. He said that it was understood that many contracts placed by American firms for ammunition and arms to be exported were for a year old with the deliveries some of the time required to equip troops. For this reason he favored preparing in advance all necessary plans and tools to convert commercial plants to the needs of the American army in time of war.

The committee will resume its hearings next Wednesday, with Maj.-Gen. Bliss, assistant chief-of-staff, on the stand.

DOMESTIC NECESSITY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—"Compulsory military training is one of the most piece of domestic necessity that has ever been put before the American people," said Representative Augustus P. Gardner of Massachusetts, speaking on preparedness before the National Security League today.

He suggested that every American boy serve at least one year in either the land or sea forces as a means of increasing the army to 250,000 fighting men, instead of 114,000 as planned by Secretary of War Garrison, and likewise increasing our naval strength.

"We ought to secure as quickly as possible the second place among the navies for our navy, no matter what it cost," he said. "As a matter of course, we should be in first place, but it is necessary first to get to the second place.

"In my opinion there is going to be a good deal done," he said in referring to the administration's defense plans, "but that would be rendered a certainty if the administration would only come out and tell the people where we stand; whether the United States is first, second, third or fourth among the world powers. They tell us the army and navy are strong, but they should be stronger.

"Secretary Garrison is a patriot. I have come to drop monkey wrenches into his machinery, so I will refrain from making any criticism on his plans.

"There are only two ways by which we can get 250,000 men: first, by going into the labor market and paying the men more, and, second, by offering greater chances of promotion to the enlisted men in the army." He declared that we cannot expect to have soldiers if we go on paying them only $15 per month. In time of war no National Guard officer would rank above major, he said. Representative Gardner characterized the continental plan for an army as inadequate, stating that we must have a good, reliable national army.

NEW RECORD FOR NAVY.

Battleship Wyoming in the Atlantic and Cruiser San Diego in the Pacific Talk by Wireless Across the Continent for First Time.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Flagships of the Atlantic and the Pacific fleets were in radio communication today across about 2500 miles of intervening land. The battleship Wyoming, near Cape Henry, reported to the Navy Department that messages exchanged with the San Diego at Guaymas, Mex., were strong and easily read.

Unusual static conditions probably made possible this conversation, the feat of communication between the two fleets over such an extent of land never before having been accomplished. Improved apparatus recently installed on the big ships of the navy also aided in the success of the test.

MISBRANDING OF DRUGS IS DECLARED ILLEGAL.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—After ten years of legislation and litigation, the Supreme Court today held that Congress had acted fully a constitutional law forbidding false statements as to the curative effects of medicines in interstate commerce. The decision was rendered by Justice Hughes. Numerous actions involving over contents are expected to follow.

At one time it was urged by government officials that the 1906 pure food law condemned as misbranded drugs and medicines which were accompanied in interstate commerce by knowingly false statements about the curative effects of the compounds. The Supreme Court decided, however, that the law applied only to misbranded drugs as to the identity or composition thereof.

Referring to a resulting message from President Taft, Congress in 1912 passed the Sherley amendment, which the Supreme Court held today struck out statements either on the label or in printed circulars accompanying medicines.

"We find no ground," said Justice Hughes, "for saying that Congress may not condemn interstate transportation of swindling preparations accompanied by false and fraudulent statements as well as lottery tickets."

The justice held that Congress had not entered the field of difference of opinions between schools and practitioners but had merely sought to exclude "false and fraudulent" statements from interstate commerce. He held the law was not speculative in its nature, because an intent to deceive was a fact as susceptible as other facts in everyday life.

The decision was announced in the case of a Chicago drug concern which shipped medicine from Chicago to Omaha, described in an accompanying circular as a compound which it knew had cured and would cure tuberculosis.

The government proceeded under the Sherley amendment to confiscate the product and the Nebraska Federal District Court condemned the shipments. The action was affirmed today by the Supreme Court.

WORK RESUMED AT YOUNGSTOWN

Grand Jury is Investigating the Strikes and Rioting.

Regiment of Ohio Guardsmen Ordered Home.

Two Inquiries by the Federal Government are Started.

YOUNGSTOWN (O.) Jan. 10.—The opening of the grand jury investigation of the strike and rioting in East Youngstown, the resumption of work at the plant of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, and the ordering home of the Fourth Regiment of the Ohio National Guard, were developments in the situation here today.

Quiet prevailed in the vicinity of the tube works and employees who reported for duty today were not molested. There were no pickets in evidence and the belief was expressed by county officials tonight that the crisis in the situation had passed.

Many witnesses were examined by the grand jury during the day, but according to Prosecuting Attorney A. M. Henderson, no report will be made until the latter part of the week.

Thomas H. Flynn, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, issued a statement tonight in which he charged that the rioting here last week was a financial scheme to depress the value of the stock of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company so that a merger of independent steel interests can be effected.

Two Federal investigations also were started here today. George A. West of Washington, D. C., representing the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations, arrived here to look over the situation while postal inspectors are also investigating the robbing and burning of the postoffice in East Youngstown Friday night. Six men already have been arrested, it being alleged that stamped envelopes stolen on the night of the fire were found in their possession.

Persistent reports tonight said that the strikes in the plants of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube, and the Republic Iron and Steel Company, in East Youngstown, Struthers and Lansingville, affecting 18,000, had been settled. There was no confirmation.

Dan Mentan, aged 27, shot during the rioting, died tonight, bringing the deaths up to three.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Representatives of southern cotton mills headed by former Gov. Kitchin of North Carolina, before the House Labor Committee today, opposed the Keating-Owen bill to prevent interstate shipment of goods manufactured with aid of child labor. Mr. Kitchin said the bill was opposed as unconstitutional and unwise.

"We of the South oppose this measure because we believe our people who have to work should be permitted to do so," he said. "I recall a dispatch from Boston on January 1, 1915, that 125 persons were gleaning food from the garbage piles. If the North cannot support the poor you should not expect the South to do so. Nobody eats barbage in the South."

MILLIONS OF ACRES OPEN TO SETTLEMENT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Secretary Lane today designated 3,000,000 acres of land as nonirrigable, opening to settlement vast areas in several States. Some of the land has been filed on already, however, and some homesteads have been patented. The land includes 2,000,000 acres in South Dakota, 500,000 acres in California and 250,000 in Montana.

EXPLAINS THE IDEA OF HORSEPOWER TAX.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The proposed Federal Tax on horse-power of automobiles would be imposed on the manufacturer, and not on the owner, according to a statement issued tonight by Secretary McAdoo.

"No yearly taxation of automobiles similar to the license taxes of States and municipalities is contemplated," said the statement, "nor has it, at any time, been suggested that a Federal tax be imposed on automobiles in use by private owners."

SEEKS A JUSTICE FOR SUPREME BENCH.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—President Wilson and Atty.-Gen. Gregory tonight began considering candidates for the vacancy in the United States Supreme Court caused by the death of Justice Lamar. Afterward the Attorney-General said no decision had been reached, and that the field still was open.

A Democrat is almost certain to be selected, as a majority of the present members of the court are Republicans.

Former President Taft has been suggested for the vacancy, but it is understood there is no prospect of his being chosen. Atty.-Gen. Gregory and John W. Davis, Solicitor-General, who also have been mentioned, are not being considered, because, if appointed, they would not be eligible to participate in consideration of several important cases now pending for the reason that they took part in preparation of the government's argument. The President is seeking to find as young a man as possible who is qualified.

FILIPINO MEASURE DEBATED IN SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Debate on the bill to grant the people of the Philippine Islands a greater degree of self-government continued in the Senate today, Senator Kenyon, Republican, joining with Democratic Senators in urging its passage. The bill should become a law, Senator Kenyon said, not only in fulfillment of promises and moral obligation to the Philippines, but for the good of the United States.

Senator Gronna urged that the measure be amended to provide protection for the Filipino. Senator Kenyon explained that under the present laws, liquor was available only to the Christian inhabitants.

Senator Hitchcock, chairman of the Philippines Committee, opened the debate with a defense of the present administration.

RIVERS AND HARBORS FIGHT IS OPENED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Representative Frear of Wisconsin today opened his annual fight on rivers and harbors appropriations with the declaration that most of the $50,000,000 spent thus by army engineers in 1914 and 1915 was wasted.

"The country has no waterway policy, present or prospective," he said, "only a political pork barrel, steered by a powerful lobby, now actively at work in Washington."

The cost in 1913 to the government of moving freight on ten designated rivers varied from $8 a ton on the Ouichita to $350 on the Big Sandy, Mr. Frear said.

SPAIN TO ADMIT FOODSTUFFS FREE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Wheat and many other commodities, mostly grains, foodstuffs and metals, will be admitted to Spain hereafter duty free, but will be subject to an embargo tax if exported. A royal decree dated January 1, making these revisions, was transmitted to the State Department today by the Consul-General at Barcelona.

BRITISH TIGHTEN LINES.

New Rules Regarding Passports are Advanced by Spring-Rice.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Under the defense of the realm act no person will be allowed to land or embark at any port in the United Kingdom unless he has a passport issued within two years by the government of the country of which he is a citizen. This information was given today by Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British Ambassador, in announcing to the State Department restrictions to govern the emigration of British subjects of military age from the United Kingdom.

Any person who lands or embarks in contravention of the regulations or any person who, having special permission to land, fails to comply with certain conditions, "shall be deemed guilty of a summary offense" against the rules.

PROHIBITION IN KANSAS.

TOPEKA (Kan.) Jan. 10.—Kansas has the lowest death rate of any State in the Union because the people of the State do not drink liquor, because they have money enough to live right and because they have the intelligence to read of the conditions that make for short lives, and know how to dodge them.

That is the answer of W. J. V. Deacon, registrar of Kansas' Vital Statistics Bureau, to Samuel R. Rodgers, director of the United States Bureau of the Census. Last month the government gave out the figures on death rates for the country, showing the Kansas rate to be 9.5 in each 1000 population, the lowest rate in the registration year.

The government officials didn't believe it and wrote Mr. Deacon, demanding an explanation. In reply Mr. Deacon enumerated prohibition, high average of intelligence, absence of slums and poverty, and good climate.

DRINKING WOOD ALCOHOL.

SEATTLE (Wash.) Jan. 10.—T. Takano, proprietor of a Japanese drug store and hotel in the lodging-house district, was arrested late today on a charge of selling wood alcohol without labelling the bottles "poison." Detectives who investigated the deaths of ten men and one woman from alcoholism since prohibition became effective January 1 asserted that at least three of the persons who died from drinking wood alcohol had purchased it from Takano. Prosecuting Attorney Lundin stated he would charge Takano with manslaughter.

One of the wood alcohol victims was a lodger in Takano's house. Other sales of wood alcohol, the police said, were made on the street by Takano's agent, known as Tom Shannon, who died last night from wood alcohol poisoning.

Shannon's body was identified tonight.

Besides the eleven dead already claimed by alcoholism, two men and one woman are in the City Hospital suffering from wood alcohol poisoning. The woman probably will recover, but hospital authorities say that the men cannot live.

Surprised.

SEEKS PROTECTION FROM SUBMARINES.

AUSTRIA ASKS ENGDAND TO SAFEGUARD HER SUBJECTS.

Sir Edward Grey Admits His Astonishment at Such a Petition, Coming from a Nation that, He Says, Disregards All Rules of Humanity in Its Sea Warfare.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Sir Edward Grey, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, finds opportunity for some plain speaking regarding the Austro-Hungarian submarine warfare, in a letter to the American Ambassador, Walter D. Page, replying to a request from the Austro-Hungarian government that special pains be taken to insure the safety of certain Austro-Hungarian subjects that are being repatriated from India on the steamship Golconda.

The request is embodied in a petition from Austro-Hungarian subjects which the Austro-Hungarian government endorsed. Sir Edward Grey replies:

"Some of the requests of the petition have already been conceded as a matter of course. With regard to that portion of the petition which asks that special precautions be taken to prevent danger to the lives of the Golconda passengers by submarine attack, I feel bound to express my astonishment that the Austro-Hungarian government, themselves one of the authors of the danger, should have thought it seemly to indorse this request.

"Not content, however, with doing this, the Austro-Hungarian government further state that they will hold His Majesty's government responsible for the lives and well-being of these passengers, 'a majority of whom are better class people.'

"I am at a loss to know why better class people should be thought more entitled to protection from submarine attack than other noncombatants. But however that may be, the only danger of the character indicated which threatens any passengers on the Golconda is one for which the Austro-Hungarian and German governments alone are responsible. It is only they who carry on the novel and inhuman form of warfare which disregards all hitherto accepted principles of international law and necessarily endangers the lives of noncombatants.

"By asking for special precautions to protect one of their own subjects on board a British merchant vessel, the Austro-Hungarian government recognize what is the inevitable consequence of their submarine policy and admit that the outrages whereby the Lusitania, the Persia and numbers of other ships have been sunk without warning were not the result of casual brutalities of the officers of the enemy submarines, but part of a settled and premeditated policy of the governments they serve.

"It is needless to add that His Majesty's government does not propose to take any precautions on behalf of Austro-Hungarian subjects which they do not take on benalf of their own and that if they suffer any injury from submarine attack on the part of His Majesty's enemies, the responsibility must rest solely with those who have made such attacks part of their ordinary methods of warfare.

"The proper and sufficient protection from this danger is that Austro-Hungary and Germany should observe the ordinary rules of humanity in their methods of warfare."

DODGE'S WILL FILED.

Railroad Builder Leaves Two Hundred Thousand to Charity.

COUNCIL BLUFFS (Iowa) Jan. 10.—The will of the late Grenville M. Dodge was filed for probate here today. Certain charitable bequests are made but the bulk of the estate is left in trust until the death of the youngest grandchild. The sum of $50,000 is left for the establishment of a library for railroad men in Council Bluffs, to be under the management of the Y.M.C.A. or some similar organization; $50,000 for the relief of Civil War veterans, living in Council Bluffs and their families; $50,000 for the endowment of a chair of engineering at Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., the testator's alma mater. These bequests are conditioned upon the value of the estate reaching $550,000, but as those conversant with Gen. Dodge's affairs estimate the value of the property well above $1,000,000, there is little doubt of their being paid.

POWDER MILLS POP.

Following Explosion at Carney's Point Two More Plants at Wilmington are Destroyed and Three Workmen Killed.

WILMINGTON (Del.) Jan. 10.—Following the explosion at the Du Pont powder plant, Carney's Point, N. J., early today, in which three workmen were killed, two mills blew up at the upper Hagley yard near here this afternoon. In one of the latter accidents one workman was slightly burned. The three explosions within one day have had the effect of making the secret service and police departments of the Du Pont Powder Company unusually active in looking for possible clews indicating "outside influence."

A press mill blew up at 3 o'clock this afternoon. It was in this explosion that the workman was hurt. Ninety minutes later a mixing mill near the press mill also exploded. It contained 500 pounds of powder. No one was injured. Both mills were blown to atoms.

The disaster at Carney's Point was due to an explosion of smokeless powder, while at the upper Hagley yard it was black powder that went off. Up to a late hour tonight there were no developments as to the causes of the three explosions.

WILSON WITHHOLDS NAMES OF PLOTTERS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Unfavorable reports were returned to the House Judiciary Committee today on resolutions asking the President for details of unnatural plots mentioned in his annual message and seeking information from the Department of Justice about any steps taken by the government in connection with increased gasoline prices.

The committee referred to a letter from the President saying it would be contrary to public interest to give details concerning neutrality violators and one from Atty.-Gen. Gregory advising that the rise in gasoline prices was being investigated, but that no evidence had been developed so far to warrant prosecutions.

SCHMITZ INSISTS ON IT.

As Former Mayor He is Allowed to Sit with the Supervisors.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Eugene E. Schmitz, deposed as Mayor of San Francisco, and whose conviction during the graft trials was vacated by the Supreme Court, was accorded today the right to sit with the Board of Supervisors, without a vote, by action of the new board, which organized Saturday with six new members. Schmitz made a demand for such a privilege immediately after his defeat in the recent Mayoralty campaign. He claimed every former Mayor had such a right under the city and county charter.

RECALL JOHNSON CRY IN NORTH.

People Hold Him Responsible for Primary Law Fiasco.

Crowning Act of Infamy is Passage of Nonparty Bill.

Caucus Denounces His Contempt for Will of Voters.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—"The people of California asked you for bread; you are giving them a stone. I have voted for every reform measure which Gov. Johnson has advocated, but I cannot subscribe to these bills that propose to make registration nonpartisan."

With this strong arraignment of the Young nonparty bills, Senator Lyman M. King led the fight against the Johnson administration measures. He was ably supported by seven of his colleagues, but the anti-party coalition that passed the Young primary bills a year ago passed a second time these acts which contain whole sections of the two bills that were referendumed and defeated last October.

At a caucus tonight of the members of the Legislature opposed to abolishing political parties in the State and to nonparty registrations strong resolutions were adopted attacking the administration for its open contempt for the expressed will of the people. The autocratic action of the Governor in issuing so limited a call was also condemned. This statement forms a basis for a referendum movement which is to be organized at once.

Charging that the Young nonpartisan bills were coerced through the Legislature by reason of the number of Assemblymen on the State pay roll, the caucus of the opposition forces voted unanimously to place in circulation an initiative petition in the form of a constitutional amendment providing that no member of the State Legislature may hold any other salaried State office or position during the term for which he is elected.

This would affect twenty-two members of the present Assembly and a number of Senators, as well.

IS LOSING POWER.

Notwithstanding its boasted strength in the Senate, the best the administration could do was to secure twenty-five votes for the Young bills. Senator Slater, who cast one of these, said he would have voted for party registration if such a bill could have been passed under the call. This is the smallest majority the Governor has had in the Senate since his election in 1910. The defections were quickly noted by the opposition, and a movement was started last night to organize a systematic campaign covering the whole State to secure a straight Democratic and Republican majority in the 1917 Senate. This would mean that fifteen of the twenty State Senators to be elected this year must be anti-Progressive and men of stiff enough moral fiber not to be won over by the blandishment of paid jobs on the State pay roll.

TALK OF RECALL.

Tonight the Johnson forces are visibly perturbed over rumors that a recall movement against Gov. Johnson is pending. Such action has been advocated by a number of northern representatives and by some of the anti-administration northern papers, but the Los Angeles county delegation has so far declined to give any credence to it.

Some of the legislators displayed letters and telegrams from their constituents urging that the Governor be held personally responsible for the trickery by which he seeks to make the 1913 primary law nonpartisan in place of providing for party registration as was expected when the legislative session was contemplated.

CROWNING INFAMY.

Senator Ballard of Los Angeles, the gray eagle of the Senate, made a notable address in opposition to the latest Young bills. He charged that cutting out all reference of party registration in the 1913 primary election bill is the crowning infamy of the Progressive coalition which just now has possession of the legislative, executive and judicial departments of the State government. He asserted that the election laws are made purposely intricate and complicated by this coalition so that the average voter will be unable to understand them.

"If Gov. Johnson were as true to the people as to his Progressive officials and adherents," said Senator Ballard, "he would not have convened this Legislature under such an extraordinary call. We have heard a great deal about the reforms this coalition has inaugurated, but the people find that their taxes are about 100 per cent. higher than they were under Republican rule. As they lay awake nights trying to devise ways to stand off the tax-gatherer they are beginning to figure that reforms come pretty high.

"I listened to the encomiums that my former colleague, Senator Wolfe, showered on Gov. Johnson a few nights ago; but for my part, I have not forgotten that he followed the lead of Col. Roosevelt and walked out of a Republican convention four years ago, thus making possible the triumph of the enemies of our Grand Old Party and the discomfiture of its adherents and supporters. I am not ready to join Senator Wolfe in nominating him as Vice-President on the Republican ticket. For my part he must come and win his spurs in the ranks before he can get one foot of advancement."

OPPOSITION SUBSIDES.

Senator Ballard is the most feared of all the anti-Johnson men in the Legislature. At the beginning of the last session the Progressives sought to break the thread of some of his arraignments by interrupting him with questions. But he conducted himself so ably under fire that they have abandoned those tactics and yesterday they received his castigations in silence. His enthusiastic friends here have already declared their intention of nominating him for Congress in his Los Angeles district.

Democratic Senators Irwin and Purkitt arraigned the Governor severely for making so restricted a call for the special session. Referring to Senator King's address, Senator Irwin shouted: "You have indeed given the people a stone when they asked for bread; but when the time comes they will cast that stone back at you with a force that will knock the last vestige of your autocratic rule over the border into Mexico where it belongs."

WEAK DEFENSE.

Senators Benson and Luce defended the administration measures but they were visibly perturbed by the threats of recall and referendum that were echoing about their heads. Senator Benson urged that the idea of a referendum should be abandoned as the people have too many big things to think about to hold meetings and get excited over such trivial affairs. A year ago on a similar bill he was daring the opposition to attempt a referendum, asserting that the Governor would be sustained by a vote of five to one.

LOS ANGELES SAVES DAY.

It required the almost combined voting strength of the Los Angeles county delegation to carry through the Assembly this afternoon the bills making provision for preserving the California Building on the exposition grounds in San Francisco for a State Normal School. The opposition forces could easily have beaten this, but the southern members took the broader grounds that it was an educational and not a political measure and that the San Francisco delegation should be permitted to select the site that appealed to San Franciscans most.

Last to be voted upon, but not least in interest to Southern California, was a bill appropriating $50,000 from the balance in the State exposition fund for the San Diego exposition. This bill passed unanimously.

SHAMEFUL BOSS RULE EXPOSED TO THE PEOPLE.

Johnson, by Encroaching Upon the Legislative Powers of the State, Forces Action Upon the Nonparty Bill that is Directly Opposite the Will of the Voters — Senators Sign a Protest Against Violation of the Constitution.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—Eight Senators opposed to the administration nonparty bills filed the following joint statement explaining their vote in the Senate:

We, the undersigned, feel that a condition exists in the State of California which must not be allowed to exist or to become a precedent, without the entry of a most solemn protest upon the part of those who believe in the observance of Article III of the Constitution, which provides that the powers of the government of the State shall be divided into three separate departments—the legislative, judicial and executive.

The chief executive of the State has, in our judgment, encroached upon the legitimate powers of the legislative branch of the State government, in that he has, in the call of the extraordinary session of the Legislature now in session, sought directly to limit legislative action to certain particular sections of certain particular laws, rather than observing the clear intent and purpose of Section 9 of Article V of the Constitution, which confers upon the Governor the power on extraordinary occasions to convene the Legislature by proclamation, stating the purposes for which he has convened it.

We hold that if the precedent now established is allowed to go unchallenged, the executive or any future executive of the State may under similar construction, of the Constitution, call together the Legislature, not to legislate upon any particular subject, but solely to legislate entirely according to the will of the executive, thus depriving the Legislature of all discretionary power and of its constitutional right and duty.

If the Legislature is to be assembled only to legislate upon a certain subject in a certain particular way, which way must be in exact accord with the will of executive upon the subject matter, then the necessity for a legislative branch of our government ceases.

We are desirous of enacting such a primary law as will carry out the will of the people of California, as expressed at the last election, but we decline to support the present bill which, in our judgment, is not the correct or logical solution of the situation, nor in harmony with the will of the people.

With due respect to each branch of the State government, we present this as being our reason in part, for voting against the measure now under consideration and as recording and perpetuating a protest against what we conceive to be a most dangerous precedent in attempting to abridge the legitimate powers of the Legislature.

At the party executive caucus tonight the following statement was issued:

To the people of California:

We presumed that if the Governor convened the Legislature in extraordinary session it would be for the purpose of amending the election laws of the State to conform to the will of the people, expressed at the special election on October 26. The Governor's proclamation, however, was "designedly restrictive" to prevent this. Upon our arrival at Sacramento we found that we had been limited under the interpretation of the administration by express restrictions in the Governor's message in such manner as to prevent our carrying out the will of the people as declared at the recent special election, and that a programme of legislation had been decided upon. The bills we were to pass were already in the printer's hands. In his message the Governor said he had convened the Legislature "to amend the election laws as specifically set forth in the call," although admitting "that other means could be devised." We were told that, although the Legislature might pass such laws as it deemed "essential" in relation to the San Diego exposition and take such action as it deemed "appropriate" in reference to the San Francisco Normal School, it was "designedly restricted within the narrowest possible limits" as to the measure upon which the people had spoken, and we were required to act in contravention of their expressed will.

The bills proposed and adopted pursuant to the orders of the executive forbid party registration. They provide only for party declaration at the primary election. They restore the evil provisions of the law of many years ago. They permit control of a party's organization by its opponents. They are reactionary and dangerous. They are the opening wedge to a revival of boss-domination of party primaries.

All attempts to amend the bills to provide for retention of our present system of party registration were defeated by the Governor having "designedly restricted" our action. The Governor's adherents, who attempted to force upon the State the "nonpartisan" law, voted solidly against obeying the mandate of the people which in October condemned that law. On technical grounds, which we deem without foundation, our amendments were denied consideration. The Governor and his followers scored another "victory" over the representatives of the people.

What is the motive for the policy of coercion? Honest primaries are essential to good government. It behooves the people of California, at this time particularly, to observe closely the actions of those whom they have chosen to represent them and to determine whether or not those actions are in accord with their will, expressed directly at the polls.

WAR STOPS SUITS AGAINST SHIP TRUST.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The government's anti-trust suit begun in the New York Federal courts before the war against European steamship lines engaged in carrying steerage passengers was dismissed today by the Supreme Court on the ground that the alleged general pool agreement had become "void of actualities" by the war.

Chief Justice White directed that the decision of the lower court should be vacated without prejudice to the government's bringing another suit should it so desire.

The case came up on appeal both by the government and the steamship lines from the decision of the lower court, holding that the pooling agreement was a reasonable restraint of trade, but that the sending out of "fighting" ships was a violation of the law.

The defendants were twelve British, German, Dutch and Russian steamship lines and their principal officers or agents in the United States. The government complained that the lines apportioned the steerage business north of Cadiz, Spain, in definite percentages, fixed rates and had driven out competitors.

DESCRIBES DEATH OF MRS. PRICE.

Witness Tells How Husband Hurled Wife Over Cliff.

Says Defendant Also Struck Her with a Rock.

Trial of Mrs. Mohr for Murder Begins at Providence.

MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.) Jan. 10.—Charles D. Etchison, the State's star witness in the murder trial of Frederick D. Price, a local business man, repeated on the witness stand today the story he told when arrested on a joint indictment with Price, in which he said the latter murdered his third wife so that he could obtain her money, and paid Etchison for his silence.

Etchison testified that he and Price took Mary Fridley Price, member of a wealthy family, to the East River automobile road on the night of November 28, 1914. He told how Price stopped the car and as his wife stepped to the running board "gave her a horrible push," and sent her crashing over the cliff. He threw her dog after her.

"Then came faint cries from below," he said, "and Price, beckoning me to follow, hurried to the foot of the cliff. He grasped his wife by the hair and dragged her several feet to make it appear the fall had been greater.

"Mrs. Price was still living. Price looked about him for a moment and gathering up a large rock, knelt down beside her. I turned my back and closed my eyes. As the thud of the rock against her head sounded in the stillness, the dog, unhurt by the fall, whined and ran toward the cliff. In a few minutes the flickering spark of life had left the woman.

"We stopped passing automobilists and gave out the story that Mrs. Price fell to her death while chasing the dog."

The witness said he was haunted continually by the scene on the night of the alleged crime and decided to tell his story.

MRS. MOHR ON TRIAL.

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Jan. 10.—The jury in the trial of Mrs. Elizabeth F. Mohr and two negroes, Cecil N. Brown and Henry H. Spellman, charged with the murder of the woman's husband, C. Franklin Mohr, a well-known physician of this city and Newport, was completed today.

The two negroes are alleged to have confessed that they had shot the doctor and seriously wounded his secretary, Miss Emily C. Burger, in a stalled automobile on August 31, 1915, at the instigation of Mrs. Mohr. The two men later repudiated their purported statements.

Efforts to have Mrs. Mohr, who is charged with being an accessory before the fact, tried separately, failed. She has been at liberty on bail.

During the long examination of the twenty-seven veniremen who were called, she sat for the most part motionless.

Tomorrow the jury will go to Barrington on the road to Newport, where the shooting occurred, when Dr. Mohr's machine was halted by George W. Healis, the negro chauffeur, because of engine trouble. Healis was accused of stalling the machine by a prearranged plan.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HINT

It is not necessary to shampoo quite so frequently if your hair is properly cleansed each time by use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers may be prepared very cheaply by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox, obtained from your druggist, in a cup of hot water. This rubbed into the scalp creates a thick lather, soothing and cooling in its action, as well as very beneficial to scalp and hair. After rinsing, the scalp is fresh and clean, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.

WOMEN WILL PROTEST PREPARATIONS FOR WAR.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—A plan for holding mass meetings of women all over the country on Washington's Birthday to protest against "unnecessary war preparations" by the United States, was launched here tonight, at the closing session of the annual convention of the Woman's Peace Party. The task of arranging for the meetings was entrusted to a central committee, which will have the assistance of the 155 sectional branches of the party.

Officers of the party were re-elected as follows:

President, Miss Jane Addams, Chicago; secretary, Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead, Boston; treasurer, Miss S. P. Breckinridge, Chicago; Mrs. William Kent, of Kentfield, Cal., and Mrs. Frederick Taussig, of St. Louis, were added to the lists of vice-presidents.

MONTENEGRINS RETREAT BEFORE THE AUSTRIANS.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—The Montenegrin Consulate today made public the following official statement:

"Our troops took the offensive on the 7th on the eastern front near Lepenac. The Austrian troops resisted desperately and some positions were taken and retaken several times. We finally remained masters of the field of operations. Our losses were appreciable and those of the enemy considerable.

"Desperate combats took place in the direction of Rozaj and Berane. The enemy, thanks to the superiority of his forces, succeeded in occupying Touriak. Our forces retired upon a position to the left of Lesnitza.

"The Austrians attacked violently in the direction of Ipek-Rugovo, but everywhere were repulsed.

"Our front at Lovcen (near the Adriatic) has been furiously bombarded by all the forts and mobile batteries at Cattaro, as well as by cruisers, but no infantry attack has been attempted."

Submarine.

"DON'T BULLY ENGLAND," IS STANDARD'S WARNING.

LONDON, Jan. 10, 2:02 p.m.—The Evening Standard commenting editorially on the reported settlement of the submarine controversy between Germany and the United States, says:

"It is said that now that America and Germany are bosom friends again England is to be bullied once more for interfering with America's war profits. If the British government reflects the British people Washington will hear some stimulating truths from this side of the Atlantic."

STOP! CALOMEL IS QUICKSILVER

It's mercury! Attacks the bones, salivates and makes you sick.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and cannot salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead, and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

EVERYONE LIKES THIS COLD CURE

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends a cold or grippe in a few hours.

Your cold will break and all grippe misery end after taking a dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until three doses are taken.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

An extra charge of 25 per cent. is made for the use of capital letters.

Minimum space for classified advertisements ordered for more than one insertion, 14 words.

White space and display are charged for on the basis of seven words to a line.

Ads are sold and are counted strictly by the word. For paragraphed or lined-up matter set in caps, estimate five (5) average words to a line. Not set in caps, estimate five (5) average words to the line. Name and right address are counted the line following. In this kind of advertising the actual number of words let sold is counted, and eight (8) words added for each classified line.

The Times reserves the right to classify all advertisements under appropriate headings.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Errors not the fault of the advertiser, which clearly lessen the value of an advertisement, will be rectified only by republication, without extra charge, on presentation of receipt within five days after insertion. No allowance will be made where the error does not materially affect the value of the advertisement.

No adjustment will be made for advertising items not printed to an error or errors which may occur in other items in the same advertisement.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times for payment for "liners," as no mistake can be rectified without them.

The Times will not accept phone or verbal orders to discontinue or "change "till forbid" advertisements.

Telephoned orders to discontinue advertising in The Times are numbered in the order of their receipt, and in each instance the number of the order is given to the advertiser, who should make a record thereof. In case of discrepancy no claims for advertising will be related unless the "stop order" number is presented to The Times by the advertiser.

Sunday real estate advertisements to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 9 o'clock Saturday night. Other classified "liners," or "To Lets," etc., received over counter or by telephone until 11 p.m. Saturday. Ads received after 9 p.m. Saturday, however, will not be responsible for any ads contained by mail from out of town, previous ads to be paid by the said B. E. Butcher.

Hear Account of Work in Famous Clinics by Noted Surgeons.

A banquet and the regular monthly meeting of the Los Angeles County Osteopathic Society was held last night in the Hollenbeck Hotel, presided over by Dr. E. S. Merrill. About 100 members of the society attended. Among the speakers were Dr. W. Curtis Brigham, who has recently returned from Boston, where he attended the Congress of the North American Surgeons and, returning, visited the famous Murphy clinics in Chicago and the Mayo clinics in Rochester, Minn., about which he spoke. Another speaker was Mrs. Elizabeth McMannus, president of the Parent-Teachers Clinic, who told of the work of that body, and Dr. H. W. Forbes, who spoke technically on the "sagro-ilic joint"—which surgeons know all about.

BURBANK C. OF C. ELECTS.

Officers to serve for the year were elected last night by the Burbank Chamber of Commerce as follows: J. P. Bate, president; W. A. Thompson, vice-president; Walter Lawrence, secretary; directors, L. B. Boan, R. O. Church, William Coryell, W. J. Hornby and F. A. Halberg.

LOST, FOUND, STRAYED—
And Stolen.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

That Ebell members might have the opportunity of becoming better acquainted with their second vice-president, Mrs. Walter Harrison Fisher, as an executive, Mrs. Chester C. Ashley, upon whom the presidential mantle and duties fall in the absence of President Mrs. W. S. Bartlett, gave to Mrs. Fisher the courtesy of presiding at yesterday's session of the Ebell Club.

In taking the gavel the acting official referred lovingly to Mrs. Bartlett and her regretted illness, but coupled with it the glad news of the latter's constant improvement.

In the absence of the general curator, Mrs. Charles S. Ward, Miss Laura Paxton, as assisting curator, gave notice of the week's departmental meeting, and in both cases the ladies showed themselves qualified to take charge of their work. In the sections, the Shakespeare meets this morning at 10 o'clock; tomorrow morning, at the same hour the music section will have the January interpretative lecture of the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra; on Thursday, two departments meet, the art and travel in the morning and the California history and landmarks at 2 p.m., the latter continuing the thought of the morning, on the first American, the Indian. The French class is calendared for Friday at 10 a.m.

For the afternoon's literary feature, Prof. B. R. Baumgardt gave a masterful address on "The Romance of Human Civilization," which was illustrated with stereopticon slides. Civilization so symbolized to a water lily with petals white as the thoughts of an angel and its golden center steeped in the heart of the sun, yet in all its beauty and purity the root is sustained from the mud and slime below.

Civilization of the human, whether as an individual evolved from the barbarian of the woods into a citizen, or as a race, is a fascinating study, as depicted by Prof. Baumgardt. Periods of rapid development are followed by periods of rest—just a pendulum swinging up and down.

Irving Bacheller, the noted author and lecturer, next week will give his "Cheerful Yankee" talk before the Ebell.

Manual Arts Parent-Teacher.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, Mrs. Foster, one of the city mothers, will be speaker at the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Manual Arts High School, Mrs. Ralph R. Laughlin, presiding. Refreshments will be served by the Social Committee. Every one interested is invited to attend.

To Form New Chapters.

Permission has been given by the State Society for the formation of other chapters of the United States Daughters of 1812 throughout different sections of California, which undoubtedly means a strong organization.

Mrs. G. C. Dennis of Westgate entertained the California chapter with a luncheon last Wednesday afternoon, which was followed by a business meeting over which Mrs. H. T. Wright, the president, presided.

Mrs. E. R. Odell is to be hostess at the January meeting, with "Reminiscences" the subject.

Friday Morning Club.

Djan G. Mukerji, the Persian graduate of Stanford, was the speaker at the Friday Morning Club's last session, when his subject was the Persian poets. He is an interesting speaker, easy of manner, and certainly gave his listeners much enlightenment and pleasure.

He began by showing to what extent the Greek, Hindu and Roman civilizations had left their impression on Persian literature, of which there is a far greater wealth than is generally known. Many of us have never realized much beyond Omar Khayyam, a poet whom the speaker does not consider representative, in that he repudiates the immortality of the soul, not having reached that zenith of knowledge which must inevitably lead to a universal love and a conception of faith in destiny.

Mukerji's inference that the greatest knowledge leads to love and the greatest love leads to knowledge, as exemplified in the wisdom of Buddah, which evolved into the enveloping love that makes it a sin to harm the smallest insect, and the great love of Christ, which inevitably evolves into supreme wisdom, struck an illuminating and sympathetic vein of philosophy.

The fact that the Persian poets all sing of love, individual love of man and woman, and evolving gradually into the wider impersonal love for all humanity and life, was taken by the speaker as evidence of the spiritual superiority of Persian poetry. Indian literature seeks the absolute American literature action, but love in all its phases is the basis of all Persian poetry. The Persians have seven different words to express the intoxication of love-madness—and we have but the one word, lunacy.

Mukerji has a gentle touch of humor and irony that evoked many a responsive laugh, as when he declared that in the Persian version of the story of Potiphar's wife, Joseph, as Premier of Egypt, was a Sir Galahad far above mere personal sex love, "which doubtless made him so good an administrator"—and the subtle little prick for President Wilson was not lost upon his audience.

And again, when he showed that a Persian poet, Sadi, wrote the original mother-in-law joke in the twelfth century, proving that "he looked far into the future."

He reminded his audience that Persia had once been a great power, and that through the centuries her poets had identified purity with love, notwithstanding the occidental idea of a polygamous Persia. The quest of the soulmate is an undying theme with them.

Djan G. Mukerji is to give a series of three lectures at the Capt. Banning home, Twenty-first and Hoover streets, beginning at 10:30 a.m. this morning—a continuation of a former series.

For the Soldiers.

Among the local organizations engaged in making and collecting hospital supplies, surgical dressings, clothing and comforts for the wounded among the allies in Europe, there has been no better work done than by the Imperial Order of Daughters of the British Empire. From the beginning of hostilities this society enrolled itself among the active workers, and made a monthly grant from its funds to provide materials, periodical meetings for carrying on the work being held in the homes of different members. Up to August 30 last they had shipped sixty-five cases containg close on 8000 garments for Belgian relief, five other cases being shipped to the British Red Cross in London.

Since the formation of the Allies' Aid Association, the Daughters of the Empire have made their headquarters at the offices of this new organization in the Hibernian Building. Here sewing work is in constant progress under their supervision, and every week one or more cases are being forwarded, packed with such articles as knitted mufflers, wristlets, socks, bandages in various styles, hospital shirts, pajamas and pneumonia jackets and ambulance pillows. For the Christmas shipment thirty kit packs were shipped containing comforts for convalescent soldiers.

Co-operating with the work being carried on at the Allies' Aid Association offices are other societies, namely, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Caledonian Club, the Overseas Club, the Canadian Ladies' Social Club and the Daughters of Scotia, while outside the city the Edith Cavell chapter of the Daughters of the British Empire, at Ontario, is also giving valuable assistance. The Ladies' Executive Committee contains representatives of all the societies above named, and also includes a number of American ladies who have been foremost in relief work in its many phases since the outbreak of the war. The names are as follows: Chairman, Mrs. Horatio Walker, superintendent of the Hospital of the Good Samaritan; treasurer, Miss Anne W. Patton; secretary, Mrs. J. Norman Kerr; Mrs. A. M. Chaffey, Mrs. Daniel Clarke, Mrs. Alexander Galloway, Mrs. C. C. Gardiner, Mrs. Christopher Gordon, Mrs. F. P. Hanscom, Mrs. Arthur S. Heineman, Mrs. May Jackson, Mrs. R. H. Lacy, Mrs. William Laidlaw, Mrs. A. MacArthur, Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, Mrs. John Stewart, Miss Thomas and Mrs. LeMoyne Wills.

Public Affairs.

The public affairs section of the Friday Morning Club met last Tuesday, when the discussion on the public library plans proved the main topic. The idea that Los Angeles must learn to think in large figures on such public questions was heartily indorsed—instead of tinkering with petty economies the city would be well advised to see how grandly it can spend, and San Francisco's lavish library appropriations were cited as a desirable example of public spirit on so vital a question.

Today there will be a music conference, and Vernon Spencer will address the meeting on "The National Spirit in Music."

Next Friday's session will enjoy a Russian programme, when "A Glimpse of Russia" and "Anne Dare's Russian Peasants" are to be a dramatic feature of the morning. Mme. Dare will produce a company of Russian peasants gathered in this city.

Whittier.

Rev. Robert Freeman of Pasadena was the speaker before the Whittier Woman's Club at the initial meeting of the new year. For literary merit, Dr. Freeman's address has seldom been excelled in Whittier. Taking as his subject, "The Woman in the Background," Dr. Freeman, himself a Scotchman, spoke of the works of the three eminent Scotch writers, Robert Louis Stevenson, Ian McLaren and James Barrie, and of the womanly influence back of their lives and showing in and through their well-known literary works.

A delightful musical programme preceded Dr. Freeman's address, soprano solo work by Miss Leiah Coffin, a local young lady whose beautiful voice has already made her a musical favorite, being a charming feature. Miss Coffin was accompanied on the piano by Prof. Burritt Marlowe of Whittier College and Miss Hazel Wallace on the violin.

At the Woman's City Club.

"I am not a self-appointed critic of public morals; I do not take a dismal view, nor do I consider Los Angeles more wicked than any other city," declared Rev. Charles E. Seiecman yesterday, when speaking on moral conditions in Los Angeles before members and guests of the Woman's City Club. "On the contrary, Los Angeles is one of the best regulated of the larger cities in the United States, with citizenship of an unusually high grade. Whether this condition can be maintained after the war I do not know. But Los Angeles spends too much time shaking hands with herself—patting herself on the back. You can't tie a bouquet on a garbage wagon and make it smell good, and if I speak mostly of things wrong, it is not that I do not appreciate things that are right."

Thus did he introduce his talk which had for its keynote praise for the Moral Efficiency Commission of the city. Juvenile crime, the social club, treatment of adult criminals and drunks and many other phases of the social evil came in for consideration.

Many questions were asked the speaker, the meeting resolving itself into an open forum.

Chief Claire E. Snively will tell of the crying need of the police department at the next meeting of the club.

Art Lectures.

"The Evolution of Art" is the first of a series of twenty famous art lectures to be given by Georgea Wrig'it Kelsey, illustrated with lantern slides, before the Westlake Fine Arts and Social Clubs, No. 2018 Orange street every Tuesday at 3 o'clock.

Many features of sociability for the members are being planned. All lovers of art in its many phases are afforded opportunity of expression, especially those attracted to athletics, swimming, horsemanship, hikes, botany and landscape observation; the fine arts of dancing, painting, the home beautiful, as well as the arts of all nations.

Exhibits of arts and crafts produced by members will form an important feature.

Following the art lecture every Tuesday afternoon, the dansant will be enjoyed at the club headquarters.

In Sociability.

Mrs. Everett Shepardson opened her beautiful new home at No. 937 North Heliotrope drive to members of the Woman's Alliance of the First Unitarian Church, last Thursday, for an all-day meeting, each guest taking one article of food for the luncheon. In the afternoon a short business session was held, after which Mrs. F. E. Smith gave a review of Joseph Conrad's "Victory."

In Eschscholtzia Circles.

The boys of the George Junior Republic furnished the programme at Eschscholtzia Chapter, D.A.R., on Tuesday afternoon last.

At the closed session preceding, the regent, Mrs. James Hyde Forbes, and Mrs. Henry Clay Dillon were elected delegates and Mrs. Mary Banning and Mrs. William Howe Kennedy alternates, to the coming State conference to be held at Hotel Green, Pasadena, on February 10 and 11.

Mrs. L. A. Underhill of old South Church Chapter, Boston, gave an interesting account of the good work being done by that body in giving scholarships, restoring old buildings and marking historic sites, a work in which Eschscholtzia chapter is especially interested, and to raise more funds for such purposes will give a colonial ball at Hotel Alexandria on the evening of February 12. Dinner will be served by the hotel for the guests from 7 o'clock, at $1 a plate, and ball tickets will be on sale at the George J. Birkel Music Company, at $1 each. Arend's orchestra will furnish music for dancing.

Mrs. L. L. McIntyre will conduct tonight's class on health culture at Berean Hall, Temple Auditorium.

Averill Study Club.

The roll call of the Averill Study Club was answered with New Year quotations at their meeting at Cupnock Hall January 4th. Afterwards a current events discussion, led by Mrs. S. T. Exley, held the programme.

Mrs. George Swindell read an interesting paper on Hoover's relief work in Belgium and Northern France. Mrs. Robert Watson read another on the "Evolution of Song."

"The Earth Beautiful," is the title of the next programme which will be held under the direction of Mrs. T. H. Alderman.

Shakespeare.

The Mazie Fullman Garrett Shakespeare class held an interesting open meeting last Tuesday at the home of Miss Ethel Shrader in Hollywood. Despite the inclement weather a large number of ladies were present and were entertained with a literary and musical programme. The class has doubled its membership so far this season.

"A Winter's Tale" will be studied, commencing at the next meeting, today at 2:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Garrett, No. 1732A Garfield place, Hollywood. All women interested are cordially invited to attend.

R.M.A.

The women's auxiliary of the R.M.A. held their regular monthly meeting at The Times assembly-rooms on Friday afternoon. Mrs. George D. Smith of the King's Daughters Day Nursery addressed the meeting and numerous reports of committees were read.

The session concluded with a musical programme, Mrs. G. W. Glover officiating at the piano, and Miss Laura Hampton singing three popular songs.

The Ivy Club.

The Ivy Club held its monthly business meeting on Tuesday and had a large attendance. The club will give a matinee card party at the Goldberg-Bosley Rooms on Tuesday the 11th at 2 p.m. Mrs. Guy Stoddard has been appointed hostess of the occasion, assisted by Mrs. J. C. Thurman, Mrs. Dan Fox, Mrs. Lillian Poore and Mrs. Adele Linderman.

This is a club which organizes paying social events for the benefit of charity.

D.A.R.

The eighth annual State conference of the California Daughters of the American Revolution will be held at the Hotel Green, Pasadena, on February 10th. Mrs. Maynard Force Thayer, State Regent, will preside. At 3 p.m. on that date the northern officers and delegates are to be entertained to tea and on the 9th Mrs. Thayer will be at home to all visiting officers.

The Los Angeles chapter of the D.A.R. were the guests of Miss Augusta Lamb on Wednesday afternoon at 1929 Ocean View, Mrs. McKent, regent, presiding. A musical programme was enjoyed in which Miss Whitmarsh, Mrs. Sundernni and Miss Willy took part.

The West Vernon-avenue Parent-Teachers Association will meet tonight at 7:45 o'clock, when Loren Handley of the Board of Public Works will deliver an address. Mrs. Warren, supervisor of music in the public schools, will arrange a musical programme and Miss Elva McDowell will give some readings.

The association is very satisfied with its work, especially of the Emergency Committee at Christmas time, when a bountiful supply of garments and gifts were distributed to the needy.

The Hobart boulevard P.T.A. will meet on Thursday next, the 13th inst. at 2:30 p.m. Dr. Frederick Saunders of Hollywood High School will address them on the advantages of the intermediate school. Miss Rose Hardenburg, principal of Berenda intermediate, will talk of the work of her school.

The Norwood P.T.A. will also hold their next meeting on the 13th, for which date a special programme has been arranged.

The Normandie P.T.A. has an elaborate musical programme for next Thursday afternoon, when the business session will be followed by a performance of the school orchestra; the "Kewpie Song," by Florence Errhott; a reading by Mrs. Grace Nicholson; a song, "Peace Time in America," by Helene Heller; a current events discussion in which the mothers are particularly invited to take part, and an address on peace by Mrs. Harriet McManus. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the programme.

County Nurses.

The regular meeting of the Los Angeles County Nurses Association was held on Tuesday last in the Times Building, room A, when an address was given by Carl H. Parker, M.D., of Pasadena on "The Value of the X-ray in Diagnostic Work." Illustrated by X-ray plates, the lecture proved highly interesting and instructive.

Cosmos Club.

The Shakespeare section of the Cosmos Club will present "Love's Labors Lost," on Reciprocity Day in March. At present the class is studying "The Tempest." The members of this section are very enthusiastic in their praise of the able director, Mrs. Mazie Fullman Garrett. Meetings are held every second and fourth Fridays.

A dancing party has been announced for Friday, February 11, under the auspices of the building association.

The Cosmos Club board held its regular meeting in the Hotel Alexandria, last Wednesday. The new bulletins are out and the programmes contain popular and well-known lecturers. Montaville Flowers, a powerful, interesting, eloquent speaker, will lecture next Wednesday afternoon. Miss Florence Howard will give a musical number of her own composition, assisted by Gladys Shields, violinist, and Edith Emmet as Cupid in the song, "Cupid's Love Song," Soloist. Miss Marcher.

At a later date the barefoot dancer, Miss Louise Hamilton, will appear as an entertainer.

The music section will meet Thursday afternoon at the Aragon Apartments. A Hayden programme has been arranged. The Cosmos Club Chorus will meet immediately after the programme for a rehearsal.

Matinee Musicale.

The Matinee Musicale Club enjoyed a surprise programme at its last meeting, presided over by Mrs. James Henry Ballagh.

Mrs. Nellie Strong Stevenson talked on the musical federation and about the young musicians and their future. Commending the encouragement the club was giving them, Lynde lectured on the different operas, and Miss Fraley, as a delegate, spoke of the Harmonia Club.

Mrs. Edith Lilian Clarke told of the plan to raise $70,000 so that the young pupils may have the opportunity of learning good music and to hear two or three symphony concerts.

Mrs. Newton Graves advocated club luncheons for social and business talks in order to get better acquainted.

The surprise programme was in charge of Mrs. Rowena Blincoe and Mrs. Pearl Conklin. Mrs. Frank Bryson sang two of Roy Lamount Smith's songs. Mrs. George Consigny MacLellan played all accompaniments. Mrs. Conklin in the costume of an old southern negro sang her own composition, "Mammy's Lullaby." Mrs. Rowena Blincoe gave some character sketches.

Crisis.

ASQUITH HOPES TO KEEP LABOR MEN IN CABINET.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—There is some hope in ministerial circles that the opposition of the trades unions to the government's compulsion bill may so far be modified as to permit the labor representatives, Arthur Henderson, president of the Board of Education, and William Brace and George H. Roberts, respectively Parliamentary Undersecretary for Home Affairs and Lord Commissioner of the Treasury, to remain in the official fold.

The matter was considered at a Cabinet meeting today, when Mr. Henderson explained the attitude of himself and his two colleagues, who tendered their resignations as a result of the decision of the labor congress last Thursday in voting its opposition to the compulsion bill. The Cabinet decided that Premier Asquith should invite the members of the Parliamentary Labor party and the National Labor party's Executive Committee to meet him and discuss "certain aspects of the bill."

Senatorial View.

SAYS BRITAIN WILL YIELD TO THE UNITED STATES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 10.—Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, addressing a patriotic mass meeting tonight, ventured as his personal opinion that within sixty days England will yield to the contentions of the United States based upon America's rights as a neutral power in relation to the seizure of American vessels.

Senator Reed added that failure on the part of Great Britain to conform with the principles of international law would doubtless result in an embargo being placed on all shipments to her ports from America.

Senator Reed made it clear that he was distinctly voicing his own opinion.

Bessarabia.

NEW RUSSIAN FORCES MOVE AGAINST TEUTONS.

BERLIN, Jan. 10 (via London, Jan. 11, 2:15 a.m.)—According to every indication, the lull in the Russian attack on the Bessarabian front during the last twenty-four hours is only temporary. Despite the enormous losses, which are estimated as far exceeding 50,000 dead or wounded, new forces are known to be moving with the purpose of reinforcing the attacking columns and the resumption of the bitter assaults of the last few days is hourly expected.

Many Circassian groups are reported as being sent to the front. Captured Russian officers declare that the Russian Emperor visited Trembowla, Galicia, on the eve of the offensive with the object of giving heart to his troops, and delivered an order to break the Austrian line at all costs. The officers were assured that there were sufficient troops to accomplish this.

The main attack thus far has been directed against a hill named Ft. Baltin, in honor of Gen. Pflanzer-Baltin, which the Emperor personally ordered taken. As a result literally thousands of Russian dead lie before the Austrian trenches or hang suspended on the wire entanglements. Entire regiments were wiped out, while the Austrian losses are declared to have been comparatively small.

Not only was the artillery ammunition of the Russians almost exclusively of Japanese manufacture, but the rifles of the Russian captives also were Japanese.

REOPENS TERMINAL RATES CONTEST.

NORTHERN CASE OF INTEREST TO LOCAL SHIPPERS.

Expect Final Decision in Federal Court on Injunction on Interstate Commerce Commission's Ruling on Freight Points will Include All Interior Cities.

News was received at the harbor yesterday that the fight for an injunction against the Interstate Commerce Commission to prevent the operation of the ruling eliminating Stockton, Sacramento, San Jose and Santa Clara from terminal rate privileges, will be reopened in the Federal District Court in San Francisco on January 31.

The suit was started by the valley cities protesting against the commission's order limiting terminal rates to San Francisco, Oakland, San Pedro, Wilmington and San Diego. The decision of the commission making actual seaports the only terminal points caused a revolution in California freight rates. It provided that rates on freight originating east of the Missouri River to California points must be based on the rate to the seaports plus 75 per cent. of the local haul back.

Fortunately Los Angeles jobbers have been able to escape the payment of the back haul on a large part of their shipment through the use of trucks over the Harbor boulevard. Merchants are consigning a large part of their freight shipped by rail to the harbor and hauling it from there by truck.

While the decision in the case of the northern cities did not include Los Angeles, it is expected that the same ruling will apply to all interior points when the case is finally determined. At the request of the litigants on both sides, Judge Dooling set aside the injunction issued by the three Federal judges sitting en banc and the last day of the month was set for reopening the argument.

Judge Morrow and Judge Dooling held that the injunction should be issued, Judge Bledsoe dissenting on the ground that the injunction should include Los Angeles and all other interior terminal points in California.

John Topham and Robert Brain of the Public Works Committee of the City Council were at the harbor yesterday, accompanied by City Engineer Homer Hamlin, investigating the proposed storm drain proceedings for Pacific avenue.

At the request of one of the largest property owners the City Council instructed the City Engineer to bring in a new ordinance of intention for the paving of Pacific avenue, omitting the storm drain.

At the request of the other property owners who desire the storm drain the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce asked the committee to call a public hearing for next Thursday afternoon. It is probable the two proceedings will be separated so that the paving can be done whether or not the storm drain is built.

The funeral of Charles A. Pearson, a deputy County Assessor, and a well-known resident of San Pedro, will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Goodrich undertaking parlors. Mr. Pearson was City Assessor of San Pedro before consolidation with Los Angeles and well known in the harbor district. He was 54 years of age. He leaves a widow and two children. The funeral will be in charge of the Seventh Church of Christ, Scientist, and the interment in charge of San Pedro Lodge No. 986, B.P.O. Elks. Pneumonia caused his death, although he had been in poor health for several years.

William Woodley, a well-known boat builder, died yesterday at the Clara Barton Hospital of cancer of the stomach. Until recently he was a member of the firm of Fulton & Woodley, operating a plant on Mormon Island. Funeral arrangements have not been made. His widow and two sons and two daughters live at San Pedro.

ROBBER SUSPECTS TAKEN.

Two Seized Just After Hold-up—Third Distances the Police.

Frank Rowan, who lives at Second and Spring streets, was held up, beaten and robbed of his watch early this morning by three bandits at Second and Hill streets, according to his report to the police.

Patrolmen Stevens and Knight, who heard Mr. Rowan's cries for help, captured two men who gave their names as Roy Page, No. 512½ South Main street, and J. W. Darbey, Ninth and Spring streets, who were identified in the Receiving Hospital by Mr. Rowan, who alleges they are two of the trio that held him up.

One bandit fled with the watch and left his overcoat on the sidewalk in his hurry to escape the policemen, who chased him several blocks.

Mystery.

SATURN IS BLUSHING.

Scientists Unable to Explain Just Why Kernel of the Planet is Developing More Speed and Also Turning Pink.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) Jan. 10.—No plausible explanation has yet suggested itself, according to an announcement today by the Lowell Observatory, for the darkening of Saturn's ball, which recent observations disclosed had assumed a pinkish brown tint, strikingly darker than the rings of the planet.

Another recent discovery of great interest in connection with the same planet has come as the result of Director Lowell's investigation on the theoretic and observed positions of the recently discovered, as well as the old divisions in the ring system.

All of these divisions are caused by the perturbing action of Mimas on the particles of the rings. In consequence of their not quite agreeing with the theoretic positions, an investigation was entered into, which has succeeded in throwing new light on the internal condition and distribution of matter composing Saturn's ball.

The observed positions of these divisions can seemingly only be reconciled by a greater internal oblateness than hitherto had been supposed, which again demonstrates a greater speed in the kernel than the husk.

Not the least interesting fact about this result is that measures on the rings should lead to a discovery about Saturn's internal constitution.

THE AMERICAN FLAG A BRITISH PROTECTION.

BOSTON, Jan. 10.—The British steamer City of Lincoln went through the Mediterranean Sea flying the American flag as a protection against submarines, members of the crew said, when the steamer arrived today with a valuable cargo from oriental ports. According to their statements, the ship's name also was altered to read "Lincoln." Officers of the vessel refused to discuss the matter.

Huntington, acting pastor of the Claremont Congregational Church, and Rev. Albert P. Fitch, president of Andover Theological Seminary, were the principal speakers.

Talk on Single Tax.

"Would the adoption of the single tax end the conflict between capital and labor, making combinations of the one and unions of the other unnecessary?" will be the subject for discussion at the weekly dinner of the Georgean Philosophic Society, held at the Nadroj Cafeteria, No. 325 West Seventh street, Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Several prominent single taxers have been invited to lead the discussion. The public is invited.

They Needn't Come Back.

"They got everything there was, so they needn't come back," said Mrs. J. E. Hartell, No. 1217 Ingraham street, yesterday, regarding the report that the burglars that who entered her residence Sunday night overlooked $250 in cash and several thousand dollars' worth of jewelry. The loot, according to Mrs. Hartell, included a platinum and gold watchfob, worth $250, and a diamond and other stick-pins, a pair of gold cuff-links, a revolver and $37 in cash.

Play Cards for Charity.

A tidy sum for immediate relief work among the poor was netted yesterday at a whist party given by members of the Jewish Sisterhood of Los Angeles. More than 100 ladies competed for the handsome prizes donated by local merchants. The affair took place at Solomon's Grand-avenue dancing pavilion and the lights, hall, tables, chairs and refreshments were donated by Fred H. Solomon. Mrs. L. N. Meyer, secretary of the sisterhood, was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Alfred Lane, vice-president of the organization. The sisterhood plans to give similar affairs at stated periods.

Accepts Treasurership.

Stoddard Jess, vice-president of the First National Bank, has accepted the treasurership of the California Campaign Committee for the endowment of the Actors' Fund of America. Mr. Jess was asked to take this position a week ago, and yesterday gave his consent to Jesse L. Lasky, chairman of the California Campaign Committee. Never before have the managers of the Actors' Fund found it necessary to appeal for outside help, but the peculiar conditions of the present have made this necessary, and Southern California, where the moving-picture business has its pre-eminent stand, is making a generous response.

Banquet for Celts.

The annual banquet of the Celtic Club of Los Angeles will be held tonight at the Sierra Madre Club. Dr. James Main Dixon of the University of Southern California, who has been president during the past year, will retire in favor of Dr. Walter Lindley, who is to be chief executive during 1916. More than 100 covers will be laid for members of the society and their friends. It will be a ladies' night, with special entertainment features. Audrey Creighton, the violinist, is to play, and Miss Alice Niece, will sing. There will also be chorus singing and the songs of the old country. Among the speakers will be Dr. Ezra Healy, Dr. Hector Alliott, Dr. W. T. McArthur, Edmund Mitchell, Dr. Lindley and Dr. Dixon.

Peel Off the Old Skin; Bring Out the New

You know that beneath that muddy, over-red or blotchy complexion you have a skin that's clean, soft and white. If you could only have this more beautiful skin exposed to view instead of the horrid old skin you now behold in your mirror! You can—and by a very simple, painless, harmless process which you can use yourself. Get an ounce of common mercolized Wax at your druggist's and this evening spread a thin coating of it over your face. Tomorrow morning wash it off with warm water. Small powder-like particles of the lifeless top skin will come off with the wax. Repeat this daily until all the worn-out scarf skin has been absorbed. Then you'll have a lovelier, healthier looking complexion than you now think possible. Blackheads, pimples, spots, freckles, chaps or other surface disfigurements are of course removed with the skin itself.

If your skin be wrinkled or flabby, bathe the face daily for awhile in a lotion made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. This is just splendid.

BIG UTILITIES CHANGE HANDS.

Corporation Takes Over Three Imperial Companies.

Interests Worth Million and a Half Involved.

Immediate Changes Due in Conduct of Businesses.

A big deal whereby the Nevada-California Electric Company becomes owner of extensive public utilities in the Imperial Valley, was completed at a meeting held at Riverside yesterday morning. It was attended by C. F. Holt of Redlands, majority stockholder of the valley corporations, Max A. Chappell, president of the Nevada-California Electric Company, and A. B. West, the vice-president. The property valued at $1,500,000 changed hands.

The conclusion of the deal had been pending since the announcement of two weeks ago by Mr. Holt that the Nevada-California Company had a matter under consideration. The deal includes the properties of the Imperial Power Company, the Coachella Valley Ice and Electric Company and the Southern Interurban Railway Company. The offices of all these companies are at Redlands.

"The deal includes only the public service corporations named," said Mr. Holt yesterday. "It does not include any of my personal property in the valley, such as business property in several of the towns and several large tracts of land, neither does it include the Imperial Valley Gas Company, as I have sold control of that.

"The Nevada-California Electric Company has purchased the property, and the Southern Sierras Power Company, as was stated. The Nevada-

DEATH CLOUDS BIRTH PUZZLE.

Woman Seeking to Learn Who Parents Were; Foster Father Gone.

Who are the parents of Mrs. Grace Dormer, 26 years old, wife of a jewelry manufacturer at No. 888 Market street, San Francisco?

The mystery has become greater since the death last week of Philander Allen at his late residence, No. 132 East Thirty-sixth place, in this city.

Mrs. Dormer believes she was taken, when she was 3 years old, into Mr. Allen's home at Faulkton, S. D., and she lived with that family until she ran away at the age of 13.

With the assistance of officials in several large cities, she is conducting a country-wide search to clear the haze that enshrouds her identity.

The widow of Mr. Allen, who lives at No. 1810 Pacific avenue, and Clarence A. Allen, her son, at the Thirty-sixth-place address, refused last night to discuss the case.

BRIDEGROOM IS NAMED BANDIT.

Victim of Assault and Robbery Startles the Police.

Wife of Few Weeks Swears Out Warrant for Husband.

New Story, Stranger than Her First, of Tia Juana.

As a not less startling sequel to her thrilling story of a midnight bandit who beat and robbed her of a large sum in cash and jewels in her apartment at No. 1020 West Pico street last Friday night, Mrs. Hugh O. Robertson, accompanied by her 8-year-old daughter, appeared before Deputy District Attorney Hogan yesterday morning and secured a complaint against her husband, charging grand larceny. According to the new account of the distracted matron, the bandit was none other than her husband of three weeks, and the alleged bodily attack and theme came as a climax to a blank refusal on her part to advance more money to be wagered on the horses now racing in Tia Juana.

Mr. Robertson was located yesterday morning in San Diego by Detective Blue. The latter says that the husband learned of the action taken by Mrs. Robertson and went way, perhaps across the line into Mexico.

BATTLES "BANDIT."

Early Saturday morning Mrs. Robertson appeared at police headquarters and reported she had had a terrible battle with a bandit. According to the police report, the man entered the Robertson apartment some time between 10 o'clock Friday night and 3 o'clock Saturday morning, and finding the widow awake, had proceeded to knock her on the head and strip diamond rings and other jewelry from her unconscious body. The amount reported taken was $1200. Yesterday this figure was raised to $2000.

All day Sunday Mrs. Robertson told the other guests of the Pico-street apartment-house, where she lived, that an unknown bandit had robbed her. She exhibited bruised hands and head, and graphically depicted her struggles. The little daughter, Marvel, said nothing.

Mrs. Robertson and her husband came to the apartment-house, December 19, and registered from Tia Juana, Mex. They said they had just been married. As a result, the other guests had no reason to suspect that it was otherwise than Mrs. Robertson explained Sunday.

But the District Attorney's office had no sooner opened yesterday morning than the matron and her little daughter appeared, asking for the arrest of the husband. According to the second story, told yesterday, the husband had appeared and demanded more money.

Mrs. Robertson told the deputy District Attorney that she had refused pointblank, because, she said, she had given her husband $5000 in cash a week before. This money, she alleged, had been spent at the Tia Juana race track.

ATTACKED, SHE SAYS.

When she had given this decision, Mr. Robertson attacked her, she stated, knocking her down and taking all the jewelry in sight. Then he left her unconscious.

Until three weeks ago, Mrs. Robertson was a wealthy widow, living in Los Angeles. She stated yesterday that she met Mr. Robertson in this city, but had married him in San Diego.

Seven newspaper vendors, selling San Diego and San Francisco newspapers containing form charts of the racing at the Tia Juana course, were arrested yesterday for violation of the city ordinance. They will be arraigned today.

Those arrested were George Rabalite, No. 219 West Third street; John Boggs, No. 217½ South Spring street; Robert Little and Ed Redfox, having stands near the postoffice; Glen Hardwick, Broadway and Mercantile place; J. A. Gordon, No. 535 S. Broadway, and Fred Wich, No. 346½ South Spring street.

The police alleged betting had been stimulated by the sales of the form charts in the newspapers, and the crusade to keep the betting guides off the streets will be continued with prosecutions throughout the racing season.

Adieu.

NO STRING ON PALMS.

Supervisors Decide Definitely to Sell Sad Plants That Have Languished on Streets—Will be Moved to Vacant Lot Beginning This Morning.

All strings to the purchase of a city palm that has been a habitue of downtown streets were removed yesterday by the Board of Supervisors. For a time it was decided that the palms could not be sold, but would practically be leased to anyone desiring them for decorative purposes. This plan failed.

The Board of Public Works also failed to have the palms removed from the highways and byways of the busy section of Los Angeles, after the Supervisors had advised such action on three different occasions. Consequently Supervisor Norton yesterday moved that the much maligned plants be sold for $8 each, cash. This price includes also the pots and anyone who has a purchase slip can take them right off the streets.

In addition to this, the board also decided the moving of the palms shall be started immediately and this action will go into effect this morning. The adornments will be carted to a vacant lot adjoining the Juvenile Hall and will be for sale at that place until finally disposed of.

Makes Grave Charges Against Husband.

Mrs. Hugh O. Robertson,

Who told the police a sensational story Saturday of having been choked into insensibility and robbed of gems worth a large sum. Yesterday she swore to a complaint charging her husband with the theft of the jewels.

Back from Imperial.

"TIMES" EXCURSIONISTS SOUND VALLEY'S PRAISES.

MEMBERS of The Times excursion to Imperial Valley—128 of them—returned to Los Angeles yesterday morning, after a constant round of sight-seeing in the wonderful reclaimed desert below sea level. Every member of the party was strong in praise of the generous hospitality extended them at every stopping place. At every town and city regret was expressed that the party could not spend more time there. The people were charming hosts and did their utmost to set forth the interesting phases of the great development going on in Imperial Valley.

The spirit of optimism was always dominant. Not a section was visited but the excursionists found its people ready to declare their utmost faith in the entire valley and in their own special domain in particular. Not a place was seen where the spirit of progress was lacking. The people of the valley extended their generous welcome from the very first stop until the time for the excursionists to leave.

At every point the citizens furnished automobiles, so that the greatest amount of ground could be covered in the time allotted, and through this means every visitor received a comprehensive view of the wonderful valley, and to some extent grasped the extent of its resources and its possibilities. The programmes furnished by the valley folk were of such nature that they were sure to make deep impressions, and they all bore on the point of spreading intelligent information about the most notable irrigation district in America.

The personnel of the members of this excursion party was a highly fortunate one. There were many solid business men who had long awaited the opportunity to glean first-hand information about the valley with which Los Angeles is carrying on a constantly expanding trade. There were men of capital, who desired to see for themselves the land in which fortunes have been made in the past decade. There were men and women who do big things and whose intelligent knowledge of the Imperial Valley is certain to be of advantage in spreading the fame of this favored land. To many of the party this was the first visit to one of California's richest domains. That they will "want to go back" is a foregone conclusion.

The spirit of the excursionists is represented by the following letter sent to The Times by one of the party:

"I, for one—and I think I am voicing the sentiment of the entire party—want to thank The Times for the splendid trip that we have just taken in the Imperial Valley. I also want to thank the people of the valley, who so generously gave us the use of their automobiles and their time.

"I guess that the only way we can reciprocate is to go down there bag and baggage. We really could not have had a more enjoyable time. Every little detail was so nicely arranged and everything went off according to schedule. Again expressing my sincere thanks, I am yours truly,

"NOBLEMAN" IN JAIL.

German Who is Charged with Passing Bad Checks, Then Flitting About the Country, Faints When Accosted by Officers; Begs Release.

Herr Theodore von Trauman, who the officers say has frequently represented himself as a member of the German nobility, was arrested yesterday morning at his home, No. 921 South Olive street, on a charge of passing worthless checks. When approached by Constable Hayes and Deputy Constable Delo, he fainted. On the way to the County Jail he begged piteously for release on the promise he would make good the bad paper.

The complaint against him was sworn to last June by J. M. Carter, a grocer of Moneta avenue. "Herr" Trauman left the city immediately after this and was traced to New Orleans, then to Florida, to New York, next to Canada and finally back to Los Angeles.

According to the arresting officers, the German is wanted for passing worthless checks in several other cities.

LOCKS VICTIM IN ROOM.

Child Spreads Alarm, Woman of Klondike Park Tells Police, Calling Help When Burglar, Masked and Armed, Enters and Demands Money.

Demanding all the money in the house, a masked and armed burglar early last night broke his way into the home of Mrs. Ella Smith, in Klondike Park, near Edendale, and after locking Mrs. Smith in a room seized $1 from a table and fled.

According to Mrs. Smith, the robber entered the house while she was sitting in a rear room with Delta Ennis, 8 years of age, a neighbor's child. The bandit with a revolver in his hand ordered Mrs. Smith to give him all the money in the house.

While Mrs. Smith was talking to the intruder the child ran from the house and spread the alarm. Neighbors called the police, but before they could arrive the man was gone.

During the investigation made by the police, Mrs. Smith told them the intruder must be an enemy of her grown son, Herman, who was away from home, as he declared before leaving he would return and "get Herman."

The man, according to Mrs. Smith, was about 6 feet tall, and thin, he wore a long black coat and was masked with a black bag pulled down over his head. He carried a large blue revolver.

SECOND BULLET IN HER BREAST.

Bejeweled, Bleeding Woman is Puzzle to Two Cities.

Staggers Dying into Long Beach Hotel; Accuses Man.

Local Records Show She Once Attempted Suicide.

Staggering into the St. Anthony apartments at Ocean and Alamitos avenues, Long Beach, at 7 o'clock last night, Mrs. Flora Sage, aged 33, No. 4900 First avenue, this city, demanded a room. The occupants of the lobby were horrified to see blood streaming from a bullet wound in her left breast. She said some one had tried to kill her, but, while she lay near death in the Long Beach Sanatorium last night, police officials and surgeons were unable to get her to make a further statement regarding the shooting. With a bullet hole through her lung, recovery is doubtful.

Police officials say that Mrs. Sage may have attempted suicide. A new revolver with three cartridges was found wrapped in her coat at the foot of the incline roadway leading from Alamitos avenue to the beach. More cartridges were found in a handkerchief bearing her initials.

When Mrs. Sage, blood-covered and minus coat and hat, appeared at the St. Anthony, the proprietor telephoned the police.

"Some one shot me, but I don't want the police!" declared the stricken woman as she stumbled from the place.

FEAR SHE WILL DIE.

She was found a few moments later by Chief of Police Cole of the beach city and Detectives Cervantes and Yancey. She was taken to the station and from there rushed to the hospital. Drs. Ralph L. Taylor and J. B. Atwood explored the wound and found that the bullet had passed through the upper part of the left lobe of the lung and left shoulder blade, two inches above the heart, entering in front. As a consequence of the wound and exposure they hold out no hopes for her recovery.

When the woman was received into the institution she had three large diamonds, other jewelry and $30 in money on her person. She was dressed in silk.

The police found on the sand near the foot of the Alamitos-avenue incline to the beach her coat, the gun, cartridges, an empty bottle and a handbag with several letters addressed to Mrs. Flora Sage, at the Los Angeles address. Chief Cole examined the sand in the vicinity carefully and found no fresh footprints except her own thereabout, and is inclined to doubt the statement of Mrs. Sage that she was shot by some other person.

In her handbag was found a letter to her husband, Arthur B. Sage, Maricopa, Cal. In this letter Mrs. Sage begged him to take good care of their daughter, whatever happened. The letter led the police to believe that the couple were separated, as had been at some time. Mrs. Sage had an apartment on Ocean avenue, near Alamitos avenue.

Mrs. Sage told Dr. Taylor on his second visit to the hospital that if she was going to die "she would confess all." The physician did not tell her that she was dying and could get her to say nothing more.

Investigations made by the local police in an effort to discover who Flora Sage is and where she lives met with failure last night. Patrolman Stevens of University Station went to the First-avenue address given by the wounded woman to the Long Beach police, but found only a vacant house. None of the neighbors were able to give him any information.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

From records in the Receiving Hospital the police learned that the woman was treated there on August 8, 1915, after attempting to kill herself by a shot in the left breast. At that time she lived at No. 945 West Forty-sixth street and was taken home after receiving treatment.

The police, upon questioning persons at the Forty-sixth street address, learned that the woman moved away a short time after her attempt to take her life, and they were unable to give any information as to her present home.

No reason for the attempted suicide was given by the woman when she was treated in the hospital.

Though Mrs. Sage stoutly denies that she tried to kill herself, insisting that a man with a cane shot her, the police think she fired the bullet into her own breast because of unrequited love for an automobile man living on East Eleventh street, Long Beach. This man, who is married, said last night that he had not seen or heard of Mrs. Sage for two months. He added he was merely acquainted with her.

Mrs. Sage has been living with her father in Chico, Cal. She has a daughter, Lucy, age 14, who is living at the home of Mrs. Cox at Twenty-first street and Central avenue, this city.

Mrs. Sage's brother, Arthur Cunningham, shot Mrs. Viola Kerr and himself on Anaheim street, Long Beach, two years ago. It was alleged that he was infatuated with her.

The police discovered that Mrs. Sage registered at the Del Mar Hotel, Ocean and American avenues, last night, using the name of Mrs. A. B. Jones.

A sister of Mrs. Sage is reported to have committed suicide in South Dakota several years ago by setting herself on fire. On the first anniversary of her daughter's death, according to the story, she visited the grave, poured kerosene over her clothes and set herself on fire, death resulting.

Investment Company President Discusses Prospects.

Board of Directors Retained with Small Opposition.

Harmony is Keynote of Annual Stockholders' Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Los Angeles Investment Company was held yesterday at Trinity Auditorium. Utmost harmony prevailed, and after an address by President Flint, detailing the history of the concern during the past year and giving its present condition and prospects, the members began to cast their ballots for directors. The present administration was returned to office with practically no opposition, the final vote reading as follows: Frank P. Flint, 2,099,383; W. P. Jeffries, 2,073,833; A. T. Welles, 2,072,733; T. E. Gibbon, 2,072,733; W. F. Arend, 2,098,029; J. W. Burns, 2,274,477; J. Scott, 2,172,455.

In his report President Flint stated the best of feeling now exists among the stockholders, and they are all helping the directors in their endeavors to put the affairs of the company in the best possible shape.

Continuing, Mr. Flint said: "For more than two years your company has been involved in financial difficulties. From the time of the retirement of the Elder board your company has suffered from loss of public confidence, due to the fact that the stockholders have been dissatisfied by reason of the great depreciation in the market value of their shares, and have sued and have threatened the company with suits. Your board of directors are glad to report that at the end of two years the difficulties that confronted your company are nearing settlement, and, after a business depression of more than two years, the affairs of the company are now in a satisfactory condition.

"Your board of directors feel that the stockholders of this corporation should realize that Messrs. Hamburger, Rowan, Chandler, Allen, Jess, Fishburn and Weidner, who served on your board of directors, and Mr. Martin, who acted as manager, and H. W. O'Melveny, who was your attorney, are entitled to the credit of saving your company from financial disaster when it faced a serious crisis upon the retirement of the Elder board, and they deserve the thanks of all the stockholders for the service they have rendered."

Mr. Flint then went on to say that the new year ought to prove a very bright one for the company, and that the troublesome debtor stockholder problem will more than likely be settled at the next meeting of the board of directors. According to President Flint, the past year has witnessed the following achievements by the company:

The formulation of plans by which $750,000 of gold notes, paying 12 per cent. interest, will be retired by obligations of the company paying only 6 per cent., thus saving the company $45,000 annually; total sales of property of $538,432.96, and a material reduction of property on hand; the reduction of outstanding notes, home certificates and other obligations to the amount of $241,229.15; a reduction in the total amount of the mortgages upon the company's properties as compared to the previous twelve months; the consolidation with the investment company of the Pianada Development Company, with a consequent abolition of double overhead expenses; the reduction in the amount of the pay roll of almost $900 a month, together with a great many other economies and improvements.

When President Flint had finished reading his report he received a rising vote of thanks from the assembled stockholders, and the meeting ended shortly afterwards.

In Judge Bledsoe's court the curtain was rung down on the Los Angeles Investment Company case, except as to the three defendants who have been convicted of using the mails in a scheme to defraud—Charles A. Elder, W. D. Deeble and George M. Derby, who have appealed to the Circuit Court. On motion of United States District Attorney Schoenover the indictments as to C. L. Bagley, W. F. Gates, H. D. Rodgers, A. P. Thomson, F. L. Mowder, Ernest Ingold, Charles Cassatt, Davis and Earl B. Elder, were dismissed.

AFTER A MILLION FOR OCCIDENTAL.

FORMER SENATOR IS HEAD OF BIG CAMPAIGN.

Business Men Enter Enthusiastically in Work of Securing Quickly Great Fund for College—Forty to be Made Captains of Teams of Workers in Worthy Cause.

Enthusiasm born of confident success pervaded the official luncheon and business session, yesterday noon, of the Executive Committee of the $1,000,000 campaign for Occidental College. Cheers and applause greeted the announcement that Hon. Frank P. Flint, former United States Senator, is to head the committee as chairman.

Under the leadership of Mr. Flint as commander-in-chief, and with the Executive Committee as his personal staff, the work of selecting forty of live, wideawake, business men as captains to head the teams of volunteer workers in the field was taken.

An army of 450 volunteer workers under command of Mr. Flint, will make a thorough campaign of the 10,000 citizens of Los Angeles and Pasadena whose names have been listed as men and women who foster education and who are willing to give of their time, their energies and their funds to a movement that has as its objective, the equipment of the youth of the commonwealth for better citizenship and who concede it as their American duty to do their part in the education of all the children of all the people.

A list of prospective team captains was placed on the luncheon table and the members of the Executive Committee selected the names of those that they would see and enlist their services. This committee is building up rapidly and thoroughly a very keen campaign organization, which promises to be massive in proportions, enthusiastic and optimistic in spirit, energetic and efficient in action and successful in results.

Following yesterday's session, it was announced that the next luncheon of the Executive Committee will be held Friday at 12:15 o'clock in the private dining-room adjoining the campaign headquarters on the mezzanine floor of the Alexandria Hotel.

Those present at yesterday's meeting were: Fred L. Baker, Willis H. Booth, Louis M. Cole, David B. Gamble, Hon. Lorin A. Handley, Lynn Helm, H. Jevne, Frank May, Hon. R. W. Pridham, Dr. John Wills Baer, George E. Huntsberger, Glen E. Huntsberger and E. M. Cranston.

FATHER LOSES TO GRANDSON.

MARRIAGE OF RICH WOMAN'S SON COSTS DEARLY.

His Income is Cut in Half and Much Valuable Stock is Withdrawn Altogether in Supposed Anticipation of Heir's Union to Prominent Figure in Divorce Case.

Anticipating the marriage of her son, Harry Duffill, to Mrs. Alice McNamara, Mrs. Eugenie A. Duffill wrote in her will, filed for probate yesterday, certain provisions which reduced his income from $4000 to $2000 a year and withdrew from him any interest in the stock of the Grasselli Chemical Company, which is said to produce an annual income of $25,000.

Mrs. Duffill executed her will in September, 1914, or two months before an interlocutory decree of divorce was granted in the suit for divorce brought by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Martha Duffill, against her son, Harry. The interlocutory decree was granted November 14, 1914, the final decree entered December 16, 1915, and according to Attorney John W. Kemp, who represents the estate, Harry Duffill and Mrs. McNamara were married December 17, 1914. This series of events was followed by the death of Mrs. Eugenie A. Duffill on the 7th inst.

Mrs. McNamara, designated as a blonde nurse, figured prominently in Mrs. Martha Duffill's divorce suit. Whether or not Harry Duffill knew the pecuniary effect his marriage to Mrs. McNamara would have is problematical. His son, Albert, now 12 years old, who was awarded to the custody of his mother, will succeed to the bulk of the Duffill fortune, estimated in the petition filed yesterday at $500,000.

After a number of bequests the estate was placed in trust with the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank. Mrs. Duffill directed that the stock of the Grasselli Chemical Company be held intact until the final distribution of the estate. Out of the trust fund Albert will receive $2000 a year. It was also provided that Harry Duffill should receive $4000 a year during Albert's minority, "provided that if my son, Harry Duffill, shall marry one Mrs. Alice McNamara, then in that event I desire that the said trustee shall pay to him thereafter only the sum of $2000 per year instead of $4000 per year."

The will provides that when Albert shall have reached his majority the trust fund shall be segregated into two equal parts, one part to be transferred to Harry Duffill but, anticipating his marriage to Mrs. McNamara Mrs. Duffill provides that he shall then receive one-half of the balance of the estate, after withdrawing the chemical company's stock.

In the event of Harry's death the trustee shall distribute the estate to Albert, the grandson. At the death of Albert, Martha Duffill, his mother, will receive one-fourth; a like share will go to Mrs Ida Ireland, and the residue in equal shares to the children of Mrs. Daniel Bailey of Cleveland. If any of the beneficiaries contest the provisions of the will, Mrs. Duffill provides that they shall receive $5. There are a number of minor bequests made in the will.

A special bequest of $1000 is to be given to Albert Duffill, the grandson, if when he reaches his majority, he is addicted to liquor and has been a total abtainer up to that time. This is in addition to his half interest in the estate. At the age o f 16 he is to have a $3000 auto.

It is further provided that if it is desired to sell the chemical company's stock, the Grasselli family shall be given the first chance to buy.

Supervisors Pass Up Flood Complaints Pending General Control.

Los Angeles county will not assume responsibility for diversion of flood waters along streets or highways, nor will it expend any money at this time to assist individual property owners in working out their problems of this character.

The Board of Supervisors decided yesterday a plan covering the entire county in caring for flood waters should first be evolved, after listening for several hours to complaints from a group of Glendora residents seeking a way out of their difficulties caused by storm waters. Former Judge Charles D. Silent, Attorneys Vincent Morgan and John Daly and numerous residents of the district asked that the county supply funds for creation of flood ditches to divert some of the storm water, after having refused to permit certain bulkheads to remain on the county roads. These were built to send the water along the roads, thus endangering them.

Road Commissioner Joyner was asked to investigate the Glendora situation and to guard the paved roadways from possible injuries.

This is only one of six or seven similar complaints against the action of storm waters filed with the board during the day. Until such time as the Flood Control Association and the board have completed their plans, nothing can be done to ameliorate present conditions.

INVESTIGATION BEGINS AGAIN.

Tragic Desert Death of Local Attorney Scrutinized.

Rich Aunt, Here from Alaska, Follows Grim Trail.

Inquiry into Land Dealings is Vigorously Prosecuted.

While straightening out the estate of John H. Welsh, the Los Angeles attorney who died under tragic circumstances on the desert last August, so that the widow and two small children may benefit to the fullest extent, Mrs. Matilda Thomson, wealthy aunt of the dead attorney, has found it necessary to reopen the investigation of the facts surrounding the tragedy. Declaring that she is not fully satisfied with the reports of the fatal automobile trip, Mrs. Thomson returned yesterday to her residence at No. 1210 West Adams street after a week's personal tour of the Imperial Valley and the ground near Mecca, where Mr. Welsh met his death.

Accompanying her was M. J. Welsh, brother of the dead attorney, and C. E. Lloyd, brother-in-law of Mrs. John Welsh. Every inch of the ground was traversed, observations made and witnesses interviewed. Further, all business transactions entered into by the late attorney prior to his death are being closely examined.

FATAL TRIP.

John Welsh left Los Angeles August 9 in his automobile to inspect property located near Niland. With him at the time were James S. Roche, his law partner, and James G. Clark, a local real estate man. The three men were planning to handle the real estate deal together.

Three days later Mr. Clark staggered into Brawley with the startling announcement that his two companions were stranded in a broken down machine somewhere on the road between Mecca and Brawley. Mr. Clark immediately boarded a train for Los Angeles. Others sent aid. When the rescue party reached the motor car, Mr. Welsh was dead and Mr. Roche near death.

After several attempts to explain, Mr. Clark admitted to The Times that he had lost his head and much valuable time had been wasted in sending out the rescue party. Mr. Roche was to overcome he could give no connected account of the fatal trip for some days.

At the time of the tragedy, Mrs. Thomson was in Alaska with her husband. She returned a month ago, and feeling she should care for the widow and fatherless children, Mary, 12 years old and John Welsh, Jr., 6 years old, immediately started straightening out the estate.

"I was not satisfied with the reports I received regarding my nephew's death," Mrs. Thomson said last night. "I am not yet satisfied, and as a result I am spending a large sum of money to get the facts in their right sequence.

"To me it appears all useless that John Welsh should have died. The party stopped at Mecca for breakfast. John was the only one of the three to eat heartily. He was naturally a strong man, and undoubtedly the strongest of the party.

"They got their last water at Fig Tree John's. Somebody saw them there, I have heard, but just who it was I have been unable to find out. I have hired detectives to do this.

"From Fig Tree John's to the spot where John died is about nineteen miles. Five miles further on, by the roadside, are the King Springs. I am told the men walked miles and miles in futile search of water, when if they had gone five miles down the road instead of across the desert they would have found abundant water.

LAND DEAL INVOLVED.

I am having expert attorneys examining the facts of the real estate deal that John was consummating when he died.

"I understand a man named Edward Russick had let an option to Mr. Roche, Mr. Clark, and John Welsh, by which they might have purchased a valuable tract for $5000.

"When John died, nothing more was done about the option, and it expired. Now, as I understand it, Mr. Russick has transfered this property to Mr. Roche for a nominal sum of from $1 to $10. There are also some notes I want to know about."

James S. Roche, the attorney mentioned, explained this transfer yesterday afternoon.

"The property referred to has been under litigation for some time," he said. "Mr. Russick has been my client for a number of years, and offered to sell to Mr. Welsh, Mr. Clark and myself cheaply if we would take over the expense and trouble of fighting the claim.

"When Mr. Welsh died, I became estranged from Mr. Clark to such an extent that we had no further business dealings together. The option expired. As Mr. Russick was indebted to me for fees and expenses, the amount aggregating quite a sum, he transferred the property to me. I have a long way to go yet before I can clear the title, and it will mean much expense."

NOTABLE DIVIDEND DAY.

Oil Companies to Make Large Disbursements Saturday.

Saturday will be something of a red-letter day in the matter of oil company dividends. Four companies whose stocks are listed on the exchange will make disbursements, these to range from $3000 up to $500,000. The latter payment will be made by the Associated Oil Company, this being at the rate of $1 a share, stockholders of record December 31, participating. Globe Oil will pay a dividend of ½ of 1 per cent., aggregating in amount $3000. Stockholders of record today will participate. West Coast Oil will pay a dividend of $1.50 a share, amounting to about $15,000, to holders of record today. The United Oil Company's books also close today for the disbursement at the rate of ½ cent a share, aggregating $10,000, to be made Saturday. The Amalgamated Oil Company will pay its regular dividend of $1 a share the 24th, to stock of record the 18th. Union Oil Company's books close for the payment of $1.50 a share, aggregating $510,000, to be made the 25th.

JORDAN IS SUSTAINED.

Court Refuses Writ of Mandate to Film Concern.

The petition for a mandate compelling Frank C. Jordan, Secretary of State, to file the articles of the incorporation of the Film Producers (Inc.) has been denied by the Supreme Court, and the writ discharged, it became known yesterday.

Secretary of State Jordan refused to file the articles on the ground that they violated the State's laws on incorporation.

The company is a $1,000,000 concern, with 50,000 shares of stock of the par value of $1 each, and 47,500 shares of preferred stock of the par value of $20 a share. The law provides that preferred stock shall have no advantage either as to voting power or statutory or constitutional liability of the holders to the creditors of the company. The court holds that under the articles of incorporation, the holders of the preferred stock are given a preference in voting power which is not allowed under the laws of this State.

SPLIT LEGAL HAIRS.

Government and Supreme Court at Odds on Ruling.

The question whether a preference right runs to a desert land entryman only as to the original survey, and not to the lands as resurveyed, was involved in a hearing before Register Roche and Receiver Mitchell of the local Land Office yesterday. George W. Penman, Robert Barretta, Ray L. Rumsey and Charles A. MacCarthy, who claim title to 320 acres of land in the vicinity of Dixieland, Imperial county, are the petitioners.

The Secretary of the Interior has in other cases decided that no such right runs in resurveyed lands, but the Supreme Court of California, in the case of Hart vs. Cox, took the other end of the argument, and decided that there is no difference between the survey and the resurvey. Two witnesses were heard yesterday, while depositions taken at El Centro will furnish the balance of the proof, it being the intention to appeal the matter on law points if the decision of the local officials is not in harmony with the views of the Supreme Court.

HURRY IT ALONG.

The government will close its evidence against Alfred W. Allen and F. B. Woodruff, formerly of the American Brokerage Company, in Judge Dietrich's court today, and it is understood that the case will go to the jury within the next seven days. Whether Allen will go on the stand in his own defense is not determined. Great progress has been made in the second hearing, not to exceed three weeks being occupied in the marshaling of the evidence and the argument, where three months were taken two years ago.

Los Angeles Lady Tells How Anuric Helped Her

Every day people come in the Sun Drug Store, N. E. corner of Fifth and Broadway, to see Dr. Pierce's personal representative and tell how Anuric is helping them.

Many are the sad stories told of intense suffering before the days of Anuric—chronic cases of years' standing yield to Anuric when no other remedy was of help.

Kidney trouble, backache, dizzy spells all are caused by the dangerous uric acid. When you feel the sharp twinges of lumbago, rheumatism or sciatica it is nature's warning to you that your system is full of uric acid. To overcome this trouble get a package of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. Use them for the purpose for which Dr. Pierce intended them—to get uric acid out of your body.

A Reliable, Safe Remedy

Anuric is a perfect uric acid solvent, many times more efficient than lithia. It is an absolute enemy to uric acid and does not fail to drive it out of your body, thereby removing the cause of backache, dizzy spells and rheumatism in all its forms.

For over forty years Dr. Pierce of the Invalid's Hotel of Buffalo, N. Y., has been making safe, reliable family medicines. It took years to perfect Anuric, but now it is recognized as a remedy second to none in eradicating uric acid. Anuric is harmless and safe, mild and agreeable, but a positive uric acid solvent. If you need a good tonic this spring, as most people do, you can get the best results from Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Every ailing woman knows the wonderful merits of Favorite Prescription. It has made women happy in every land. Anuric will not fail to give you relief if kidney trouble or rheumatism bothers you. If you live correctly and use Anuric you will get well or your money will be refunded (when purchased at Sun Store No. 16.)

Los Angeles Testimonial

Mrs. M. Phillipha, 822 Stanford Avenue.
Dear Dr. Pierce: When I think of an obligation, I realize the great one I owe to you for your remedy that brought me back to normal health. The Anuric tablets are the best for the kidneys I ever used. I have had kidney trouble since I was 20 years old. I now for the first time feel free from the old trouble. I cheerfully recommend Anuric to all who may need a kidney remedy. Signed, Mrs. M. Phillipha, Los Angeles, Cal.

A Year of Accomplishment

MY DECISION to enter the premium business a year ago was arrived at after giving the matter due consideration from every angle. My first effort was to proclaim to the public in a general announcement the policies which I found to be sound in the two companies I was to control and to outline the purpose at which I aimed for the future—a greater publicity to a business that bore malice toward none, but good will and thrift to its users.

A year is sufficient to assure me that in giving full publicity to my plans and taking the public fully into my confidence, I was building well for the Sperry & Hutchinson Company and The Hamilton Corporation, and that I did a beneficial thing for all of the thousands of business concerns with which we do business, and the premium business generally.

Every step which has been taken during the past twelve months has been in the direction of progress, both as to service to our immediate patrons and to the millions of consumers who accept our Green Trading Stamps and Hamilton Coupons as tokens of thrift.

Enhancing the Value of Premiums

Among the first improvements to be made in our service was enhancing the value of the premiums which are given for completed books of Trading Stamps and for Coupons. The array of premiums shown in our five hundred stores throughout the United States is unsurpassed and gives a greater value than can be obtained in any other measure for the money represented.

The next improvement and extension of the Sperry & Hutchinson and Hamilton service was in seeking to increase the percentage of redemptions, because it is on the number of satisfied customers that the retailers depend for their profit in adopting and using the Sperry System.

On January 2d, 1915, our percentage of redemption on the Sperry & Hutchinson stamps issued was 90.4 per cent. Today this percentage has been increased to 94½ per cent., which is the nearest approach to a perfect business record and real service that has been attained in any form of advertising. This has been accomplished by a vigorous and widespread campaign of publicity to the consumers, and the use of good merchandise and improved store service.

One of the methods of bringing the advantages of profit-sharing directly into the home was the establishment of the Sperry Magazine. This monthly visitor in more than 500,000 homes excels in potential power as a trade builder and advertising medium for the manufacturer and merchant. Each month brings better results and a larger circulation. The service we are thus able to render the manufacturer, the merchant and the consumer is unequalled.

Right to Profit-Sharing Upheld

At the close of my first year of office I wish to extend a personal word of thanks to the patrons who have remained steadfast in their trade relations with us and to the many thousands who have been added to our lists in the twenty-eight new cities opened the past year.

I wish also to inform the millions of collectors of the Green Trading Stamps and Hamilton Coupons that every necessary step will be taken to safeguard their rights to continue in profit-sharing. The consumer and our merchants should not fail to disapprove legislation, federal or State, promoted by one class of business as against another that is inimical to their interests and the general welfare.

It is gratifying to know that to date every direct and energetic defence of the rights of the public in the courts has been crowned with success in nearly every case that has come up for final decision directly affecting profit-sharing.

Publicity

There are no industries that promote advertising greater than those of merchants and manufacturers using premiums. If sales annually require $120,000,000 in merchandise for distribution it means work for factories, employment of labor, and large expenditures for advertising by most of these manufacturers as well as by our merchants and ourselves.

The Truth in advertising leads me to say again that the day has come for the premium users to stand in the open and promote their business under the full glare of publicity.

The public, likewise the newspapers, know right from wrong, and they are the natural supporters of the right. Moreover, they will not be frightened or prejudiced by an unfair statement against any industry which has the sanction of the courts and the active support of over 10,000,000 people, mostly of the dependent type, who are not crying or even asking for relief, but are yearly increasing in number due to the benefits received by those using our premium service. The Press can rightfully interest itself in the public good, and to that end I addressed the officers of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association last April, requesting that organization to appoint a committee to investigate the premium business as conducted by us. Our methods, our financial responsibility, likewise our service contracts, are available for their inspection or any other impartial public body at any time.

For the coming year the policy of the Sperry & Hutchinson Company and The Hamilton Corporation will be to continue to develop in the interests of the public good and any suggestions from patrons or consumers will be thankfully received and thoroughly considered.

Our slogan for 1916 is to Sell Service and Render Service.

TRIAL AND GRAND JURIES FOR JANUARY TERM.

Federal Law Mills Prepare to Grind Grist of Criminal, Civil and Equity Cases—Seaboard Oil and Transit Case Set for June—Shartel in May.

In the Federal Court yesterday, the calendars of criminal, civil, and law and equity cases for the January term were fixed by Judges Trippet and Bledsoe.

At the morning session an order was made in Judge Trippet's court, providing for a venire of seventy-five names to be drawn for term trial jury service, returnable of January 24, also sixty names for the grand jury returnable February 1.

Dates were fixed for the trial of about 100 cases in Judge Trippet's court, of every character, and the same number in Judge Bledsoe's court. Among the criminal cases were three indictments against Dr. John Grant Lyman, which were laid away for the term.

The case against Nicholas Wilson and others, involving the alleged misuse of the mails by the Seaboard Oil and Transit Company, was set for June 15. This has been in court about three years.

The charge of fraudulent use of the mails against Dr. G. M. Freeman and Charles K. Holzman was set for April 25; two of the defendants in this action, H. L. Giles and Ambrose Sims, have never been apprehended.

The charge of violation of the neutrality laws, alleged against Baltazar Aviles and others, was set for May 16.

Warren Thurlow, William Taylor and Frank Sawyer will be tried on the charge of having in their possession and dealing in counterfeit Carranza money of the republic of Mexico, April 11.

The trial of Dr. W. W. Shartel, charged with having smoking opium in his possession, was set for March 10.

The case against Sol. Alexander and Paul M. Reidy, charged with conspiring to represent Alexander as a Federal officer, was continued for the term.

Charles E. Williamson, former President of the National Tuna Fishing and Packing Company, who is in the County Jail, will be tried January 24.

J. K. Tennant, charged with fraud in connection with the affairs of the Western Underwriting and Mortgage Company, will be tried in San Diego, the date to be fixed at the opening of court there on March 13. Judge Cushman of Washington will preside. Eight cases in all were assigned for trial at San Diego.

Physical and "Going" Values of Edison Company Properties and Damages for Proposed Dismemberment Set by Expert Witnesses. Bond Arguments.

Practically closing the case of the Southern California Edison Company, Arthur R. Kelley, former engineer of the Railroad Commissions of this State and Washington, testified yesterday before State Railroad Commissioner Edgerton that a conservative estimate of the value of the physical property which the city seeks to condemn is $4,195,648.

In addition to physical value, Mr. Kelley testified that the property has a "going concern" value of $5,187,000, and that the total claims for severance damage will amount to $10,706,000, or a total of $20,088,048 for the three items of physical and "going concern" values and damages incident to dismemberment.

That one of the results of the city's proposed condemnation of a portion of the company's distributing property will be to reduce the concern from class A to class D as a bond risk was asserted by Russell H. Ballard, secretary and assistant general manager of the Edison company, in his concluding testimony.

Mr. Ballard stated the more important bond houses handle only the collateral of companies with a large city as a base of distribution. In other words, he explained, they want an assured field of interwoven consumers behind the bonds they handle.

"This we have had in Los Angeles," said Mr. Ballard, "consequently our bonds have been in class A. But when the city's business is taken away we will be forced out into the rural districts, and become class D. I might also add that the bonding houses with which we now do business do not deal in class D bonds."

AFTER "BLIND PIGS."

Investigator of District Attorney's Office, Stirred by Innuendo of Supervisors, Gets Busier; Two Arrests of Liquor Sellers Made.

Provoked by the innuendo of the Board of Supervisors, which in turn had been stirred up by the so-called Law Enforcement League, Capt. J. D. Hunter, chief investigator for the District Attorney's office, has made new and vigorous efforts to eliminate "blind pigs." Yesterday he announced two arrests for violation of liquor laws.

Louis de Georgeos of Hawthorne was captured with about forty bottles of beer, half that much whisky and other liquor in his possession. He may be liable to Federal prosecution, owing to the fact that a quart bottle of absinthe was also discovered on his premises. The use of absinthe has been tabooed by the government for about two years and it is a far more serious offense to be caught with this liquor than to be proved guilty of "blind piggery." Georgeos was taken to the County Jail by Constable Olmstead of Hawthorne, while his stock in trade was confiscated by Capt. Hunter's assistants.

Manuel Estrada, wanted for frequent and repeated violations of the liquor ordinances of Whittier, who is accused of having conducted not only illicit liquor dispensaries, but also gambling games in the vicinity of Los Nietos, was captured at the border. He left Los Nietos hurriedly about two months ago and was traced to Tia Juana. Sunday he decided to return home and was captured before he reached San Diego. He is in jail at Whittier.

HALF A MILLION TO BE DIVIDED.

UNION OIL TO PAY DIVIDEND DURING THIS MONTH.

First Distribution of Earnings Since Middle of 1913—Great Merger of Oil Companies into Hundred - million - dollar Corporation Favored by Eastern Financiers.

Indicating in a concrete manner improvement in the oil situation came the news yesterday that the Union Oil Company directors have declared a dividend of $1.50 a share. The dividend is payable the 25th inst. to stock of record next Saturday. The total disbursement will be $510,000.

It is the first dividend the Union will have paid since the middle of 1913. Payments were suspended then to enable the company to strengthen its resources, as monetary conditions did not at the time permit of new financing. The company is now in excellent shape for the resumption of payments, concerning which announcements will be made semi-annually.

Regarding the deal involving the Union Oil Company, advices have been received here that E. L. Doheny, the petroleum magnate, and Mark L. Requa, chairman of the Appraisal Committee of the Independent Oil Producers Agency, who holds an option on the Stewarts' stock, are in New York to confer with bankers, including William Solomon & Co., Hallgarten & Co. and others. Bernard Baruch, the noted New York financier, has just returned from the south, the advices state, and will take an active part in the formation of the new company.

An official announcement regarding the corporation, which will be called the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company, will be made in a few days, it is expected. Capitalization of the company will be $100,000,000, the stock par at $50, and it will take in companies with a capitalization of about $175,000,000.

New York bankers, it is stated, have agreed to finance the merger, which will have as its main point economy of operation, especially by the elimination of excessive competitive drilling.

MEDDLERS AFTER THEM?

So says Wife Whose Spouse Dropped Nuptial Coercion Charge.

Mrs. Mary Reese Arthur, whose husband, Robert G. Arthur, filed last Saturday a petition to have their marriage annulled, alleging he was forced into matrimony at the point of a gun, yesterday declared there is still a conspiracy to estrange the two despite the reconciliation effected Saturday night through the efforts of her attorney, Dudley W. Robinson.

Attorney Percy V. Hammon, who filed the annulment proceedings in behalf of Mr. Arthur, stated last night he has been notified by telephone by an individual who professed to be a friend of Mr. Arthur and to be acting in his behalf, to continue the annulment suit and disregard reports of a reconciliation. Mr. Hammon would not divulge the identity of his mysterious informant, but states he is entirely at sea as to Mr. Arthur's intentions.

"I have not heard from Mr. Arthur since the reported reconciliation of Saturday night," said Mr. Hammon.

Mr. Robinson said: "The last time I saw my client she was holding hands with her husband and the two were declaring to everybody within hearing that the annulment suit was to be dismissed. I understand there are several individuals attempting to meddle in the affair, but I am not at liberty to discuss that phase of the situation."

MERRYMAKERS HUNTED.

Charge of Forging Deeds Against Two "White Way" Habitues.

L. E. Wall and W. A. Hansley, two young men whose presence on the "White Way" of Los Angeles has been regular for several months past, are sought on a charge of having forged property deeds. One of these was presented to the Heilman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank in application for a loan and investigation revealed the fact that the deed was not genuine. Deputy District Attorney Stafford issued the warrant.

Hansley was arraigned on a similar charge before Justice Hinshaw several days ago and his preliminary hearing was set for next Friday. He is out on bail of $2500.

The young men are widely known in certain social circles of Los Angeles and Hollywood, and are said to have used several beautiful girls as decoys in their operations. These, according to Deputy Stafford, will be witnesses in the case against the youthful "Wallingfords," if they are apprehended.

NURSE IS ACCUSED.

County Hospital Patient Swears to Charge of Embezzlement.

Paul F. McGinness, a patient at the County Hospital, yesterday swore to a complaint charging Bertram M. Mitcheson, formerly a nurse in that institution, with the embezzlement of $100. Deputy District Attorney Cryer issued the complaint.

Mr. McGinness received a check from his father for $100, which was to defray his expenses on a trip home, according to Deputy Cryer. When Mitcheson found this out he informed the patient the hospital authorities would deduct the major portion of the sum for fees if asked to cash the check. It is alleged he offered to take it outside and have it cashed, to which Mr. McGinness agreed. Since that time, about two weeks ago, Mitcheson has failed to return to the hospital, it is charged.

Big Utilities

California Electric Company is a $15,000,000 concern and one of the greatest corporations of the kind in the West. It owns the Southern Sierras Power Company, with the longest power line in the world, the Nevada-California Power Company, the Pacific Power Company and several other large public service corporations."

NO CHANGE NOW.

For the present the affairs of the Holton Power Company, the Coachella Valley Ice and Electric Company and the Holton Interurban will be conducted as they have been in the past. The officers of the companies will remain the same, the offices will continue to be in Redlands and Mr. Holt will continue to conduct the affairs of the companies.

"I have promised to continue as manager of the companies until the time when the purchasers feel they can take them over," said Mr. Holt. "I do not know how long that will be, but it will probably be several months. Of course I am anxious to be rid of the business or I would not have sold, but will give the new owners all the help I can in getting the work organized."

The Holton Power Company has two big power plants at Holtville and two big power plants at El Centro, owns the distributing system over the entire Imperial Valley and furnishes power and light to that region. It also furnishes the power for the Holton Interurban Company. The Coachella Valley Ice and Electric Company owns the ice plants at El Centro and at Coachella and the power distribution system in the Coachella Valley.

All papers were signed yesterday morning and the transfer made.

PLAN IMPROVEMENTS.

Mr. Holt stated yesterday that the officers of the Nevada Company have announced they will as soon as possible begin work in making a number of big improvements.

"I know in a general way what these improvements are and what is necessary, but I do not think the details have been worked out yet," said Mr. Holt. "The new company will no doubt have something to announce in this particular soon."

He says he will remain in Redlands for the present and have his home there, although he recently sold the property he owned on West Olive avenue. He has a lease on the house for eighteen months.

He recently purchased a large tract of land in the San Fernando Valley and has announced he will establish there one of the big stock and dairy farms of Southern California. He says the plans for this have not been completed.

Mr. Holt had planned to make the improvements necessary in the Imperial Valley properties in case the Nevada Company decided not to purchase. There are about forty stockholders in the three companies just sold, but Mr. Holt had the controlling interest in each.

EVIDENCE CONFLICTING.

Nine Testify in Manslaughter Hearing of Hospital Attendants.

Nine witnesses for the defense were called yesterday in Justice Forbes's court, where Robert Clark and Robert Smith are being tried on a charge of manslaughter as the outcome of the death of Edward Furrer, a County Hospital patient, who is said to have been beaten by them.

Attorneys Ford and Hahn, appearing for the defendants, introduced attendants from the State asylum at Patton, who testified that on arrival of Furrer at that institution he had no marks indicating a broken jaw or broken ribs. One of these declared Furrer ate several slices of bread in a ravenous manner after reaching Patton.

About fifteen other witnesses will be called today, when the defense will rest its case.

It is believed the local hospital attendants may not even be held to answer to the Superior Court because of the divergence of testimony so far introduced.

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) The enormous increase in unfilled tonnage by the leading steel concern was a boon to industrial speculation, these reports being a substantiation of the accepted fact that American industries are being taxed beyond their capacities. The foreign demand for our grain is on the increase. Wages throughout the industrial centers are being raised, in many instances to the highest figures on record. Foreign exchange continues in our favor.

(For details, see financial pages.)

WHY NOT?

An eastern exchange criticises President Wilson because he was married on the same day that his grandchild was christened. Well, why not? Should the eternal welfare of the little McAdoodle Doo have been jeopardized by keeping it away from the baptismal font merely because the grandpapa was married? or should the earthly happiness of the grandfather have been done away with because of the christening of an infant suckster?

MATRIMONIAL MISTAKES.

It is nothing to brag about, but the divorce crop of 1916 promises to be a bumper. To listen to the evidence of some of the men who want to escape the yoke one would come to the conclusion that a woman who talks to one man is looking at another while thinking of a third. The Hindus say that in this world four things are insatiable of four: An ocean, of rivers; death, of mortals; fire, of fuel, and woman, of man. All of this has to do with the mistakes of matrimony. You have, perhaps, noticed that as one gets further from the kennels he hears less about fleas.

RIVAL SOCIOLOGISTS.

You can never get the framers of amendments to the laws of nature to agree upon details. The oldest law is the law of wedded love. Any attempts to interfere with it must end in sex confusion.

A New Jersey jurist says bachelors marry too late; an Oregon educationalist asserts that girls marry too early. The former believes that every single man over the age of 30 should be compelled by law to pick a mate; the latter is of opinion that girls under the age of 25 should not be permitted to marry at all.

It is no use—it is all waste of breath—it is bombarding a granite fort with egg shells. Home and wedlock are sufficient, nothing more, nothing less. Not on the state, but on the two individuals directly concerned the decision, for good or ill, must always rest.

Mistakes will be made; some will marry who are not mated; but no mistake will ever equal that of imposing obstacles that may drive us to free love. Compelling or preventing marriage at any age after maturity has been reached will eventually destroy the noblest institution, the most beautiful, the most universally established—the institution of the home.

A NOBLE PURPOSE.

Dr. Herman M. Biggs of New York has been doing a better and greater work for the world than all the generals who are directing the movements of the armies in Europe. While they have warred upon life he has been warring upon death. As commissioner of the State Health Department the infantile death rate has, under his administration, fallen from 208 to 95 deaths per thousand births. He proposes by his measures to save 25,000 lives in the next five years.

In his Christmas greeting to his staff Dr. Biggs quotes Benjamin Disraeli as saying: "The public health is the foundation upon which rests the happiness of the people and the welfare of the nation. The care of the public health is the first duty of the statesman."

Dr. Biggs maintains that 600,000 people die needlessly in the United States each year and his purpose and ambition is to reduce the fatalities in the battle of life.

Mr. Thomas H. Price, who brings these facts to the notice of New York Commerce and Finance, justly says, "What a glorious ambition and noble purpose it is. All honor to Dr. Biggs."

A WASTED HALF MILLION.

Of all the wasteful extravagances charged against the Sixty-third Congress the most wasteful was the appropriation of half a million dollars to pay the salaries and expenses of the members of the Federal Industrial Relations Commission.

The result of two years' work and the wasting of $500,000 by this commission were tersely and truthfully stated in a Chicago dispatch which was sent to all the newspapers and read as follows: "The Federal Industrial Relations Commission finished a two years' investigation on an appropriation of a half-million dollars to find out what was the trouble between capital and labor, in a clash of discord, without arriving at any definite decision. After a heated session the commission permanently adjourned, divided into three factions. Each faction signed a report, to which will be added statements, minor reports and dissensions of opinions."

There is not any trouble between capital and labor. The trouble is between the laborers who do not want to labor and the laborers who are willing to work.

If the $500,000 expended upon the Federal Industrial Relations Commission had been disbursed in assisting to obtain work for men who are willing to work it would have been a wiser expenditure.

PROTECTION THE DOMINANT ISSUE.

The history of the world from the days of the Roman republic has demonstrated that indirect taxation by means of a customs revenue is better for manufacturers and workingmen than direct taxation. It is unfortunate for this country that the leaders of the Democratic party insist upon aiding foreign workers and injuring their own countrymen by reducing the revenue from tariff duties so low that they are obliged to inflict drastic and unfair direct taxation upon the industrious, thrifty and well-to-do people in order to meet the deficiency that their reduced tariff, combined with extravagant expenditures, has caused.

The Democrats absolutely refuse to be guided by the light of experience. The year 1913 was the second time in fifty-six years that they possessed the power to enact Federal laws, placing their free-trade ideas in practical operation. From 1860 to 1892 the Republican protective policy ruled at Washington, for when Cleveland was first elected, in 1884, the Democrats failed to carry Congress, and not until his second election, in 1892, did Democracy elect a majority in both houses and obtain the power to enact or repeal a Federal law.

What was the result? For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, the expenditures of the government exceeded the receipts by $69,800,000, while for nineteen consecutive years under Republican laws the receipts had exceeded the expenditures. Throughout the four years of Cleveland's administration the expenditures continued to exceed the receipts.

To repair the treasury deficits fifty millions of bonds were issued in January, 1894; another fifty millions in November, 1894; sixty-two millions in February, 1895, and still later another issue amounting to one hundred millions—all at a time when we were at peace with all the world.

This record of Democratic extravagance and folly, combined with the closed factories, shops, forges, mills and mines, and the loss of employment by a million men, which the Wilson-Gorman tariff of 1893 caused, so disgusted the American people that the Democratic ticket, which in 1892 received 277 electoral votes, obtained but 176 in 1896, and the Republican ticket which in 1892 had but 5,176,108 popular votes received in 1896 7,104,779 votes.

The people realized the fact that to impose direct taxes upon the thrifty and the well-to-do in order to reduce the indirect taxation on all, inflicted by customs revenues, does not benefit the poor, for there is no truer maxim in political economy than at the outcome labor must bear the burdens of the state. The owner of a house who rents it adds the income tax upon the rental to the rent of the tenant, and the merchant adds the stamp taxes and other taxes he must pay to the price of the goods he sells to the consumer. Place the load upon back, shoulders, breast, arms or head at last it is the thews and sinews below the belt that must bear up the load.

And it is a big load that President Wilson and the Sixty-third Congress strapped upon the backs of the American people.

In the year 1914 our imports were $1,893,925,000, while our customs duties were $19,000,000 less than in 1912, when our imports were $240,650,000 smaller in volume than in 1912. In the year 1915 with the war in full operation our imports were $1,674,220,000, or $20,955,000 more than in 1912, and yet, notwithstanding these greater importations, our customs duties were less by $101,535,000.

Congressman Coleman of Pennsylvania says: "Comparing the conditions that existed at the close of the fiscal year 1915 with the conditions that existed at the close of the year 1894, or the years immediately preceding thereto, we find what seems to be the inevitable result of Democratic rule. expenditures exceeding the revenues of the government, and this in face of a resort to methods of taxation heretofore unknown. And matters are still growing worse, for up to December 15 of the present year the customs revenues were $10,917,000 less than for the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year, while the internal tax was $24,217,000 more than the corresponding period of the previous year. Thus we see internal taxation mounting still higher while the customs receipts are steadily declining, which condition bids fair to continue until the people of this country, speaking their opinion at the polls next election, will put an end to this false economic rule and restore to power a party in every way fit to manage the affairs of this great nation. With such a record of disaster following the two efforts of the Democratic party since the Civil War to put a successful tariff on the statute books, is it any wonder that the President of these United States and other leading Democrats should now be demanding that the tariff be taken out of politics?"

Extravagance in expenditure, loss of customs revenue, and drastic and vexatious direct taxation are not the only consequences of the treachery of Roosevelt and the election of Wilson in 1912. Prior to the breaking out of the European war in August, 1914, the Underwood tariff law caused general distress. There were 18,280 failures during 1914—the largest number of failures in any one year in all our history—with the record-breaking volume of $357,9009,000 liabilities and millions of men were thrown out of employment.

The disaster to the country would have been as great if not greater than that which followed the Democratic victory in 1892 had it not been for the enormous demand for war materials that came from Europe "permitting wheels to turn that otherwise would have remained idle and industry to quicken that was stagnant under the provisions of the Underwood tariff law."

There is but one safe road out of the industrial morass into which the election of Woodrow Wilson plunged us. It is for Republicans and Progressives to forget differences and elect the nominees of the National Republican Convention.

ENTIRELY VALOROUS.

A Turkish officer is said to have refused to lead an attack upon Egypt before his strength shall have been augumented by the arrival of 25,000 German soldiers and a stronger Turkish army well officered and equipped. In view of what happened to the allies at the Dardanelles because they didn't have wise officers and sufficient supplies the Turkish general is probably exhibiting the true valor of discretion.

A Regular Cut-Up.

FINANCING THE WAR.

Eighteen leading bankers and business men of London, in a manifesto addressed to the British people, say that success in the present war depends mainly upon the respective financial resources of the nations and the power of one side to maintain or add to its fighting strength while the other is declining. The manifesto says that the financial resources of the allies, fully mobilized, are greater than those of the Teutons. It is Britain's task to find the greater portion of the money needed by the allies and they assert that to perform this task her ability is unquestioned if properly employed.

The government of Great Britain has expended $6,500,000,000 in 1915 and must raise $9,000,000,000 in 1916—a sum fifteen and one-half times as great as the national debt of the United States. To accomplish this stupendous task they call upon the nation to avoid the consumption of non-essentials and restrict the consumption of essentials as much as possible.

German financiers are not so optimistic. Berlin tells a different story from London. Dr. Helfferich, Secretary of the Imperial Treasury, announced in the Reichstag that the next budget cannot be balanced without additional income and proposals for new taxation are being drafted. He said that no matter how large a war indemnity was received the war would impose a colossal burden of taxation upon the Germans and they must expect greatly increased taxation after the war.

"But," says New York Commerce and Finance, which presents an elaborate and carefully-compiled article concerning the financial situation in Europe, "what if they don't get an indemnity?"

"There is," continues Commerce and Finance, "an Italian proverb, Sospetto licencia fede, which, liberally translated, means 'Suspicion dismisses faith.' It would seem as if suspicion were growing in Germany. It was announced that the first war loan was granted without opposition. Then came a report that three Socialists had voted against the second loan. Now we are told that nineteen voted against the last one and that twenty-two others refrained from voting. Atop of this comes a remarkable article printed in Vorwaerts. Surely the editor of Vorwaerts will get into trouble for publishing it. The writer points out that with interest charges the colossal sums required for pensions for war survivors and their dependents Germany will be faced with an expenditure of at least $625,000,000 a year more than before the war. Then what will it be with more war loans? It is a notorious fact, he points out, that before the war the Imperial financial conditions caused grave difficulties. For ten years one financial trick followed another and the treasury was always on the lookout for new sources of revenue. He fears the tremendous burden of taxation will cripple German industry. What are things leading to? he asks."

There is news now in the dispatches of a movement for an increase of taxation in the German states. In Baden the Diet has passed a bill increasing the income tax 20 per cent. on incomes above $600. Practically no one escapes. Germany is plunging, if she has not already plunged, into bankruptcy, and it looks as if the allies would accompany her if the war shall last another year.

"However much the Germans have sinned," continues Commerce and Finance, "there is no justification for the declaration in the House of Commons of the president of the British Board of Trade that so far as commerce is concerned Germany is a beaten nation and it is for the British to see that German commerce does not recover."

Even if Germany shall be beaten, would it not be the height of folly for the British to endeavor to keep German commerce prostrate? There is no profit to other nations in a nation bankrupt. Great Britain has much to gain from a prosperous Germany but not so much from a prostrate Germany. The people of the world may desire to shackle militaristic Germany, but not industrial or commercial Germany. The commerce of the world belongs to the nation that serves the world best.

The president of the British Board of Trade has heretofore given evidence of narrow vision and unacquaintance with trade. One of his official reports with regard to the cotton business dealt with cotton in tons. The basis of measurement in cotton is the bale. For the president of the British Board of Trade not to know this about one of the leading articles of British trade was to display ignorance, and his declaration about keeping German commerce stifled was an evidence of blind passion.

"The world wants to share all the good it can with Germany and get rid of all the bad. There are unpleasant recrudescences from wars that are not settled right."

This war has been too terrible to run the risk of any renewal through such a savage and spiteful design as is outlined by the president of the British Board of Trade.

EFFECT OF WAR ON LITERATURE.

Albert Noyes, the English poet, is not well pleased because there is a practical side to American university training. He says that art and literature do not receive their share of attention from the American college man. He wants "the student of botany to know the essence of the stars, the student of astronomy to comprehend the beauty of the flowers, and the student of engineering to study literature and art so that he may understand the heart of his fellow men."

That is all very beautiful on the part of Mr. Noyes. It is just as sweet as it can be. But will it help the young man whose life is to be passed in a conservatory cultivating the pistils of a gladiolus or a convolvulus to know the distance in miles feet and inches between Mars and Venus when Teutonic Mars is chasing a Belgian Venus? Will it aid a Lick observatory official to know when to water roses and when to fertilize lilies? Must a young engineer be able to criticise an essay of Emerson, a poem by Tennyson and a philippic by the big Bull Moose, and to tell the difference between the atmosphere and the tone of a painting by Raphael or Rubens and that of a drawing by The Times cartoonist, in order to know where to place his theodolite and how to measure a straight line in a direction different from that of its length?

Mr. Noyes says that the effect of the European war upon the literature of Great Britain and the continent "will either destroy the decadent tendency toward pessimism in European writing today and give literature a fresh start in Europe, or it will kill modern literary effort there entirely, and will place in the hands of Americans the future of the literature of the world."

The last will happen, war or no war. Sure!

Just What He Wanted.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat:] "Will you let me off this afternoon, sir?" asked a clerk in a dry goods store. "My wife wants me to beat some carpets."

"Couldn't possibly do it," said the boss.

OUR SCHOOL SYSTEM FOR MEXICO.

[CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES]
BY ELISEO GARCIA,

Chief of Mexican Student Teachers in the United States; Principal of the Normal School for Boys of Mexico; Formerly Chief of Department of Primary Education in Mexico.

WITH the reopening in January of Mexico's public schools after the annual vacation, we have 120 teachers who have now been trained in the public school system of the United States. All, or nearly all of them, will be placed in primary schools newly established in the rural districts of Mexico. These American trained teachers will devote themselves to districts which, hitherto, have been wholly lacking in school facilities, and they will give part of their time to the instruction of those among the other 3000 teachers who have not enjoyed the advantage of study here.

The task of founding a national educational system, which is of such supreme importance to Mexico, upon so slender a foundation as has hitherto existed, called for the earliest and most careful attention of the President. It is significant of President Carranza's aims for our people as well as of his comprehension of the United States that, a year ago, he chose this country—the country which of all republics in the world can revolutionize its policies without a revolution—as the field of study for a representative group of teachers, whom he sent here for a course of observation and study at the government's expense.

President Carranza has repeatedly declared his intention of sending, ultimately, all of Mexico's primary school teachers to the United States for a student sojourn, even though the government can afford to make their stay no longer than two or three months. It is apparent, therefore, that the public schools designed for Mexico by the government, if they be not wholly modeled upon the public school system of the United States, will be largely influenced by it.

In the Federal District, comprising Mexico City and its neighboring towns, there are about 350 primary schools; one preparatory school corresponding to an American high school, and two normal schools, one for boys and one for girls. The primary schools carry pupils to the fourth grade and primary education is obligatory on all children under existing laws. In practice, however, primary education has failed in its obligatory aspect because the Federal District, possessing only some 350 schools, requires at least 600. The problem of school congestion is even more baffling in Mexico than it is in the large cities of the United States.

Outside of the Federal District there are, on the whole, very few schools. The land owners controlling those areas have been as consistently opposed to education for their peons as are the authorities in Russia. When a progressive hacendado desired to establish a school at his own expense his neighbors persuaded him to abandon the idea.

There are, indeed, in the outlying districts a number of parochial schools, identified with the churches and maintained by them. Those schools, however, are devoted largely to religious instruction and do not satisfy the needs of a truly popular educational system in Mexico. The seminaries and colleges, maintained by the church and the religious orders, are of higher quality in their field than are the parochial schools; but their benefits go exclusively to the children of the wealthy.

The actual condition of popular education in Mexico can be comprehended from the fact that 80 per cent. of the people are illiterate. President Carranza has appreciated fully the social and political consequences attendant upon this general condition of ignorance. He realizes that a people can preserve their institutions of freedom and self government in peace and prosperity only when they are endowed with the essentials of a modern public education. The education of the Mexican people is a vital reality, an imperative political need.

Given peace throughout Mexico, we hope to have our public school system universal within at least ten years. Industrial and vocational instruction will be not only an integral part of the system but also a feature very much emphasized. The government's expectation is that, with a people able to read, write and cipher and trained to work at useful trades, the dissemination of knowledge will progress rapidly. Profitable industry will eliminate both the idleness and the dissatisfaction which, under existing industrial conditions, have been the prime incentives to disorder. Mexico hopes to attain to peace and prosperity through the education of the masses of its people.

HARD WORK.

It's hard to keep smiling when troubles are piling their weight on your neck till it's sprained; it's hard to keep grinning when others are winning the prizes for which you have strained. It's hard to be cheery on days wet and dreary, when everything near you looks drowned; it's hard to be sunny when all of your money is sunk in a hole in the ground. It's hard to keep laughing when wearily quaffing the flagon of grief to the dregs, it's harder to frolic when you have the colic, or gout at the end of your legs. But how will it aid you, when woe has waylaid you, to rumble and grumble and swear? There's nothing that's healing in kicking the ceiling, or biting the rungs from a chair. It's hard to look pleasant when anguish is present, and yet it is strictly worth while; not all of your scowling and fussing and growling can show off your grit like a smile.

What is a Flirt?

[New York Times:] Three bachelors, fat and bald and ugly, jeered over cigars and nightcap at the girl who flirts.

"A flirt," said the first bachelor, unbuttoning the bottom button of his waistcoat to give his stomach more room, "a flirt is a girl who wants all love's roses without any of its thorns. She ends with nothing to show but scratches."

The second bachelor, patting his bald spot reflectively, said:

"A flirt is a girl who has the hobby of luring men to the heights of happiness in order to throw them over."

"A flirt," said the third bachelor, ringing for another drink, "is a species of human carrot that has an irresistible fascination for two-legged donkeys."

About the Open Cut.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There seems to have been some "skirmishing" in Bunker Hill war while the enemy made a "narrow escape" of having his fortifications stormed by Gen. Topham and a "retreat" of a bombastic fire from Gen. Gen. Topham was nobly supported by Gens. Langdon and [illegible].

But, seriously, we think Mr. Topham as a Councilman has been more than fair to the opponents. He has given them publications. This sending out of [illegible] is an unprecedented action in the history of our city's improvements, and has been to issue the ordinance of intention, and allow thirty days thereafter for the filing of complaints from the opponents or obstructionists. And we, who realize how much the city needs the open cut, and who deplore any delay, are not finding fault with the Councilmen, nor crying "unfair." We have faith in our Council, the Council we have had since the last election. We believe it is going to do the fair, honorable and right thing toward the city, according to the pledge of office.

In a recent issue of an evening paper one of the opponents of the open cut made the statement that the [illegible]-year bond against the property in the assessment district would make it difficult to secure loans on property, or renew old mortgages which usually expire in three years. He apparently overlooked the fact that the increased value of property, which wiser heads than his say will be two or three, or more, times its present appraisement, should make it an easier matter to secure loans.

Assessed values and condition will prevail as long as the hill remains, as this agitation has been going on for years, with increasing volume. This state of affairs has not only retarded, but has killed improvement, both on the hill and in the north end section. If the north end could bring back as it has, it will be impossible to renew the mortgages [illegible]. We cannot afford to ignore the better part of the city, because the city is back of it. We cannot afford to ignore the west, because there is where the city gets its living.

Bunker Hill must come down, sooner or later, and the sooner the easier.

"Jim Crow" Cars.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In yesterday's paper an "Old Resident" takes issue with an impassioned appeal for "Jim Crow" cars on the local lines. Inasmuch as he has been "sat on" by colored persons, crowded off seats by them, and generally insulted by the whole colored race. This "old resident" should carry a nurse with him to protect him from the colored brothers.

I am not a negro, but I do like to play, and to hear a tirade like that gave vent to gives me a large-sized mirth. How about the large, fat, self-styled "respectable white person" who is about as obnoxious as the "old resident" claims the whole colored race is? Who of us have not been elbowed aside, so that the well-to-do white man could get on the car first, and get his choice of seats? Is not a "Jim Crow" car for him? Should we invite him to our house?

"Old Resident," you should forget your petty grudge against the colored race. At least forget it to such an extent that you are not blinded to the faults of your own race. Don't be like the man who smokes his pipe and blows the fumes in the faces of women who so forget themselves as to ride on the front platform of the car.

Negroes on Cars.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am proud to have a newspaper in our city that will publish a letter that has no prejudice attached to it, such as you published in yesterday's issue.

While I have not been an admirer of the policies of your paper, I commend you that it is willing to do what is right for the majority at large. Furthermore, your worthy paper has brought the facts to the front by publishing of the letter on "Jim Crow" cars, signed by "An Old Resident."

My feelings are the same as his, and even more to boot, for I have lived on the Watts and Hooper-avenue cars, and the matter stands today, there is nothing but nigger specials, as he would like, through the columns of your paper, to get in touch with "An Old Resident" and form a society whereby we can get the Pacific Electric and Los Angeles Railway to put on a car for white folks.

This transportation question has been a bugbear in our neighborhood for years, and the question protected by law, but has never been brought to the public at large. The insults that one has to put up with from a northern nigger, especially a woman, let alone the propositions made in the community when they settle, they will heed the [illegible].

When I bought my home I thought I was living in the good old U.S.A., but at this time it seems I am in the heart of Africa.

Now, sir, I am in hearty accord with "An Old Resident," and I appeal to the people at large to regulate this matter, as I want to get back to the United States and see what a white man looks like.

Race Prejudice.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I notice in Sunday Times a letter from "An Old Resident" in a city that in Los Angeles every one man who wishes to [illegible] all by establishing "Jim Crow" cars. It is true he is ashamed to sign his name. The arguments are horrible; the real object in view is to gratify and give vent to the idea of race prejudice. This is about the basest in the list of unmanly cowardly manifestations that the human mind has ever conceived.

The excuses he makes are that the cars have crowded in to get a seat. Perhaps they have; so has he remarked that he has seen fat, which greatly outnumber surely no race nor people monopoly in that regard. Then he says they emit offensively. Well, I have a fairly good sense of smell myself, but I have never in my life discovered any trace of odor in any colored people with whom it is a fact it is very rare I have been in the South. They have been cherished as a class, petted by the endless [illegible] of tobacco users, and [illegible] (very rare) of [illegible], white or black, have never remarked anything otherwise offensive in fellow-passengers.

There is one thing that, in view of the world in arms, it might be worth while to consider before we hear more insults on these American citizens. It is this: With one exception there is no race in our polymeric America that has not many members who are potential traitors—who put other countries before ours in their secret or open feelings. This is especially true of many of those who now are loudest in their outcry about "the hyphen;" many of them have not even a nyphen to connect them in spirit to the land they live in and where they even rear their children as far as possible in the same aloof and hostile attitude. The one exception is the negro race. They are Americans, and loyal to the last individual, and if we ever get into a great war there is one thing the magnanimous whites will surely allow to the negroes—to die for our common native land. We will not be disappointed; with all the lies and insults that have been heaped on them no one has ever called their courage and loyalty in question.

Every American ought to be proud of these Americans who have made such progress in the last fifty years and whose blood will flow for us like water if we have to call them to arms to fight shoulder to shoulder in our common defense.

PHOTOGRAPHS and chalk will play an important part in suits filed in the Superior Court yesterday by Norman Dosset and John Hite of Pomona, against J. A. Hunt, a Pomona capitalist, for $20,200 damages as the result of an automobile-motorcycle smash in which Mr. Hite received a broken left leg and other injuries.

The accident occurred at Third and D streets, Lordsburg, December 13, last. According to the complaint, Mr. Hunt, accompanied by his wife, cut the corner and drove his automobile to the left side of the street, colliding with the motorcycle driven by Mr. Hite about ten feet from the curb. Riding with Mr. Hite was Mr. Dosset, who says he was dragged thirty-five feet, knocked senseless and received a broken leg and several cuts and bruises.

One of Mr. Hite's friends, who was following on another motorcycle, witnessed the collision. With the aid of about 125 Lordsburg citizens, including E. M. Pressel, who says he was nearly run down when, as he alleges, Mr. Hunt turned sharply toward the left side of the street, secured chalk and lime and marked the tracks of the two vehicles and had them photographed within fifteen minutes after the accident. It is set out that, after striking Mr. Hite's motorcycle, Mr. Hunt drove on without stopping.

According to Detective Fariss, Mr. Hunt will testify that the motorcycle was going more than thirty miles per hour and that he made the sharp swing to the left in endeavoring to avoid a collision.

WOMEN'S COURT OPENS.

Police Judge and Feminine Advisers are There, but the Seven Female Prisoners are Absent, Five of Them Having Jumped Bail.

The women's court of Los Angeles was officially opened yesterday afternoon by Judge White of the Police Court in a large sunny room at the Normal Hill Center. About twenty-five prominent professional and club women, who are to be members of an advisory board and play an active part in the court work, were present and discussed the work which is being undertaken to solve the problem of their more unfortunate sisters. Unforseen circumstances prevented a judicial session being held, as of the seven offenders who had been expected to fill the docket, five jumped their bail, and the remaining two demanded jury trials.

The object of the court is to remove the women from the jail atmosphere. Speaking of the conditions in the woman's quarters there, Judge White said they are a blot on the name of Los Angeles, and Probation Officer Barton described the woman's ward as being the vilest school of crime in the city.

The women's court is to assist in bringing about the establishment of a women's industrial home, to care for unfortunates until they are able to establish themselves in legitimate pursuits, according to Judge White.

Those who will assist him in the disposal of the cases are: Attorney Georgia P. Bullock, who will be unofficial associate judge of the court; Dr. Placide Gardner, who has volunteered her services as court physician; Policewoman Bowen, bailiff; Mrs. L. W. Coombs, adviser.

INSPECT POSTOFFICE.

Part of Job is to Count All the Postage Stamps.

Eleven postoffice inspectors, marshaled by Postoffice Inspector Charles S. Ranger, yesterday began the annual inspection of the local postoffice establishment, including the main office and the eighty-seven substations and branches in this city. All of the accounts will be checked up, and, if anything needs correction, recommendations will be made the Postmaster-General.

Another part of the work that will require some time, will be the counting of the postage stamps, there being $1,500,000 worth alone in the main office, and the supplies of the substations and branches run all the way from $300 to $25,000 each, the latter figure being the value of supplies on hand at Station C, on South Los Angeles street. The work will require a week or ten days. S. H. Morse, inspector in charge, is here overlooking the job.

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

WITHOUT the slightest ostentation and guarding well the secret from their legions of friends, Dr. M. Louise Davis and Leon Caspar Long, D.D.S., quietly plighted their troth at the Hymeneal altar Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, and left immediately for a brief honeymoon trip. Dr. M. Evangeline Jordon, with whom the popular young bride has been professionally associated the last year and a half, and members of the family were alone privileged to witness the interesting marriage.

The accomplished, young bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Davis of Prescott, Ariz., wore a handsome frock of electric blue taffeta and chiffon, and a stunning Pauline picture hat. Dr. Meyers read the nuptial service.

Before coming to Los Angeles, the bride was a society bud of Prescott, and in the space of time she has been a resident of this city has endeared herself to legions of friends in the professional, social and club world, all of whom will learn of the romance with special delight. She is one of the charter members of the select organization of attorneys, doctors and dentists who have lately formed the Professional Woman's Club, made up of some of the brightest minds in the Southland, and is active in numerous other woman's clubs as well.

The marriage will not take the bride from her profession, a specialist in children's dentistry, for the happy pair are to continue their residence in Los Angeles, where Dr. Long is also prominently identified in the business world.

Upon their return from their wedding journey, Dr. and Mrs. Long will be the recipients of many post-nuptial courtesies.

His Birthday.

Mrs. William Tremaine Wyatt of Coronado street, well known for hospitality, gave an elaborate party on Sunday evening, in celebration of Mr. Wyatt's natal day, an event which is never allowed to pass unnoticed. This year about twenty-five couples were bidden to attend.

The pretty home was attractive in greenery and a wealth of pink flowers, together with innumerable pink tapers contained in crystal holders. The mammoth birthday cake, surrounded in tiny pink tapers, was decorated in pink rose design, with buds and full blown flowers and foliage entwined in confectionery.

The trio of beautiful children of the hosts—Harry, Christeen and Elizabeth Bernhardt—assisted their mother by distributing balloons of bright hue, snap favors and other merry-making devices, with serpentine ribbons galore, and Mme. Wyatt also received. A full orchestra was in attendance, and dancing and music gave added enjoyment. Supper was served later.

Mr. Wyatt was equal to the occasion, and the embodiment of geniality to the guests who showered felicitations upon him and expressed the wish that they be of the party each year in future.

Back from Northern Trip.

Miss Helen Deming of Chicago, who, with her mother, Mrs. F. L. Deming, came to Los Angeles about Thanksgiving time for the winter, has just returned from a trip to Bellingham, Wash., where she has been visiting relatives. The Demings make their home at the Beverly Hills Hotel, where they have with them this year Miss H. Grey, a sister of Mrs. Deming, who is also from Chicago.

Luncheon and Theater.

A delightful luncheon compliment of Friday, followed by a matinee at the Orpheum, had for its hostess Miss Lenore Roeder, at the Gates Hotel. Her guests numbered Mrs. Read Alter and Miss Cleary of Grand Island, Neb., Mrs. Fred Reynard, Miss Maud Kramer and Miss Winifred Chadwick.

To Winter in Southland.

Mrs. T. L. Rogers of Brookline, Mass., arrived here Sunday on her way to Santa Barbara to spend the winter with her son, Charles T. Rogers. Mr. Rogers met his mother here and they will remain at the Beverly Hills Hotel for several days before going on to Santa Barbara.

A la Bohemia.

The first of a series of out west parties was held Saturday evening at one of the Plaza restaurants, amid real bohemian atmosphere, and it is prophecy that this was but the beginning of a literary fellowship that will rival the old days of San Francisco's golden era of writers. Charles F. Lummis, the founder of Out West was the guest of honor, and charmed the company with his brilliant satire and clever stories, augmented by witty repartee from others surrounding the board. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lummis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Edholm, Mrs. Edward Rankin Brainerd, Mrs. D. C. McCan, Mrs. Frank Garrett, Mrs. Sidel Lawrence, Mrs. Alma Whitaker, Mrs. Dorothy Johnston, Mrs. John A. Wallace, Mrs. Lannie Haynes Martin, the present editor of Out West; Mrs. E. F. Clanton, Mrs. Belinda Carriel, Miss Beatrice Krombach, Messrs. Ghent, Anthony Anderson, Herbert Burdett, Elmer Gray, Frank N. Rust and Cruse Carriel, publisher of the magazine.

Already others have asked to attend the next dinner, which will be an event of the next fortnight, and many will take friends.

At Arrowhead.

Miss Jessie Fraser, Miss Lillian Smith, Miss Alice Nelson and Mrs. M. F. Brady have been enjoying Arrowhead for a week.

Angelenos in Monterey.

Winter visitors in increasing numbers are arriving at Del Monte, the Monterey Bay resort, and among Los Angeles people stopping there this week are included William A. Barnhill, Mrs. F. H. Sheldon, E. P. Bryan, F. E. Culver, B. H. Crocheron, Robert Allison and Mr. and Mrs. M. Elsasser.

Visit New York.

Registering at the Hotel McAlpine from Los Angeles during the past week have been George W. R. Martin, W. Curtis Rapp, Mrs. W. W. Buckingham, Samuel Wigney, Mrs. M. Allen, M. S. Mendelsohn, Mrs. Maude F. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Adolf W. Rettig, Andrew L. Johnson and Mrs. Grace L. Tryon.

For Mrs. Pitner.

Miss Ina Pitner of No. 40 St. James Park entertained Saturday afternoon in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Paul Jerome Pitner of Pasadena. Mrs. Pitner was formerly Miss Ruby Hortense Chapin, prominent in New York and Newport society.

Mrs. Ernest B. Hoag of Pasadena presided at the tea table; Mrs. Roy Hornidge, Miss Louise Ehrmann, the Misses Mildred and Harriet Morris, Mrs. Louis Rich, Miss Georgia Ruth Rich, Miss Maude Watters, Miss Margaret James, Miss Caroline Wood, and Miss Elizabeth Wood, assisting.

The table was decorated with smilax, violets and Cecile Brunner rosebuds, the same scheme of decoration being carried out through all the rooms. Over 100 ladies welcomed Mrs. Pitner to sunny California during the afternoon among whom being Mrs. Alvin Carpenter, Miss Frieda Peycke, Mrs. Maude Davis Baker, Miss Baker, Mrs. Garfield Jones, Mrs. Fred Carpenter, Miss Catherine Gibson, Mrs. Myra W. Hales of Philadelphia, Mrs. W. W. Johnston, Miss Adelle Humphreys, Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. J. H. Francis and Mrs. Roy Reppey, Mr. Francis and Mr. Reppey accompanied their wives.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitner are at home to their friends at their residence, at No. 692 Canyon drive, Pasadena.

COUNTY EDITORS MEET.

At the annual meeting, held in the Union League Club yesterday noon, the Los Angeles County Press Association listened to an address by Franklin Hickborn of Santa Clara, and then elected the following officers for the new year: C. C. Maltman of El Monte, president; H. G. Palmer of Hollywood, vice-president; Jay E. Randall of Los Angeles, secretary-treasurer. The association is now twelve years old and includes in its membership the sixty-four newspapers in Los Angeles county, outside the city of Los Angeles.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL WORKERS.

The Los Angeles Graded Union of Sunday-school Workers will meet in Berean Hall, Temple Auditorium, tomorrow morning at 9:45 o'clock. The adult uniform lesson will be taught by Dr. Frederick Farr, and at 11 o'clock there will begin a series of illustrated lectures on story telling, by Mrs. Sophia Lyon Faks, formerly a teacher in the Teachers' College, New York. All persons interested in Sunday-school work are invited.

JOY VEHICLE AT THE MASON.

String of Laughs in "It Pays to Advertise."

Light Farce Makes Hit with Large Audience.

Many Interesting Features at Local Show Houses.

BY HENRY CHRISTEEN WARNACK

It takes all kinds of shows to make a world. One of them is at the Mason this week. I am not trying to damn it with faint praise when I say that "It Pays to Advertise" will give you a long string of laughs at night and that you will be utterly unable to locate a single reason for your hilarity the following morning.

Somehow it happens upon this sorrowful planet that a great many things which impress us while they are with us, cannot be remembered when they are gone. You know lots of persons quite intimately whose features you are never able to recall. They are just like that and you cannot explain.

It will often happen that a new play will get numerous curtain calls at its premier performance, yet the show will not outlive its first week. It simply cannot bear the acid test of the cold gray morning after.

There are other shows which cannot be remembered but which go right on drawing the people and the money because their only business is to get a laugh and they get it. They are not calculated to make anybody feel or think. An idea in one of them would be as much out of place as humor in a dictionary. Their sole purpose is to chase the glooms and get the dollars. They do chase the glooms, while you are there, and they keep the dollars after you are gone. You have been given mental morphine in the form of laughing gas for the three hours that you are in the theater and, when you come out of it, you realize nothing has happened.

When you were 3 years old the photographer did exactly the same thing to you by turning the jumping jack out of the box at the moment he wanted you to look at the camera. You laughed and he took you in, smile and all.

Half of the popularity of some mighty big ministers and politicians lies in the fact that they keep in stock some half a dozen lectures entirely unclogged by gray matter. These are as innocent of thought as the Los Angeles River is of fish and, for that matter, of water, too, at least nine months out of the year.

It is a mistake to say that "a little nonsense, now and then, is relished by the best of men." The truth is that a little of the solid stuff can be forced upon the public occasionally, if sugar-coated by many remarkable situations and handled by brilliant artists, whereas a very mediocre company can bring us second-rate nonsense and we are immediately entertained.

STAGE SUCCESS.

"It Pays to Advertise" is one of those farces which contribute nothing to literature and nothing to the drama, but which are screaming stage successes. It is put forth by Cohan and Harris and they come pretty nearly being a sure-fire combination in every enterprise. George Cohan says that he would rather risk rejecting forty good plays than produce one failure and he comes pretty close to living up to this motto.

The present offering is a sort of cross between "A Pair of Sixes" and "The New Henrietta," holding the nonsense and mirth of the first and having pretty much the character and story of the last. It is replete with very old ideas, presented in an entirely new manner, and, if it were a little less thin-waisted as to story and played with a little more speed, it would be a farce ideal. As it is, it is highly amusing and one of the biggest audiences of the season laughed their way through it.

In a way, it is a tired business man's show about business instead of girls. There are two women in it who count, and three men. One of the women is a peach, and both are clever.

Adele Rolland is the peach and she is the one thing in the show that will be remembered.

Elsa Frederic is the sort of bogus countess for whom every man (on the stage) falls at least once in his sad young career.

Elmer Grandin is an old soap manufacturer who has a business rival and a son who won't work. As a comedy actor he is a shining light, quite as funny as either of the Figmans, and having a great big engine of force locked up somewhere in his colossal system. He has the quality called magnetism in a woman and stage presence or atmosphere in a man.

Grandin (Cyrus Martin) persuades his private secretary to get his boy to go to work, and the boy starts a fake soap business which gets to be real because he employs a live wire as his advertising manager. Harold Vermilye, the son, is a much better actor than his choice of stage names would indicate and he has gorgeous, red-necktied support in Frank Allworth, the man who starts something he can't stop by using printer's ink.

"It Pays to Advertise" is not the best farce on record and many plays have had the luck to be better acted, but it holds more than a hundred good laughs and is acted well enough to be heartily enjoyed.

Road Show.

CLEVER BILL.

MARY SHAW SCORES IN PLAYLET. OTHER HITS.

By Grace Kingsley.

A delicious playlet of the light and brilliant quality of a George Bernard Shaw comedy, is the offering of Mary Shaw as a part of the road show at the Orpheum this week. Miss Shaw's brilliant comedy methods are skilfully applied to the clever playlet, and not only is the act the headliner, but it is, by several thousand feet, above any headliner which the Orpheum has shown for some time.

The plot is diaphanous. A young bride and her husband seek lodgings, and the man learns that the woman letting the lodgings is his former wife. It is in the lines and the manner of their handling that the principal merit lies. These and the contrast of the cynical amusement of the former wife to the gushiness of the bride, whom the man has not told of his former marriage because the bride is "an Episcopalian from Canada." The situation gives the former wife a chance to grill her ex-husband, which she does with cynical adroitness. "It's not a case of being happy with a man, this marriage game," says the ex-wife (Miss Shaw.) "It's just being able to live with him."

It is, indeed, a delight to view a sketch, neither heavy with melodrama nor impossibly farcical, but a sparkling playlet like the present one, played with exactly the right comedy touch. There is a momentary situation which skirts the melodramatic, when the young wife finds out the truth of the situation through a blundering servant, but the situation is skilfully carried off in the correct comedy vein by Grace Fisher. Frank Ferguson plays the husband acceptably, and Ida Mulle does a very clever bit of character work as the maid.

"A regular army man" is Victor Morley in a musical comedy sketch. The fascinating Victor appears on dress parade in pajamas and "asses" his superior officer. The sketch is forsooth more musical and comedy, however, the boys' voices showing up to excellent advantage in some very catchy melodies. The sketch having a camp setting, there are no "chickens" in it. Carol Parson is the only girl, but she is pretty enough and wears gowns enough to be a whole host of show girls in herself.

Stuart Barnes is as funny as ever in his monologue, which consists principally in kidding courtship and marriage—not a novel idea, by any means—but done in Barnes's own original way, and with some droll facial expressions. He made a great hit yesterday.

Florrie Millership wears a jewel-monogrammed stocking, and offers some ingenue ditties with coquettish demureness. She is extremely pretty and while she is using some of Nan Halperin's songs, she gives them a touch all her own. She has hair that looks too good to be true, but lets it down at the end to show you it really grows on her head.

The Crisps have some unique dances done with much grace, among them the Wooden Shoe Tommy Atkins dance. In the girl's coster song, she says: "He comes to buy my flowers, but only to get my smile." Anybody who looks at the flowers would guess that. They are the droopingest specimens the house has seen for some time.

Freeman and Dunham are nifty boys in some songs, the best of which is a delectable rag.

Mme. Donald-Ayer and Eddie Foy continue to please.

VARIETY SHOWS AND THE MOVIES.

Pantages.

There are two real acts on the Pantages bill this week, and the audience knows it. They laughed their eyes out at John and Mae Burke's wartime fun anthology, "The Ragtime Soldier," and they gave "Every Day in the Year" the kind of chuckling appreciation that is in this case, more flattering than loud merriment. The rest of the bill is piffle, more or less.

The first part of John Burke's "Ragtime Soldier" contains the cream of the best war stories collectable from the time of the first war on, and including the mother-in-law series, and the Ford peace incident. For the second part of his turn, Burke makes good the "ragtime" part of the title, first partially dissecting a piano to take the harmony out. The "He was a Soldier, Too" song makes a great little opener for the act. When you consider that there is none of the verbal slapstick in his fun, and that he doesn't spring any of the "I Didn't Raise My Boy"—stuff in his songs either, you can understand why the audience hungrily demanded more until the next act choked them off.

"Every Day in the Year" is an almost tragedy of commuter life, crammed full of Willard Mack's inimitible slang and fun. It tells of the morning rush of John Workwell to the train, assisted by his wife, and shows how he could not leave, after all. Lee Morgan and Beryl Gray get every drop of humor out of the sketch that was put there (going some!) and squeeze out a little more for good measure.

For the "stuffing" of the bill, there are four female contortionists who present some difficult feats in a gaudy setting; a naive dancing violinist, Naomi, who sings a trifle; a "singing comedienne" whose small bit of "singing" is a bit too much; a musical act, "The Girls of the Orient," that gets over with the able exertions of a good comedian and the orchestra drummer, and a most exciting installment of "The Red Circle."

Hippodrome.

"Father's Way," in which May Nannery is appearing at the Hippodrome this week, is easily the hit of the bill. It makes you both laugh and cry, and is altogether a very charming and human little sketch.

Josephine Gassman and her pickaninnies are winning the hearts of the crowd with their amusing songs and plantation dances. Bill Bailey is a bronze replica of Charlotte Greenwood so far as long comedy arms are concerned.

The Five Verdis convert the stage into a veritable floral bower and extract music from exotic blossoms as well as from strings and brass.

Ames and Corbett open the show with novelty dances, and Lottie James, buoyant and buxom, with Longfeather, who is white, though an Indian, present a song and piano skit.

Grace Darnley, who apparently hasn't a bone in her body, does some good acrobatic stuff, and George Weiss offers a budget of songs and dialect under the sobriquet of "the enchilada man."

Republic.

A sensational first-run photodrama on the sex question, and six big acts of Sullivan and Considine vaudeville combine to make a strong bill at the Republic Theater this week. The photoplay headliner, "Souls Enchained," starring Lyda Borelli, who achieved fame in "The Naked Truth," is full of big stipulations. The variety headliner, "The Preacher and the Man," with Charles Terris and company, treats the bigger problems of life with almost startlingly direct frankness, and culminates in a gigantic climax.

Others are Madona, the nifty athlete, as he calls himself, who furnishes the acrobatic turn in the bill; Cook and Oatman, refined harmony singers and comedians, who have a new line of chatter and music; Amelia Von L. and Drew, who prove themselves artists in the line of toe ballet and acrobatic dancing. Bill Dooley, a versatile comedian, a strong laugh-getter, and Mumford and Thompson, with a well-named act "Humorosities."

Altogether the bill is one of the best that has been seen at the Republic for some time.

Tally's Broadway.

"The Great Divide," being shown at Tally's Broadway this week, is one of the more beautiful in scenic standpoint, the beauty on the stage, the heart story being the real of Arizona, where the taken.

You Forget There Is An Engine

The sensation which you experience when riding in the Eight-Cylinder Cadillac tends to make you forget the presence of the engine. It is a sense of buoyance and of being borne along by some means other than mechanical.

With the abundant flow of uninterrupted power, the super-smoothness of its Eight-Cylinder Engine, the pliant springs, the deep, soft upholstery, it is aptly said: "The Cadillac carries its own good road with it."

Make it a point to ride in the Cadillac Eight within the week.

FRANK CHANCE AFTER THESE MEN FROM CUBS.

Right There.

CUBS WANTED BY SERAPHS.

Frank Chance Wires Asking for Three Players.

Fisher, McLarry and Ed Schorr are the Men.

Manager Joe Tinker is a Very Busy Person.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 10.—Even if Joe Tinker hasn't been officially appointed manager of the new Cubs, that he is working briskly on the job was indicated today when he announced he had already secured waivers on thirteen of the old Cub players and hinted that he had practically disposed of part of that number.

Of course, as soon as the Cub stock is handed over to Charles Weeghman and his North Side associates, Tinker will be the official manager, but as far as business goes he has been recognized as manager now for some days.

CHANCE INTERESTED.

One of the minor-league managers who is after some of the surplus material of the Cubs is Frank Chance, the former Peerless Leader of the West Siders, who is now part owner and manager of the Los Angeles club. Chance wired Tinker today asking for three men—Shortstop Bob Fisher, Second Baseman Polly McLarry and Pitcher Ed Schorr. Tinker wouldn't admit that he had waivers on all three players, but there seemed little doubt that he had them on McLarry and Schorr. He talked as if some club in the National League had put in a claim for Fisher.

WILL STAY.

There are fifteen old Cubs who are sure to stick, as they possess iron-bound contracts. The contracts of Fisher, McLarry and Schorr expired at the close of last season. The latter had a Cub contract in the spring, but was turned over to the Terre Haute club for the season and did such grand work there that Chance wants him for the Pacific Coast club.

As Tinker has no room for any of the three players wanted by Chance, it looks as if they will be turned over to Los Angeles just as soon as Weeghman and his partners get possession of the Cub stock and have undoubted authority to take such action.

It was made known tonight that Manager Tinker also had turned over to Manager Chance of Los Angeles Bobby Fisher, shortstop, and Polly McLarry, a utility fielder, used last year by the Chicago Nationals. Fisher last year led in batting for the Cubs, having a percentage of .293.

DUNDEE IS BETTER THAN JIM MURPHY

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—At the National Athletic Club tonight Johnnie Dundee outpointed Jimmy Murphy in a startling six-round bout. Dundee was master at all stages and had the crowd wild in every round. Murphy outweighed Dundee seven pounds, but that availed him nothing. The attendance broke all records at this clubhouse, as did the receipts also.

VENICE SCHOOL IS GOING AFTER HONORS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Jan. 10.—The Poly High School here is going after honors this year in baseball, practice having already begun. Today in spite of the intermittent showers the boys were out for a while. The players predict that Venice will have a good chance to lead in the championship games among high schools of the same class this year. A strong bid will be made for the games with high schools with good teams.

WEAVER RETURNS FROM TRIP TO SOUTHERN CITY

Bob Weaver returned from San Diego yesterday and says that there are ten or twelve clubs there that want to become affiliated with the A.A.U. The subject will be discussed at the A.A.U. meeting tonight.

Weaver would like to see San Diego set a separate association of the A.A.U., but if it cannot he will welcome the clubs into the Southern Pacific, and appoint a commissioned to take active charge there.

WILL TRY TO COVER LOSS.

The Pasadena Tournament of Roses Committee will probably make the Occidental relays, adopted by the A.A.U., an aftermath of New Year's. They are planning a big sport carnival for Washington's Birthday and want the A.A.U. to give the relays to them to go along with the horsemanship stunts and pushball games and all the rest.

The reason for the carnival of sports is an effort to make up the loss of money at the Brown-Washington State game. Rain kept the crowd away New Year's and the Tournament of Roses found themselves in the hole.

BELLAH WANTS STANFORD JOB.

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 10.—Sam Bellah, all-round athlete and world's champion pole vaulter, wants to coach Stanford's football team next season and has made application for the job. Bellah knows football like a book and as he also knows how to train athletes his friends here think he is qualified. As an anchor out to windward in case he fails to land the Stanford job, Bellah also has made similar application to the University of Washington.

John Veatch, former star quarter-miler at the University of Oregon and coach for the Washington High School athletes for the past several seasons, has turned down an offer to become coach of the Leland S. Stanford University track and field team. Inability to get away from his business was the reason.

POINT LOMA WINS ON BOTH COUNTS.

VISITING GOLFERS TAKE THE MEASURE OF ORANGE.

Collins is Only One on Vanquished Team to Win His Scratch Match. Nelson Barker of Southern Aggregation is Long-distance Shooter and may Become Star of Course.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The visiting Point Loma team won the league match on both counts from Orange county yesterday on the Balboa course. On scratch 4 to 1, on handicap 3 to 2.

Collins of Orange was the only man to win his scratch match. He played D. McKee of Point Loma, winning 3 to 1 and 2 and 1. Tubbs of Orange played Nelson Barker, who won the scratch 3 and 2, but lost the handicap 6 and 5. Charles Twist played Julian of Point Loma and was beaten 1 up on both counts. A. C. Twist played Reynolds of Point Loma and lost 6 and 5, and 2 and 1. V. Morgan of Point Loma beat E. B. Stanley of Orange 1 up on both counts.

So the Point Lomans were rewarded with deserved glory for their journey, and the Orangemen took their defeat with amiable aplomb.

Nelson Barker of Point Loma is a long distance player of whom great things are expected. He drives as long a ball as Morris Phillips, and is regarded as an acquisition in golf realms.

TINKER SENDS SCHOOR TO THE SERAPH TEAM.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Manager Tinker of the Amalgamated Chicago Federals and Nationals agreed today to permit Pitcher Ed Schoor to go to the Los Angeles team of the Pacific Coast League, which will be under the direction of Frank Chance, old leader of the Cubs. This carries out an offer made by President Thomas of the Chicago Nationals before the team was bought by Mr. Weeghman.

HEINIE WAGNER IS GIVEN HIS RELEASE.

BOSTON (Mass.) Jan. 10.—Heine Wagner, who, in his younger days was regarded as one of the greatest shortstops in major league baseball, was given his unconditional release by the Boston Americans today. Wagner had been with the Red Sox since 1906, but in recent years had been used only as a substitute. It was said that he might obtain a berth as manager in one of the minor leagues.

REGGIE BROWN WILL SERVE ANOTHER YEAR.

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Jan. 10.—The signing of a contract for another year's services by Reginald W. P. Brown, advisory coach, Harvard football team, was announced today. For more than twenty years Brown has been associated with football at Harvard.

DEFEAT MEASURE TO EMPOWER REFEREES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—A resolution permitting referees to render decisions in boxing bouts in this State was defeated at a meeting of the State Athletic Commission today.

GRAVE IS DUG FOR HATCHET.

California and Stanford are Closer than Ever.

Cards Seem Willing to Submit to Terms of Peace.

Students of Both Colleges to Cast Their Votes.

BERKELEY, Jan. 10.—Apparently California and Stanford are closer to an agreement now than they ever have been for the past year.

Charles Street, president of the California student body, is in receipt of a personal letter from Paul Wilson, president of the Stanford student body, in which Wilson states that the Stanford Rules Committee is willing to meet the California body at once.

IS READY.

This means that Stanford is practically willing to accede to the peace proposals submitted by the Alumni Committee. If this were not the case there would be no need of calling a meeting, since the sole question at issue is the freshman rule.

California will grant all restrictions asked for by Stanford, three in number, elimination of Davis Farm and affiliated college students from intercollegiate athletics, and an equalizing of scholarship requirements. This last is simply a question of how many "hours" are to be carried. In return Stanford will keep freshmen from competing in intercollegiate games.

TO TAKE VOTE.

It is reported here that Stanford students will vote on the proposals of their Alumni Committee this week, but is unofficially stated that everything is ready for the framing of an agreement at once. The California Rules Committee needs no further instructions from the student body, being now empowered to agree to all of Stanford's proposals if they are as outlined in the alumni recommendations.

The meeting of the agreement committees is tentatively set for next Monday night in San Francisco. Unless unexpected opposition develops, the gathering will result in the scheduling of a track meet, baseball series and regatta, and the signing of an agreement extending over several years.

There seems no prospect of signing an agreement for a football game, as faculty opposition to the American game is very strong at Stanford.

SERAPH DIRECTORS PUT MEETING OFF ONE WEEK.

Directors of the Los Angeles ball club met at Washington Park yesterday afternoon only to adjourn until next week. At that time it is said that officers will be elected.

The meeting was put off because Tom Darmody's stock has not been turned over to Frank Chance. Chance's official cognomen will be either vice-president or business manager.

MAHAN TO SHINE AT THE GAME OF HOCKEY.

BOSTON, Jan. 10.—Eddie Mahan will be installed on the Harvard hockey team as goal tender this week. This marks the fourth major sport that the football hero has dabbled with. He is said to be fast on skates and clever with the stick.

Master and pupil.

Two of the most remarkable figures in Pacific Coast polo tournaments are Hugh Drury (left,) the great English poloist, and Eric Pedley (right,) a freshman at Stanford University, who has been called the boy wonder for several years. Young Pedley's father is one of the most prominent residents of Riverside and was one of those responsible for the introduction of polo on the Pacific Coast. Eric learned the game first from his father and for the past two years has been tutored by Drury, who has succeeded in polishing off many of the rough spots until Eric is regarded as being right up with the best poloists in Southern California.

DENIES THAT GIANTS ARE ON THE MARKET.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—In a signed statement made public here late this afternoon, Harry L. Hempstead, president of the New York National League baseball club, denied that there was any deal pending at this time for the sale of the Giants or that the club had been negotiating with James F. Gaffney, formerly president of the Boston Nationals, with the idea of disposing of the control of the local National League club.

WARNING—RAIN HAS WASHED OUT MANY ROADS—THIS TELLS WHICH.

ON ACCOUNT of recent rains the Valley boulevard is closed to automobile travel so far as intercommunication between Los Angeles and Riverside and vicinity is concerned. The bridge at a point between El Monte and Bassett, over the San Gabriel Wash, is under construction, and the detour has become impassable during the rains. This route will be closed to travel at this point for several days.

Those motorists wishing to reach points east of El Monte are advised by the Automobile Club's touring bureau to leave Los Angeles via North Broadway and Huntington drive to the Foothill boulevard, or to follow the usual valley route to the San Gabriel boulevard, there turning north to the Foothill highway.

Automobile Club temporary route signs will guide the motorists over these routes.

Motorists attempting to reach Ventura at this time will encounter difficulty at the crossing of the Conejo Creek at the foot of the Conejo grade, the detour at this point being in very bad condition, regardless of the work which the contractor has been doing in an endeavor to improve it, according to the club's road-car report.

After leaving Springville, which is situated at the end of the paving north of Camarillo, it is necessary to turn off the main highway to the left and proceed due south to a point immediately after crossing the railroad, where turn right and tour direct into Oxnard, and from there the main route is resumed at El Rio. This detour is over unimproved roads which become almost impassable during wet weather, but this is the only available bypass at this time.

Although the Ridge route to Bakersfield is open at this time, it is very slippery, and motorists should be thoroughly equipped with skid chains.

On the Coast route to San Diego the State Highway Commission is placing the fills just south of Serra Station in the best possible condition with loads of rock and oil. These will be materially improved.

Reports can be secured today from the Auto Club's touring bureau on all road conditions in the vicinity of Needles, Ashfork, Ariz., Phoenix and Tucson, as those districts reported at a late hour to the club last night.

This will give valuable information on the National Old Trails road across the continent, on the Ocean-to-ocean highway and on the Borderland route. Information can also be secured on all local highways, according to a statement made last night by Secretary Standish L. Mitchell.

Eighteen Hole Golf Course With All Greens Visible From the Club Ho

Dampened.

MUDDY TIME FOR THE TRACKSTERS

All Athletes Can do is Watch Rain Pour Down.

Fields Very Similar to Duck Club Preserves.

Cross Country is Next Thing on the Programme.

The college track teams are having a muddy time of it and most of their training this season has consisted of looking out through the window at the rain pouring down.

Occidental gamely tried to hold a track rally yesterday. Coach Pipal urged the men to get out while the rain pelted against the roof in a semi-cloud burst, and the Occidental field looked more like the duck pond of some gun club than a track for sprinters.

A WEEK MORE.

Another week will pass before the Tigers will get on the track. The men will just jog in the driveways until then, while the long-distance and cross-country fellows will take to the hills.

Capt. Ed U.S.C. Manager Teeche is confronted with another mud problem, but is a trifle more fortunate in having cinders for the men to run on. There was a miscellaneous crowd of twenty-five out jogging yesterday. They will continue to jog the remainder of the week. Next week the work will be made harder for them and after that Coach Cromwell will be on the job.

SOGGY ALSO.

Coach Russel Wilson of Whittier is having the same hard time. The Quakers have practically banished all training from their minds until the rainy spell is over. Hadley Field lies on the side of a hill like the Occidental field, and makes just the finest place imaginable for drain water to collect on. Besides it is sort of clay like the Tiger field also, which makes matters all the more lovely.

Both Occidental and Whittier are figuring on entering men in the Pomona cross-country. The Tiger runners will probably be Bill Annin, Sam Pritchard, Paul Pritchard, Huddleston and Hill. The Quakers are undecided. The Trojans, of course, are uninvited, being without the conference pale.

BOWLING NOTES.

Phelps was the winner in the preparation Sunday night at the Palace alleys, with a total of 566. Engelbach was second, Krentz third, and Hornbeck fourth. Jones was the special prize for the most number of strikes, 5, in three games. The next contest will be Sunday night. The standings:

RAIN PREVENTS POLO, BUT PLAYERS PRACTICE

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 10.—Polo has had to be postponed the last few days on account of the rain, which prevented the players from holding a game Sunday or today. However, even in the rain many of the players practice on the fields at the Country Club. The fast ponies of C. Weatherwax, millionaire lumberman of Aberdeen, Wash., who will play in the March tournament, arrived at Coronado today. Mr. and Mrs. Weatherwax will arrive some time this week.

CORONA CLASSIC IS NEXT EVENT.

Effort Being Made to Land the Grand Prix Here.

Two Tentative Entries Already Made for Races.

Bob Burman Comes to Appear in Ascot Event.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

Active work on the preparations for the Corona Grand Prix are under way.

There is to be a great speed fest on the famous Corona course March 17. If the boosters of the Circle City are successful in the attempt to secure the International Grand Prix, it will be the greatest Grand Prix race ever run. If the International Grand Prix does not come to California again this year, there will be a race known as the Corona Grand Prix.

In either event, Corona will stage a $12,000 motor classic which is expected to make automobile race history.

ENTRIES ALREADY.

Already there are two entries for the Corona race. The sanction has not been secured from the American Automobile Association as yet, but George R. Bentel made the tentative entries of two Mercer cars yesterday with the local representative of the A.A.A. As soon as the sanction is assigned these will be accepted as entries.

Eddie Pullen and G. E. Ruckstell were nominated as drivers on the Mercer entries. It is practically assured that there will be another entry of the same make.

It was stated yesterday that the field was to be limited to thirty starters. It is believed that there will be more entries than will be allowed to start, and this will call for elimination trials, something that has not been known in this section in racing history.

NEW WAY.

With the elimination trials there will be no drawing for starting numbers. The driver showing the highest speed is to carry first choice of starting position. Each starting position will be allotted according to the choice of the next fastest man.

The entry fee has been waived by the Corona management. This fact will also add to the field, it is claimed.

Riverside is to observe March 17 as a legal holiday. The merchants of Riverside have agreed to close the places of business on the day of the great race, and practically the entire population of Riverside will be at the Grand Prix.

Corona deserves great credit for putting over a speed classic this year. After the enthusiasm had died out and the Corona event was considered a dead one for all time, W. L. Peeler and some of the prominent citizens of the Circle City came to the front and put over the race. For a city of 5000 population to raise a $12,000 purse is going some.

Last Saturday, in the heavy rain, the race meeting was crowded. The most prominent citizens of Corona were out, and an effort was made to increase the race stock in order that some of those who had not already shared in the raising of the purse could kick in and have a part in the glory.

TO MAKE TRIP.

At the meeting resolutions were passed appointing George R. Bentel as a special representative of the Corona racing body and authorizing him to represent the race in the East. A sum of money was voted to defray Mr. Bentel's expenses, but this was refused, as he claimed that he had to go East on business. He will attend the Chicago automobile show, then go on to the Mercer factory. He will also secure some attractive entries for the Ascot Speedway race February 22 and for Corona at the same time.

With the two races coming off so close together, the few thousand hung up should be rather attractive to even the most independently-wealthy drivers.

BOB HERE.

Bob Burman arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and has opened negotiations for a car for the Ascot race. He intends to have his Peugeot, which is being rebuilt, in condition for the Corona event. He said that he will drive if he can get his car ready by March 17.

Johnny Marquis, the driver who turned over in the Sunbeam at Santa Monica in the Grand Prix two years ago, is in Pasadena and has been making preparations for the Ascot race, and is assured for the Corona race if he can get the car he wants for that date.

RENOVATING IT.

Eddie Pullen, winner of the Grand Prix at Santa Monica and the last Corona race, where he established the world's road race record, is preparing his car for the coming events, practically rebuilding it.

Oldfield's De Lage is being worked over and should be in shape for the coming events. When asked yesterday if he was going to drive the De Lage in Southern California this spring, Barney only smiled, but its almost a safe draw that he will be up on the De Lage if it is in condition to take the course.

TURKEY DAY FOOTBALL IS STILL UNDECIDED.

U.S.C.'s opponent in next season's Turkey Day football game is yet to be chosen. The Trojans are said to prefer Occidental over any other team and will give the Tigers first chance to make the date.

The University of Oregon will notify the southern college within ten days whether or not its team will come here for a Thanksgiving Day contest.

West Virginia Wesleyan baseball team will take a 2500-mile southern trip, playing prominent college nines of Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES PLANNED.

CONTINUOUS MEETS ASSURED FOR YEAR.

James Tranter, President, Offers to Fill All Open Dates—Week in August may be Vacant Because of Lack of Suitable Track in New York.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CLEVELAND, Jan. 10.—Continuous racing for the 1916 season in the Grand Circuit was assured today when James Tranter, president of the Fasig Tipton Company, offered to fill all open dates. His offer was made to the stewards who are here for the annual meeting which opens tomorrow.

It was feared that because the New York interests could not obtain a suitable track the week of August 1 would be vacant.

Poughkeepsie and Goshen, it was thought, might figure on the week, but Tranter's offer makes it certain the season's racing will be continuous. If the New York interests cannot find a track he will stage the August 1 meeting either at Poughkeepsie or Goshen.

The Rules Committee held an informal session tonight and prepared a report for adoption by the stewards tomorrow. It was decided to provide a $5000 stake race for trotters that have never won $2000 or more gross nor have a time or race record faster than 2:14¼. Each grand circuit meeting will be required to offer this stake, the entries to close at the same time as for all other early closing events. The three-heat plan will be recommended for all early closing events.

It was also decided by the committee to recommend that horses that have started anywhere in 1915 or 1916 without winning a race shall be awarded a time allowance of one second; horses started two or more times without winning a race, two seconds; horses whose winning race record was made prior to 1915, shall be allowed two seconds provided they have not won a race in 1916. The stewards will arrange the schedule and adopt rules tomorrow.

One America for All; All Americas for One

Secretary of State Lansing in welcoming the Delegates of the Pan-American Scientific Congress at Washington sounded the key-note of what may become the greatest alliance in the world, when he stated that "The American family of nations might well take for its motto that of Dumas' famous Musketeers, 'One for all, all for one.'"

In this week's LITERARY DIGEST (January 8th) the leading article depicts American newspaper opinion on the recent "get-together Conference" of the big American family of nations.

Closely following this article in interest, if not equaling it, is a comprehensive description of the Naval Increase Programs which are before the Congress and a summary of editorial opinion regarding them. This article is accompanied by a table which shows in detail the difference in the Navy Board's July report, the Navy Board's October report, and Secretary Daniels' program.

Other features of unusual interest in THE LITERARY DIGEST for January 8th are these:

It is in a class by itself—the only weekly news-magazine which does not burden its readers with its own personal editorial convictions. Its policy, rather, is to present public opinion as reflected in the representative newspapers, magazines and periodicals throughout the world, upon all important subjects, and illustrated by the best cartoons and photographs. This is done without prejudice or partisan bias. And because world-news is a record of the thought and action of living people, so THE LITERARY DIGEST is the most interesting magazine published. THEATER REALM.

FACTS AND FANCIES OF STAGE AND STUDIO.

By Grace Kingsley.

Adele Rolland, the beautiful young actress, playing the lead in "It Pays to Advertise," at the Mason, is to be starred in a new play by Cohan and Harris next season in New York. Miss Rolland is only 17 years old. The role she is playing this season is her first "grown-up" part.

The young actress got much of her best stage training under Winthrop Ames, at the New Theater in New York, though she has been on the stage nearly all her life.

"I would advise a girl who wishes to go on the stage, unless very young, to get a dramatic-school training," said Miss Rolland. "But if she is still a child, say 10 or 11 years old, she should by all means go straight on the first chance she gets, as through actual experience, she will develop her own powers and acquire the necessary technique quite unconsciously. She will best develop individuality—which is only another name for naturalness—by getting all the stage experience possible."

Crown of Glory.

Miss Rolland has lovely hair which falls far below her knees when it is unbound. She wanted to sell it to help the Belgians, last year, but her mother wouldn't let her.

Press Card Entertained.

Mary Shaw, appearing at the Orpheum this week in the brilliant little sketch, "The Dickey Bird," is being widely entertained socially during her stay in this city, where she has scores of friends. Tonight she will dine with Mrs. Lillian Burkhart Goldsmith, and she will be entertained at luncheon by the Drama League Thursday, and by the Channel Club Saturday. She has accepted an invitation to address both these organizations.

Don of Dandelo.

De Wolf Hopper, appearing in "Don Quixote," at the Majestic, in ghostly form, is working on "Sunshine Dan" at the Fine Arts Studio. Despite the name of the film, a lion is being used in the picture. Hopper said yesterday that he was suffering from stomach trouble and was on a diet.

"And I'm already mighty hungry," said Hopper, "and if that lion gets fresh with me in these scenes tomorrow, I know what I'll do. I'll eat him!"

Universal Appeal.

Everybody who has ever written a story, a scenario, or even an advertisement, will enter into the spirit of "Seven Keys to Baldpate," being played at the Morosco this week. Who that has written hasn't had his characters run away with him, and the plot get so involved he couldn't straighten it out himself?

And, of course, as George Broadhurst pointed out yesterday, everybody is writing these days. "It isn't," said Mr. Broadhurst, "as if it were a play dealing, say with plumbing, or aviation, or piano-tuning, or undertaking, in which there are only a comparatively few specialists, and at which the piano tuners or the aviators or the plumbers or the undertakers could laugh their fears off, but at which the others would be left in the dark. Pretty nearly everybody is writing these days, so the comedy has a wide appeal."

Genesis Note.

There is a difference of exactly sixty-five years between the youngest and the oldest feminine member of the cast of "Daddy Long Legs," which comes to the Mason next week. Mrs. E. A. Eberle, who plays Mrs. Semple in Jean Webster's drama, is 75 years old. Little Helen McDonald, one of the orphans of the first act, is just 10.

Nice Fat "Film."

Emma Carus, the famous comedienne of vaudeville, is going into pictures.

Sob Stuff.

After being lost to each other ten years, the Crapo brothers, Albert and Arthur, have been reunited via the screen, though 2000 miles apart. The former is a sailor on the Atlantic while the latter is a movie actor with the Balboa company.

Known to the profession as "Bert Francis," Albert Crapo recently had a prominent part in a photoplay called "The Counsel for the Defense," the Balboa produced for Pathe. To while away a little time, Arthur Crapo strayed into a motion-picture house in Brooklyn, where this picture was being shown. He saw on the screen a young fellow who looked like his brother. It was the first intimation he had had of the other's existence for ten years. He obtained the Balboa's address from the releasing agency, and wrote asking the actor's name. Stranger still is the fact that about the same time Albert Crapo communicated with the Postmaster-General in Washington, for assistance in his efforts to get track of his brother from the other end of the line. To them, the manner of their finding each other seems like a bit of wireless telegraphy.

More Sob Stuff.

According to Del Henderson, the making of a Keystone comedy is one of the saddest facts in the world.

"In the first place," said Henderson, "we all sit around a table, and as we sob, we give forth our ideas of what would be funny for a given picture. Harry Williams, for instance, as the tears bedew his eyes, says he doesn't think a kick is nearly as funny as a seltzer bottle.

"Then when we get to the picture-making point, a bunch of what we call 'gaggers' stand by, and suggest 'business.' They, too, are a lugubrious lot. I don't remember ever seeing anybody crack a smile, though, of course, it may have been done.

"In a recent picture, we were using a hearse. We had it standing in front of a certain house, all innocent of offense, and a lady came out and asked us to take it away, as her husband had just died last week. The same day, one of our automobiles ran away and spilled two men out, and a leading comedienne broke her arm. But it's all in the cause of mirth, so, of course, it's all right. And you note how I refrain from saying anything about being butchered to make a Roman holiday? Give me credit for that, please."

Jack of all Trades.

Jack Lait, playwright, has signed up with Balboa for a series of photoplays.

Canned Thrills.

Fred Mace and Anna Luther are to be featured in another film comedy soon, in which some new thrillers will be introduced. Miss Luther, for instance, makes a leap on horseback from the bank of a river to the water, far below in order to cross, after a bridge has been burned, and Fred Mace is bound to a fly wheel in a mill and spun around at a dizzy speed.

Jackie Yearns.

Jackie Saunders writes that she yearns "for some one to write her a nice ragged part." If you have a scenario with a ragamuffin part that would fit Miss Saunders, you may submit it to her at Balboa.

Keeps Sober.

If Stuart Barnes, of the Orpheum Road Show, ever smiled on the stage, his act would be all off. His crepe is his fortune, so to speak. One laugh, and his meal ticket would be cancelled.

Can Af-Ford It?

One of the Hip's candy peddlers has bought an auto? Can you beat it?

Fortune Telling.

Scott Palmer, manager of the Pantages-Savoy Theater in San Diego, came to town yesterday with a wild and improbable tale about seeing Al Levy betting on a brunette mare at Tia Juana last Friday. More improbable still, Palmer declares Al won enough to tip the Pullman porter on the way home.

Flea Garage.

De Wolf Hopper, starring in "Don Quixote," at the Majestic, says a suit of armor is a regular flea garage. "Note the tears in my eyes when I talk to George Walsh about his troubles? Sincere, yes, sir—tears of exquisite misery because there was a flea resting on my breast bone which could not be attacked without the aid of a can opener. If you value your peace of mind and comfort, never wear armor."

Reel Realism.

Henry MacRae's company of 101 Bison motion picture actors took a scene for the photodrama which Mr. MacRae is producing for the Universal, down at Harlow's cafe last night.

Not Swamped for Once.

Eugene Walter's new play is shortly going on in New York. It is said the business of selecting a leading woman was a particularly delicate one. The reason is obvious. The title is "A Plain Woman." Finally Josephine Victor consented to be It.

Margaret's New One.

Margaret Anglin is to appear in a new play next season entitled, "The Perch of the Devil." This play is based on Gertrude Atherton's novel of that name, and was written by Rupert Hughes.

Cupid Hits Dancer.

Lydia Lopokova, the eminent Russian dancer, is to wed Heywood Broun, the heavyweight dramatic critic of the New York Tribune.

On stage and screen.

Billie Boland, attractive new member of the Oliver Morosco stock company, is appearing as the charming widow in "The Seven Keys to Baldpate" at the Morosco Theater; Adele Rolland is playing the leading feminine part in "It Pays to Advertise," at the Mason, and Rhea Mitchell is a clever Film Arts film star. She does very interesting work in "Don Quixote," now in its second week at the Majestic.

WILLIAMS GETS GAMES WITH SAN DIEGO MEN.

Nye Williams came back from San Diego yesterday and announced the scheduling of a wrestling tournament and two handball games with the San Diego Y.M.C.A.

The southern mat men will wrestle the L.A.A.C. champions on February 4 and the handball men will come at the same time. The handball team will consist of two men—one will play Lacey for the Southern California title and the two will play Lacey and Caley for the doubles title.

Handball games for the end of the month have also been arranged with the Riverside Y.M.C.A. E. E. Caister and Clark Jargstorff will play a Riverside team that weighs over 200 pounds. Two other men will also go to the citrus belt city to play a team without any weight or age limit.

POTTER CLUB IS NO MORE.

The Potter Country Club of Santa Barbara has gone out of business, according to report received here last night. A rental of $1000 was asked for the ground covered by the course and payment refused. Oats are to be planted on the beautiful greens.

The members of the Potter club have all decided to join the Santa Barbara club and, since there are several hundred of them, this is no little addition to the membership. It is said that many golfers are disgusted with the situation.

FRESHIES BEATEN BY SOPH BASKETBALLERS.

The sophomores handed the freshman unlimited quintette a neat little drubbing yesterday afternoon in the interclass basketball tournament being held at the Los Angeles High School. The score was 30 to 16.

A feature of the game was the accurate shooting of Myers for the sophs, and Boyle for the freshmen. Both these boys made most of the points for their teams.

Things looked like an even break in the first half. Both teams played neck and neck, finishing with a 10-to-10 score.

During the second half the superior strength of the sophs told and the freshmen were outclassed. The line-up:

WOMAN IDENTIFIES NEGRO ASSAILANT.

SUIT CASE INITIALS GIVE CLEW THAT ENDS IN ARREST.

Ebenezer Morris, a Jamaican, is Held for Shooting Mrs. Bromberg and Miss Rose Rea When They Refused His Demands for Money in a San Francisco Law Office.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Ebenezer Morris was identified tonight as the negro who entered the office of a salary loan concern here last Saturday and, when he had been refused money which he demanded, shot and probably fatally wounded Mrs. Emily Bromberg, the manager, and seriously wounded Miss Rose Rea, the bookkeeper.

The identification was made at a hospital by Miss Rea, who became hysterical when confronted by the negro who was arrested today.

"That is the man who shot Mrs. Bromberg and me. Take him away," she cried. She was completely overcome by the shock of seeing again her alleged assailant, and Leonard Lindsey, a second negro arrested today in connection with the crime, was not brought into her presence. Mrs. Bromberg was reported tonight as near death and no attempt was made to complete the identification through her.

Morris and Lindsey were arrested through the initials written on the inside of a suit case found in the hall of the building in which the shooting occurred. Morris has denied to the police any knowledge of the affair, but Lindsey, according to the police, made a partial confession. He is alleged to have admitted that he was in the room with Morris prior to the shooting, but said that he left the office several minutes before he heard the five reports. Then, he said, he left the building and had not seen Morris since.

Both men said they were natives of Jamaica and that they had been in San Francisco for several years. Morris is said to have admitted to the police that he had borrowed a small sum of money from the firm which employed the two women about a year ago and that he owed them $15 with interest at the present time. Both men were held without bail.

At a late hour tonight Morris made a voluntary statement to the police, which he signed, stating that he accompanied Lindsey to the office and that when money was refused them they attempted to rob the place. He said that he fired two shots and that Lindsey also fired twice. Neither, he said, knew whether the bullets had taken effect.

ATTORNEY BEGGS ON TRIAD.

San Jose Lawyer is Accused of Extorting Money from Client.

SAN JOSE, Jan. 10.—Failing to get a writ of prohibition from the Supreme Court, Attorney W. M. Beggs, accused of extorting $2000 from Joseph N. DaRosa, a client, was forced to trial in the Superior Court today after many continuances. A jury was obtained this afternoon.

Dist.-Atty. Free in his opening statement, said he expected to prove DaRosa had stolen less than $50 worth of goods from his employer, Joseph Steining, who is Beggs's client, and that the lawyer, while DaRosa was in prison, frightened the clerk into giving over his entire bank account of $2000 under the impression it was the only way he could evade being sent to the penitentiary. Of this amount, Free stated, Beggs kept $1100 and turned over the remainder to Steining.

Free also stated that he expected to prove Joe Condron, a police detective, in violation of orders of his superiors, took DaRosa out of prison at the request of Beggs and permitted him to be victimized.

"I am so mean, I wish somebody would kill me," were Cates's last words, according to the police. An old pistol was lying near by.

Noll picked it up and is alleged to have pointed it laughingly at Cates, who fell dead a moment later, with a bullet through his heart.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

Walnut Grower Reaches into a Closet for a Gun and the Weapon is Discharged into His Face. Bootlegger is Chased To Jail.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WHITTIER, Jan. 10.—Eli King, well-known pioneer walnut grower of this section, was killed today by the accidental discharge of a gun at his home here on King's lane. The exact details of the sad accident will never be known. Every evidence indicates that Mr King was reaching far into a closet to get the gun and that in some way the hammer caught on some of the clothing hanging there and the gun was discharged. Death was instantaneous and the victim's face was horribly torn and mangled.

Mrs. King heard the noise and thought it was only a falling flower pot on the veranda, but on investigation she found her husband lying dead in a pool of blood. Mr. King was 60 years of age, had resided here for forty years, and was a member of a well-known pioneer family. He was just preparing to retire from the ranch and work had just commenced on a cosy new bungalow in town.

Besides the widow Mr. King leaves three children, Mrs. Mark Fletcher of Whittier, Mrs. Charles Hurst of Baldwin Park and Miss Della King, a teacher in Imperial.

The funeral services will be held at the family residence at 10 o'clock Wednesday forenoon and interment will be made in the Whittier Cemetery.

BOOTLEGGER CAUGHT.

When R. W. Estrada of Los Nietos sought to make his escape from an infuriated group of Mexicans at Tia Juana yesterday he ran almost straight into the arms of waiting Whittier officers, who placed him under arrest for illegal liquor-selling at Los Nietos and brought him to Whittier. Here he was arraigned before Justice A. B. Taylor today and his trial was set for January 18.

When the local officers raided a group of blindpigs at Los Nietos December 21 Estrada was wanted, but was not to be found. He was later located across the border and a watch was set ready to arrest him when he should again set foot on American soil.

WAVES CAST UP BODY.

Corpse Believed to be That of Long Beach Man Who was Lost in a Small Boat Several Weeks Ago Found in the Surf.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 10.—Cast up by the sea, the body of a man believed to be I. E. McCarron of Long Beach, was found at Sunset Beach this morning. The face was unrecognizable, the body evidently having been in the water for nearly a month.

The clothing was devoid of money or valuables. Three slips of paper, a receipt for a Los Angeles paper, a gas receipt and a card bearing the legend, "Seaside Art Shop," all of them reduced almost to pulp from long contact with the water, were the only things found in the pockets.

The man was about five feet, nine inches tall and was attired in a blue serge suit with white stripes. He wore a soft shirt and black button shoes.

County officials took charge of the body. Long contact with the water made identification of marks impossible.

McCarron, who was proprietor of the Seaside Art Shop, and Jack Brown, his employee, disappeared in a light boat in the surf at Long Beach several weeks ago.

BUYS BIG RANCH.

Large Amount of Money Involved in Deal Near Redlands.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BRYN MAWR, Jan. 10.—A. Gregory, general manager of the Mutual Orange Distributors at Redlands, has purchased from the Riverside Orange Company, 515 acres of land adjoining his dairy farm just east of here. The consideration was in the neighborhood of $150,000, or about $300 per acre. Mr. Gregory owns 665 acres of alfalfa and grain land there now and just east of it has a 200-acre grove of oranges in the Williams tract.

Mr. Gregory says that he will plant 100 acres of the tract to alfalfa at once and that the remainder will be planted later. He plans to put down several wells. He now has a herd of 100 fine Holstein cows, and will add to it until he has a herd of 300. Then he expects to erect a factory for the manufacture of cream cheese.

The Pacific Electric between here and San Bernardino bisects the tract and Mr. Gregory plans to make it one of the show places of the valley.

SANTA ANA, Jan. 10.—Noah Palmer, aged 95, died today at the home of his daughters, Mrs. G. J. Mosbaugh and Miss Lottie Palmer. Palmer was a "forty-niner," coming across the continent in the Isaac Owen missionary train. He settled at Santa Clara, and served a term as tax collector and in the Legislature there. In 1874 he bought 700 acres at Santa Ana, then a town only four years old, and lived here until his death. He was one of the organizers and for many years president of the Commercial Bank, the first bank established in Santa Ana. He was also one of the organizers and president of the Bank of Orange at Orange. He was born in Loweville, Lewis county, New York, on September 3, 1820.

SAVED FROM DEATH.

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 10.—Willis Drayer, a young rancher of the dairy district, west of here, won a race with death in a fast automobile late last night after he had taken seven grains of strychnine in mistake for a headache powder. A neighbor made a wild drive through mud and rain with Drayer to the office of a physician in Tulare who promptly administered antidotes which saved his life.

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 10.—Nine inches of rain which fell in the Camp Wishon district of the foothills east of here for the twenty-four-hour period ending this morning at 11 o'clock, caused a rise of eight feet in less than an hour in the Tule River, the flood washing out 150 feet of the Porterville Northeastern Railroad at Adobe Station, four miles east.

The water left the river channel in the Poplar dairy section west of here, and did damage to crops and hay. The amount of this damage has not yet been estimated, but may be large.

A sudden drop in the temperature tonight turned the mountain rains to snow which may mean that further menace from high water to Porterville is over for the present.

COPIOUS SHOWERS.

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 10.—As predicted by the Weather Bureau yesterday there were copious showers all over California today. In the northern part of the State the rain is very cold, turning at times to hail and snow-squalls that make people scurry for warm shelter.

Both the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys received a good drenching. The storm has now passed inland and the weather officials predict clearing and fair weather for the entire State for the next twenty-four hours. There are twelve feet of snow at the summit.

CASH ON TREES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WALNUT, Jan. 10.—The orange-marketing season has started off here with a healthy swing, the independent packers and shippers offering one and one-half cents per pound on the tree. The picking is all done by the buyer and the only culls at the expense of the growers are the splits and the blossom rots.

The only cars of oranges that have been sent East from this city in recent days have gone out from the house of the independent packers. Spot cash payments have seemed to appeal to the growers and quite a number of them have contracted all of their fruit on the independent basis, preferring the cash within a week to waiting on a pool price and taking their chance with the associated growers. The independents are experiencing no difficulty in getting sufficient fruit to keep two packing-houses busy which were standing idle last winter.

Hugh Thatcher, formerly manager of the Walnut Fruit Growers' Association, who is now buyer for an independent house in this city, says that the only thing that interferes with the prospective big prices for this winter is the large size fruit which must be picked as rapidly as it ripens.

"We are going to be discounted heavily on the large stuff," says Mr. Thatcher, "and I don't know but that the growers are outdoing former years when they get eighty cents a field box—the prevailing price. Along toward April there will be a good stiff price for the tail end of the navel crop, but the earlier shipments will bring a medium-good figure. This is a good orange year."

CITRUS OPTIMISM.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Jan. 10.—Optimism as to the future of the citrus industry and enthusiasm over the prospects for big prices for the coming season were expressed by men prominent in the growth of the industry when the Crown Jewel Groves Packing-house, on San Bernardino avenue, the most modern house in this section, was formally opened. The house has just been completed at a cost of $10,000.

E. G. Dasell, assistant manager of the exchange, said that the industry is on a sound basis and that its future is bright. D. C. King, sales agent, said that reports from all sections indicate big prices for the fruit this season. The cash buyers are now offering 1 3-4 cents per pound for the fruit.

Paul Shoup, president of the Pacific Electric, and D. W. Pontius, traffic manager, were enthusiastic in the short talks they gave. The Rev. H. A. Jump and R. O. Bonnell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, told what the industry means to Redlands.

The new house has signed up 700 acres for the season and will ship about 240 cars of fruit. It is the first to be built here on the Pacific Electric tracks. The officers are Dr. M. J. Sweeney, president; Dr. C. S. Lombard, vice-president; J. D. Black, secretary and manager. The first two with G. Kent Osmun, J. O. Shadbolt, George Stone, Harry Cook, E. A. Stowe, Fred Arth and J. R. Lane are the directors.

BIG WHEAT YIELD.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 10.—According to local grain men the prospects for the time of year for a large wheat yield have never been better in the history of this district. A large proportion of the wheat of this district was sown to summer fallow land and the rains and subsequent unusually warm weather have made an ideal combination for the sturdy growth of the crop.

At the present time there is a somewhat brisk movement of the better grades of wheat on a basis price of $1.50. A large part of last year's crop of wheat is being held by the ranchers, most of whom are refusing to sell for less than $1.60.

According to the leading cattlemen of the foothill districts, the range feed conditions have not been better in the past decade, and the prospects are for a highly successful year for the raisers of beef. Rainfall of the past week, which in some parts of the hills reached a total of over four inches, has brought the grass out to an extent almost unknown at this period of the year, and so thoroughly have the hills been soaked that even with a following period of exceptional drought range feed will be assured until well into the summer.

ORANGE COUNTY PLANS TO FIGHT LOS ANGELES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Jan. 10.—Believing that the proposal to divert Los Angeles county rivers from Los Angeles Harbor to Alamitos Bay carries with it a menace to the rich lowlands of this county, steps are being taken to organize Orange county to put up a fight against the plan.

Two mass meeting are to be held this week. One is to be at Wintersburg Tuesday night, and the other at Westminster Friday night. From those meetings it is proposed to go to the Board of Supervisors, the Taxpayers' League and the Associated Chambers of Commerce and make a protest that will be heard in Washington.

Under the Federal plan to divert the waters, a levee will be built from Dominguez to Signal Hill, if an appropriation is secured. This will turn the storm waters into Alamitos Bay, at the northwest corner of Orange county.

Engineers have informed the Bolsa and Westminster drainage districts that if 4,000,000 cubic yards of silt are dumped into Alamitos Bay in one year, as was deposited in San Pedro Bay by the rivers two years ago, Alamitos Bay will be filled up. It is feared that the waters will then seek Anaheim Bay, which is separated from Alamitos Bay by marshy area only, and fill that bay.

The Bolsa drainage district already has a ditch emptying into Anaheim Bay, and Westminster district has voted $25,000 to construct a canal to that bay. The ranchers are thoroughly aroused. They say that if the drainage outlets are filled up with silt their drainage will be stopped up and their farms ruined.

The mass meetings called for this week are fathered by the directors of the two drainage districts.

A committee has been appointed by the Taxpayers' League of Orange county to investigate a report made by A. A. Mills of Anaheim that many business houses are not paying as much taxes in proportion to the value of their stock as is paid by the ranchers. A. A. Mills of Anaheim, William Feldner of Orange and G. W. Moore of Westminster are the committee.

Another committee, S. J. Jackman, H. A. Stewart and Jacob Feldner, has reported that a good deal of money has been spent on the road between San Juan Capistrano and San Juan Hot Springs, and the committee is unable to learn that the county has a deed to the road. The committee is to take the matter up with the District Attorney.

CHIEF RESIGNS; PUT ON A BEAT.

Glendale City Manager to be Boss of the Police.

Improvements Needed; Bonds Find Opposition.

Tragic Death of Youth Second in His Family.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, Jan. 10.—It is now "Patrolman George H. Herald—and glad of the job," for "Chief" Herald handed in his resignation to the Board of City Trustees tonight and accepted appointment on the "force."

Hereafter, if he sticks to his job, he will walk a beat and take orders from two desk sergeants who are to be appointed; one to serve during the day and one at night, under direction of City Manager Thomas Watson, who will be ex-officio chief of police.

Herald's demotion has been whispered about town for several days and it was freely hinted that a job was to be created to "let him down easy."

Coming tonight, on the day before the bond election, it is figured by some that his practical dismissal as chief is a sort of a sop to those who are opposing the issuing of bonds. Citizens are not so much against the bonds as against the administration, and Herald was one of the thorns in the side of the opposition. It is believed that votes have been gained for the bonds by this night's events.

The Trustees gave out no statement, after considering the resignation in secret session in committee of the whole, beyond announcing the bare facts.

SOME OPPOSITION.

In active opposition to the bonds of $83,000 which are to be voted upon by the citizens of Glendale tomorrow, the Executive Committee, Glendale Municipal League, has been issuing circulars denouncing the present municipal administration as extravagant and the election another attempt to get hold of the public's money.

The attitude of the City Trustees is one of dignified contempt for the most of the allegations contained in the circular, which also brings out of the municipal closet the old skeleton of the electric light and water bond campaign, which engendered much political strife and ill-feeling in the community in the last year, and which was to have been decently interred last spring for keeps.

On the streets and in convenient corners those in favor of the bonds and those opposed are busy proselyting voters to the respective sides at issue and the vote tomorrow will be watched with closest interest by members of both factions.

By many it is conceded that one of the most vital issues at stake is the sum of $12,000 which is to be used for the improvement of the fire department apparatus. The inefficiency of this department is frankly acknowledged by many of the oppositionists and while considerable doubt as to whether the bonds for school improvements and storm protection will carry, it is freely predicted that the fire department will receive the money necessary to equip the house with proper facilities for handling a fire without the necessity of calling upon Tropico for aid every time a fire of any size breaks out.

Both sides are already claiming victory tonight and the outcome is tensely awaited by the community.

SECOND TRAGEDY.

The tragic death of Arthur Ely, son of Mrs. M. J. Ely of No. 1451 La Prada Park, Los Angeles, on the San Fernando road last night while going at a high rate of speed toward Los Angeles, marked the second death by accident among the sons of the family. A few years ago his brother was killed by falling from a derrick, dying as did Arthur Ely, without regaining consciousness.

In company with Ray Swearington and Sam Hamilton, the latter of whom was the winner of the Tropico road race on Thanksgiving Day, young Ely was racing along San Fernando road en route to Los Angeles at a high rate of speed, according to his companions. His brother, E. M. Ely, states that Arthur had his machine equipped with an engine capable of running eighty miles an hour.

In a turn of the road that the young rider did not see he ran into a telegraph pole, wrecking his machine hopelessly and tearing down the pole by force of the impact. He was discovered here a short time later by his companions as he was being carried into the house by neighbors who had heard the terrific blow on the road.

The funeral will be held in Long Beach on Wednesday and interment will follow there, as his father and the other members of the family are buried there. The mother and E. M. Ely are the only remaining members of the family.

FIRE AT VISALIA.

VISALIA, Jan. 10.—Fire which started from an overturned lamp in a Japanese lodging-house at 6 o'clock tonight, destroyed six business houses of the oriental quarter, together with the buildings of the Auto Hardware Company, causing a loss estimated at $75,000—about half insured. Explosions of dynamite and giant powder in a Japanese mercantile house spread the flames rapidly and only the most strenuous work of the fire department saved the entire east side business district from destruction. One man was injured in the explosions, sustaining a badly lacerated leg.

STATE MUST WAIT.

Will Must be Probated Before the Suit for Inheritance Taxes May be Tried—Illness of Fredericks Causes Postponement.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 10.—The suit brought by John S. Chambers as the State Controller, against Oliver J. Stough, the aged San Diego millionaire, for inheritance tax alleged to be due, must hang fire until matters relating to the administration of the estate of Mrs. Stough have been determined.

Attorneys for the State, Robert A. Warring of Sacramento and John W. Corrigan of Los Angeles, today, when the case was called for hearing, asked that the case be stricken from the trial calendar as it was not proper to proceed with the hearing until the will is probated and the matters of the administration are settled. The court made this order.

The State is suing for taxes said to be due on certain property transferred by Mrs. Florence A. Stough just previous to her death, to her husband, Oliver J. Stough, including the famous Burbank property near Los Angeles and much other valuable property. In the answer to the suit filed recently by Attorneys A. J. Castbeer and John H. McCorkle for Mr. Stough, it was alleged that in no event could a large portion of the property described in the State's petition be taxed, as it was not involved in the transfers made by Mrs. Stough to her husband, and that the proceeding was premature and should be abated, as to all the property, until it was determined by the court as to the ownership of the land.

It was also alleged in the answer that, while some of the property in question was in Mrs. Stough's name at the time of her death, it was in reality owned by her husband, and had been placed in her name by him upon an agreement between them that she should hold it in trust and would transfer it to him at any time he requested. In compliance with the agreement she transferred some of the property at various times, many years before her death, it is alleged.

On account of the illness of John D. Fredericks of Los Angeles, who presented the will of Mrs. Stough for probate, the hearing of the objections filed by O. J. Stough to the appointment of J. E. Fishburn as executor of her will, was continued from next Wednesday to Wednesday, February 9.

The two suits involve more than $1,000,000, and are of especial interest by reason of the prominence of O. J. Stough, who is nearly 98 years of age, and a well known land owner of Los Angeles and San Diego counties.

BLIND-PIGGER FINED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Jan. 10.—Dominico Petretrie of Puente, who is reputed to be worth between $50,000 and $100,000, was found guilty in the court of Judge Barnes today of having conducted a blind pig in his winery near Puente. The jury recommended leniency. Judge Barnes fined the man $300 and suspended a six-months' jail sentence. Notice of appeal was served at once. It is related that Petretrie owns an eighty-acre ranch at Puente and a brick business block in Los Angeles.

CONFESSES HIS GUILT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

COLTON, Jan. 10.—Local officers believe that in John Kelly, caught red-handed Sunday afternoon in the act of stealing copper wire from the Standard Brick and Tile Company's plant, they have a clew to the gang of copper and brass thieves operating in this valley.

Kelly, who has his preliminary this afternoon before Judge Hanna, was held to answer after confessing his guilt. He was seen taking the wire by Oscar Lindberger, an employee of the company, who was hunting in the river bottom and who held him at the point of a gun until the police arrived.

LIBRARIAN RESIGNS.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 10.—Friction in the board of library trustees is given as the reason for the resignations tonight of Miss Estelle Hadden, employed in the city library for fourteen years as first assistant and for two years past as head librarian, and of F. D. Keller, trustee. Miss Hadden declared tonight that she stepped down because of "unharmonious relations." Mrs. H. C. Devening, president, declares she knows of no reason why Miss Hadden and Keller should resign.

WILD TURMOIL OVER HEARING.

Supervisor Yells "Liar" at Lawyer in the Stand.

Lurid Meeting Breaks up in Storm of Hisses.

Santa Barbara Excited Over Grand Jury Cases.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 10.—The inquisitorial meeting of the Board of Supervisors held today to investigate the charges against persons indicted by the recent grand jury broke up in a whirl of excitement late this afternoon when Chairman Handenbrook applied the ugly word "liar" to Attorney C. A. Storke, who had been called to the witness stand by the chairman to testify.

The word had barely escaped the Supervisor than a storm of hisses and catcalls broke forth and the session broke up in the utmost confusion. Never in the history of the Supervisors' meetings has such a turmoil been caused, the noise being heard all over the building and out on the street.

The inquiry was called by the board to probe the indictment charges against U. Dardi, grocer and banker, particularly, who is accused of overcharging indigents. Dardi was awarded the contract for supplying groceries to the County Hospital and indigents.

Some of the Supervisors say that it was not their understanding that the contract bound Dardi to supply indigents at the same rate he supplied the hospital.

SOMEWHAT PREVIOUS.

The Supervisors beat the Superior Court to the investigation. Subpoenas were served on scores of persons connected with the indictments who were ordered to appear before the Supervisors today and tell what they knew. This investigation is supposed to deal minutely with all the evidence which later will be placed before a jury in the Superior Court.

It is said that this is the first time in the history of the county that the Supervisors have conducted such an examination in advance of the issue being tried before the court.

Supervisor Francis Wilson refused to countenance the open hearing, therefore his fellow Supervisors subpoenaed him, as he was the only member of the board who knew the nature of the grand jury investigations until indictments were almost ready. Wilson and Supervisor Prieseker of Santa Maria were appointed by Gov. Johnson and they have been at loggerheads since they went on to the board. This condition is expected to develop many sparks tomorrow.

The Wilson-Prieseker feud has been passed up to Sacramento, in reports on a sharp tilt which occurred between the two. "When Gov. Johnson appointed you," fired Wilson in a verbal conflict with his enemy on the board, "he must have had a bellyache." "When he appointed you," fired back Prieseker, "he must have ——," but the Supervisor couldn't think of anything about the Governor's physical condition equal to the moment. Now the report of the affair has reached the Governor and friends are wondering what will happen.

ARMOUR BUNGALOW.

The J. Ogden Armours of Chicago have taken a bungalow at El Mirasol, and are due here during the coming week for the winter. Rumor has it that J. Ogden Armour will accompany his family.

As to this the management of El Mirasol has as yet received no information. Last winter the daughter, Miss Lolita, occupied the bungalow, entertaining several girl friends of Chicago. Mrs. Armour spent an hour at the place on her way north.

The Armour visits were notable as each member of the family had a private car, and Mrs. Armour traveled by special train.

Another notable reported coming is young Marshall Field. Mr. Meeker, manager of the Field store, has already taken a house here for himself and family. Field has bought a place at Montecito, it is reported.

Take Lime for Tuberculosis

In the Journal of the American Medical Association (July 27, 1912, Page 303), Dr. C. F. Dixon of Minneapolis, holds that a "deficiency of calcium" (lime) is responsible for the physical conditions which lead to tuberculosis, "and the therapy he advocates rests on this basis."

One of the reasons for the widespread success of Eckman's Alterative in the treatment of tuberculosis is its ability to supply this deficiency. It contains a lime salt in such combination with other valuable agents as to be easily assimilated by the average person. Many cases seem to have yielded to it.

We make no exaggerated claims for it, but prefer that it be tried on the same basis as any other prescription, and since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, it is safe.

Steel Hardens Early on the Unfilled Tonnage Report, but Later Drops off Over a Point—Oil, War Shares and Rails All Reach Their Lowest Levels in the Last Hour.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Selling pressure prevailed during the greater part of today's irregular trading, with variable and substantial declines in some of the more active issues.

United States Steel opened at 87¾, a slight fraction over last week's close, and soon fell to 86½. This was prior to the issuance of the December tonnage statement, showing an increase of about 617,000 tons in unfilled orders over the preceding month.

Steel hardened slightly on this exhibit and other leaders also moved upward fractionally, but receded in the last hour. Steel's minimum quotation was made in the final dealings, the stock closing at 85⅞, a loss of 1⅛.

Actual weakness duplicated during the forenoon in all the oil stocks, American Smelting and other metals, the automobile group and recognized war issues. These issues were at lowest levels at the close. The railway list was under restraint throughout. Total sales of stocks amounted to 680,600 shares.

Activity of New York Central 6 per cent. debentures featured the dealing in bonds, that issue rising 1¼ per cent, on call to 117¾. Total sales of bonds, par value, were $4,950,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Brisk Trading on Board—Investment the Favorite—Union Dividend.

Monday was a busy day on the local exchange with Los Angeles investment the big feature of the session. The report of the excellent financial condition of the company and the harmonious meeting of stockholders which was held yesterday seems to have restored confidence to a great many investors. The stock opened at 70 in the morning and closing transactions were recorded at 76, a gain of 6 points during the day. Union Oil was also strong as the result of the dividend announcement, and the stock sold as high as $83.50. Home Telephone preferred broke into the sales column after an absence of several weeks and sold up at $61.50. The Oatman mining stocks were firm with the exception of Big Jim which fell away badly, but rallied somewhat at the close. Ivanhoe was in strong demand on the rumor that the next ore strike would come on its property.

The Union Oil Company has declared a dividend of $1.50 a share payable January 25 to all stockholders of record on the 15th inst. The Olinda Land Company announced its twenty-fourth dividend yesterday, the disbursement amounting to ¼ cent per share payable January 20, books closing for the same on January 17.

TO HOLD WHEAT.

ATION SLUMP DESPITE THE PRESENCE OF FOREIGNERS.

Developments of the Domestic Visible Supply Proves Too Much for the Bulls and at the Closing Values are Nearly a Cent and a Half Lower.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Notwithstanding that wheat today at first showed strength, the market later became weak on account of a liberal enlargement of the United States visible supply. Prices closed weak, ⅝@⅞ net lower, with May at 1.24⅝ and July at 1.17¼@1.17⅝. Corn showed a gain of ⅛@⅜, to ⅛ and oats closed varying from 2⅛ off to 17⅛ higher.

Material strength in wheat during the first part of the session was due largely to higher quotations from Europe.

The visible went to a new high price record, the 1915 crop. Oats swayed with wheat.

Corn had a notable advance, despite huge supplies of hogs, arrivals were light at other western centers. Export reports helped the provisions somewhat upward, but selling by packers caused a reaction.

The amount of cotton ginned up to January 1 was 10,643,000 bales, as compared to 10,303,253 bales ginned up to December 31, 1915.

COUNCIL TO GRANT MAYOR'S REQUEST.

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY PLAN IS APPROVED.

Finance Committee Acts on Report Which Formed Part of the General Agreement Between the Chief Executive and the Council When Appointments Were Made.

The ordinance requested by Mayor Sebastian, creating the position of executive secretary to the Mayor, will be recommended favorably to the Council by the Finance Committee today. The committee's recommendation will provide for a salary of $175 a month and inasmuch as the position is a confidential one, requiring special qualifications and intimate knowledge of the functions of the various city departments, the Mayor will be left to decide upon the qualifications.

The matter of an executive secretary was presented to the Council several weeks ago in a message from the Mayor, setting forth the need for additional help in his office. At that time the Mayor's message was referred to the Finance Committee and the report which goes to the Council today was drafted.

This report was discussed at the conference between the Mayor and members of the Council when the Mayor's 1910 appointments were considered and the Council agreed to provide the executive secretary when the appointments were informally decided upon. As a part of this agreement, the Mayor reappointed all officers and members of commissions with the exception of a member of the Board of Public Works and the City Treasurer, for which positions Owen McAleer and N. T. Powell were named, respectively. This arrangement was highly satisfactory to the Council, which was especially anxious to bring about the reappointment of R. F. Del Valle as a member of the Public Service Commission and Arthur Baker as purchasing agent.

The list of appointments went to the Council as agreed, but members of the Council who are opposed to the Mayor's programme succeeded in delaying action on the executive secretary ordinance while they tried to stir up opposition to the plan. Despite their efforts, however, no opposition worthy of consideration developed and, on the other hand, the Mayor has received numerous letters of commendation and no protest.

NEW DEAL ORDERED.
FOR CITY SPRINKLING.

All bids for street sprinkling for the next four-year period were rejected by the Board of Public Works yesterday and the Council will be asked to give authority to prepare new specifications on which another set of bids will be asked. The new plan favored by the board, which the Council will be asked to approve, is to ask for bids for five motor-driven sprinklers, which can also be used as flushers, for a period of four years, and for twenty to eighty horse-drawn sprinklers for a period of two years. By this plan the board believes that it can by actual tests demonstrate whether horse-drawn or motor sprinkling is more efficient and economical.

The Board of Public Works also requested the Council to authorize another fifteen-day emergency contract for street lighting to cover the arc lights now served by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation. It is the intention of the board to ask for bids again soon and the next contract will carry a clause to the effect that the city may terminate the contract at any time the municipal plant is ready to light the streets, by giving notice of thirty days.

SAFETY FIRST.
APPLIES TO CITY CARS.

Drivers of police and fire department automobiles who smash their machines or other automobiles while driving recklessly will be held personally responsible for damages hereafter, if the Finance Committee of the Council has its way. Letters will be sent to both departments within a few days setting forth this new policy and giving statistical reasons for the action.

This decision was reached yesterday by the Finance Committee when it considered the latest bill for damages caused when a fire department automobile smashed a little touring car that was standing at the curb when the fire auto skidded. Chairman Wheeler, who asked for a report on recent collisions of city automobiles, was delegated to write the letter to both city departments.

RUSH AT THE FINISH.
TAXES PAID LAST DAY.

Taxpayers who waited until the last minute before delinquency thronged the office of City Tax Collector Conrad yesterday and cash taken at the windows during the day amounted to $225,000, while the stack of mail remittances, which will take two or three days to handle, is estimated to contain at least $1,000,000.

Collections up to last Saturday night aggregated about $500,000 more than collections on the date of delinquency one year ago, and it is estimated the delinquent list this year will be considerably smaller than for any recent year. In addition to the tax collections of yesterday, the receipts for January and quarterly licenses amounted to a little over $30,000.

SALARY IS PROVIDED.
PROSECUTOR AT HARBOR.

Provisions for a deputy city prosecutor to be stationed at San Pedro during regular office hours each day were made by the Finance Committee of the Council yesterday, and the expense to the city will be only $25 a month. This plan was presented by Prosecutor Williams, who said one of his clerks now working for $75 a month, would take the San Pedro job and do his clerical work at night for the extra $25 a month.

The Council will also pass an ordinance permitting the prosecutor to appoint two extra deputies to serve without pay. This will permit some of the law students employed as clerks or on volunteer duty to assist in prosecuting minor cases when the prosecutor's regular force is engaged on other work.

Report on Humane Work.

Four arrests and 100 per cent. convictions are shown by the December report of the Humane Animal Commission filed yesterday. During the last month 248 animals were examined by the inspectors and of these, sixty horses and mules were allowed vacations and twenty-three were killed. In addition to the four arrests, the inspectors warned ninety drivers to show more consideration for their animals. The dog catchers impounded 255 canines, and of these, eighteen were redeemed.

San Fernando Trees.

Park Superintendent Shearer appeared before the Finance Committee yesterday asking for an appropriation to cover the expense of pruning and training about three miles of fine young pepper trees, set out by the county along the roads in the San Fernando district before annexation. These trees, Mr. Shearer said, have been growing so rapidly that they have broken away from their supports and a small appropriation now will insure the saving of a valuable lot of shade in later years. The money will be appropriated.

Laborites Meet Mayor.

A delegation of union laborites held a conference with the Mayor yesterday but neither he nor his callers would divulge the subject of their talk.

"We discussed matters that are not ripe for announcement at present, but publicity will be given later," said the Mayor.

MAKES CERTAIN LIFE HAS FLED.

WILL TELLS OF LONG FEAR OF PREMATURE BURIAL.

Pittsburgh Woman's Unusual Testament Makes Disposition of Property in this City Sought to be Purchased for School Purposes—Large Holdings in State.

The will of Mrs. Laura Hemans White, who died in Pittsburgh January 7, 1910, was received by Public Administrator Bryson yesterday, in view of the distribution of the estate in Los Angeles county. The city of Los Angeles desires to purchase property belonging to the estate, at No. 3721 Downey avenue, now North Broadway, for school purposes. Before the deal could be closed it was necessary to have the will, because a clause bequeathes the property to Mrs. Apollonia P. Melber for life. After Mrs. Melber's death the property is to go to Miss Katherine L. Hahn, a niece of Mrs. Melber, and daughter of Victor Hahn.

Because of her fear of a premature burial Mrs. White provided unusual means to determine that the spark of life had left her body before it was cremated. In her will she stated:

"Having been all my life subject to bondage through fear of premature burial I will my body be kept until evident signs of decomposition declare themselves—at least a week—that it be visited and carefully inspected three times daily, for which the person performing this office shall, upon making affidavit that it has been faithfully performed, receive the sum of $50. Just before cremation it shall be stabbed three times through the heart by a duly accredited physician, who shall receive therefor the sum of $20."

A trust provision prohibits distribution of the estate for ten years. Among the holdings are a Bakersfield ranch, lots in San Diego and lots at Sunset Beach and La Canada Park.

NO MYSTERY.
TOO MUCH TALK.

J. W. H. Barrett, an old-time Pacific Electric motorman, had to come to court to learn what had become of his wife and children. He wanted an order from the court giving him custody of the children.

"Where are the children?" Judge Wood asked Mrs. Barrett.

"Why, they are at home," she replied.

"Have you separated from your husband?"

"Not so far as I know," said Mrs. Barrett.

"Well, what does this charge mean?" queried the court in surprise. "If the children are at home and you have not separated, what's it all about?"

Mrs. Barrett then explained that she started out to earn her own way. She said she had stood Mr. Barrett's abuse as long as she could. A position was open to her, and she placed her youngest child in a good home and gave the other three in charge of her daughter, 21 years old.

But it appeared that the daughter had gone on a visit and taken the children, so that when Mr. Barrett returned home he found nobody.

"Don't you think you have talked to your wife too much for her own good?" the court asked Mr. Barrett. The motorman thought maybe he had.

"I think you had better curb your stentorian voice," the court admonished, and also cautioned Mrs. Barrett not to indulge in airy persiflage. As the daughter said she would have no trouble with the children if her father let her alone, the court gave everybody a hand around.

The Barretts were married in New York August 3, 1892. The ages of the children range from 4 to 21 years.

ACTING NO FAULT.
COURT BACKS MOTHER.

Mrs. Florence V. Schilling put up a successful fight to retain the custody of her child in Judge Wood's court yesterday. She obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from C. J. Schilling, a draughtsman, in 1914. Mr. Schilling remarried and yesterday he came into court with his wife, to contend that his ex-wife should not have the care of their child because she had worked with the moving picture companies.

Mrs. Schilling satisfied the court she was able to bring up the child on the $30 a month Mr. Schilling pays her, on the order of the court. Judge Wood denied Mr. Schilling's application. The latter, who owns considerable property in this city and Michigan, conducts a successful business in Oakland.

THREE GUILTY.
WILSHIRE AUTO BANDITS.

A jury in Judge Craig's court occupied just three minutes in finding Louis Abnicia, George Nudson and Joe Ganella guilty on the charge of highway robbery. They were members of the gang of which Lucille Murphey, the tom-boy girl, was queen and were known as the "Wilshire auto bandits," having held up a number of machines in that fashionable residence district. The crime for which they were convicted was the robbery of M. M. Best, on the night of September 9, last. Cecil Murray, one of the band, who confessed guilt of the crime several weeks ago and was sentenced to five years at San Quentin, was the star witness for the State. Deputy District Attorney Hogan handled the prosecution. The men will be sentenced next Thursday.

MOTHER'S SORROW.
SON SENT TO PRISON.

When Judge Craig informed Andrew Kelsay that the next thirty-five years of his life were to be spent in San Quentin, for the murder of Arthur Wragg, to which the latter confessed, a little gray-haired woman, seated among the spectators, toppled from her seat in a faint. It was Mrs. Kelsay, mother of the young man. The mother was carried tenderly out of the courtroom as her boy was led back to his cell in the County Jail. Kelsay pleaded guilty to killing his companion in a quarrel, which started in Camp No. 8 on the Los Angeles Aqueduct, last summer. His attorney, Earl Rogers, made a strong appeal for leniency, declaring that the boy's troubles came from [illegible] inherited from his [illegible] unsuccessful in his [illegible]
